No. 410.—The following Resolution is published for general information :—

Read again—

Resolution in the Financial Department, No. 4063, dated 9th November 1878, and the Financial Statement for 1879-80.

RESOLUTION.—By the Resolution of the 9th November 1878, the Governor General in Council urged on the several Local Governments and Administrations the necessity of reducing the ordinary expenditure of the country within the narrowest possible limits. It was directed that measures should be taken for suspending or postponing all optional expenditure, whether Imperial, Provincial, or even from Local Funds, and that no proposals for increases of salaries or establishments should be entertained without real necessity. His Excellency in Council does not doubt that earnest attention has been given to those instructions, but it has now become requisite to repeat them in still stronger and more definite terms.

2. The Government of India has repeatedly declared it to be necessary, in ordinary times, that a surplus of Revenue over Expenditure of not less than £2,000,000 should, each year, be provided to furnish the means of protecting the country against famine, and to leave a margin to meet unforeseen contingencies. Less than a year ago, it appeared that this object had been attained; but the expectations then expressed by the Government in regard to the satisfactory condition and prospects of the finances have, during the last few months, been dispelled. The Financial Statement, published with the Resolution of the 12th March 1879, shows an estimated deficit of Revenue compared with the estimated Ordinary Expenditure in 1879-80 of £1,395,000.

3. In paragraph 265 of that Resolution, the true surplus, apart from the War in Afghanistan, is estimated at £813,000, being £1,187,000 less than the required surplus of £2,000,000.

4. Although other causes for anxiety are not wanting, this unfortunate change in the financial position of the Government may be considered wholly due to the state of the Exchange with England. The estimated loss by Exchange for the current year would, if provision were made to cover the whole of the Home charges, be £1,140,000, an amount exceeding by more than £1,000,000, the entry under this head in the Budget Estimate for the year which has lately closed, and it is impossible to say that this loss will not continue and go on increasing.

5. The task is serious of dealing with a difficulty of so indefinite a character, and one of which the causes are so entirely beyond the control of this Government; but the Governor General in Council is resolved to spare no efforts to maintain the finances of the Empire in a completely satisfactory condition.

6. Apart from other measures which may become unavoidable for increasing the Public Revenues, it is obviously necessary that all practicable limits should be placed on the Public Expenditure.

7. It has been shown, on former occasions, that during the last ten years there has been a very large reduction in the net Civil Expenditure of the Empire. Excluding Famine Relief and Loss by Exchange—an element, as just stated, beyond control—that reduction has not been less than £1,500,000 a year. Still further reductions must now be made.

8. The Public Expenditure, excluding that incurred from Local Funds, is now divided into two branches, Imperial and Provincial, for which the Government of India and the Local Governments and Administrations are respectively responsible.

9. The Military charges constitute the most serious part of the Imperial obligations, but the present Resolution is not intended to refer to them; and His Excellency in Council will now only say regarding them that he is fully alive to the urgent and paramount duty which rests on the Government of India of striving to the utmost of its power to reduce the Military Expenditure within the narrowest limits consistent with the public safety. His Excellency in Council knows that the Government of Her Majesty feels no less anxiety in this matter.

10. In respect to the Civil Expenditure, excepting the charges on account of the Public Debt and other Heads of Service, which, as they concern the Empire at large, have been retained under the management of the Supreme Government, the greater portion of the Ordinary Civil Expenditure of British India is now mainly entrusted to the Provincial Governments. With regard to that part of this expenditure, which is under his more immediate control, and, in particular, the expenditure on the central establishments of the Supreme Government, the Governor General in Council is taking the most effective means in his power to obtain every possible economy. He has now again to notify to the several Departments under the Government of India that no increase of the Public Expenditure will be allowed which is not essential and unavoidable; and it will be the immediate duty of every Department to make, without delay, a searching review of the whole of the charges under its control. Unless positive necessity exists, no improvements in administration, however desirable, must be undertaken, if they involve increased charges; no fresh establishments must be entertained; no new offices must be created; no new works, which it is possible to postpone, must be commenced.

11. The policy thus announced, in regard to the expenditure under the immediate control of the Government of India, must, the Governor General in Council regrets to say, be extended also to the Provincial Governments and to the Provincial Services. The policy of maintaining Provincial responsibility for the management of Provincial Finances inaugurated by the Government of India, in December 1870, has now been in course of development for nine years, with a success which has equalled the most sanguine expectations of its authors. It has led to greatly increased efficiency in many of the chief branches of the public service, to the development of the revenues without addition to the public burdens, and to economy in expenditure. It was one important object of that policy that the normal and obligatory administration of the country should be, as far as possible, shielded from the effects of ordinary vicissitudes affecting the Imperial Finances; and during the last nine years, notwithstanding the serious financial pressure that has often been experienced, as for example that caused by the Famine in Bengal in 1874, by the Famine in the Madras and Bombay Presidencies in 1876 and 1877, and by the present War on the Frontier, the Governor General in Council has left at the disposal of the Provincial Governments, without diminution, the whole of the Resources assigned to them.

12. The pledge, however, originally given and subsequently repeated by the Government of India, that no fresh Imperial demand would be made on those Resources, has always been declared subject to the condition that, if some great fiscal misfortune or urgent national necessity should occur, it might become unavoidable to call on the Provincial Governments to sacrifice for the relief of the Empire generally some portion of the revenues allotted to them. The anxiety of the Government of India not to exercise this power and to interfere in no way with the free development of the system of Provincial Finance, has been amply proved in the past; and no one will doubt the reluctance with which His Excellency in Council now contemplates the necessity of inviting the Provincial Governments to give him their assistance in obtaining necessary relief to the Imperial Treasury and in averting, so far as may be possible, the necessity of imposing fresh burdens, whether Imperial or Provincial, on the country. But the unforeseen fiscal misfortune which has befallen British India in the disturbance of the relation formerly existing between the values of Silver and Gold, is more serious than any of those difficulties which it has hitherto been necessary to meet. It is more indefinite in extent, and may be more lasting; and, as already observed, the causes which led to it, and which are still in operation, are altogether beyond the control of this Government. The Governor General in Council is most unwillingly forced to the conclusion that it has become necessary to make a revision, which he trusts may be only temporary, in the existing arrangements with the Local Governments, and this revision must involve some reduction of the resources now at their disposal.

13. Nothing is further from the intention of His Excellency in Council than to interfere in any way with the principles of the policy which has for some years past been followed with such signal success. He feels, indeed, that the emergency which has now occurred affords another and one of the strongest possible proofs that this policy is wise. But for this policy, he believes that the reductions of the public expenditure, which must now be made, would have hardly been practicable. This, at least, is certain that they will be carried out with far greater ease, and in a far more satisfactory manner, by the Local Governments than would have been possible under a system by which the Government of India attempted minutely to supervise all the details of the administration. In preparation for a contingency which must be regarded as imminent, the Governor General in Council is compelled to direct that the prohibition of every avoidable increase of expenditure must extend not only to all Imperial Services, but to all Provincial Services also. The chief reductions in every Province will doubtless be made in the expenditure on Public Works. Without in any way contemplating greater restrictions on the power of the Local Governments in future than have been exercised under the rules actually in force, the Governor General in Council, as a temporary measure, and with the object of preventing fresh avoidable expenditure until further arrangements can be settled with the Local Governments, thinks it necessary to direct that no new work estimated to cost more than Rs. 2,500, shall be commenced at the cost of Imperial or Provincial Funds, even though it may already have received the sanction of the Government. If, for some special reason, a Local Government desires that this order should in any case be relaxed, it will be at liberty to represent the circumstances to the Government of India. The same rule will be applicable to all Departments under the immediate administration of the Supreme Government.

14. The present Resolution is intended chiefly to refer to the ordinary expenditure; but it has been decided to make large reductions in the expenditure on Productive Public Works also. On this subject, further orders will be issued.

15. His Excellency in Council knows that he may confidently trust in the loyal co-operation of all the Local Governments and Administrations in giving effect to the instructions contained in the present Resolution. The Governor General in Council will immediately place himself in communication with the several Local Governments and Administrations, and will consult them in regard to the particular measures which should be adopted for effecting the objects which have now been stated. It will be the duty of the several Officers of Audit and Account to remind the Local Governments of this Resolution, whenever it seems necessary.

REPORTS ON THE STATE OF THE SEASON AND PROSPECTS OF THE CROPS FOR THE WEEK ENDING THE 29th APRIL 1879.

GENERAL REMARKS.—General prospects in Madras are fair. In Mysore the standing crops are good; prices remain stationary. In the Bombay Presidency slight rain has fallen in the Kurrachee, Hyderabad, Belgaum, and Dharwar districts; the rabi harvest is nearly over, and preparations for the cultivation of the kharif are general; in the Upper Sind Frontier food-grains are selling at famine rates, and forage is scarce. The rabi harvest has been completed in some districts of the Central Provinces, and is progressing in others; the results are generally fair; in a few districts ploughing for the kharif has commenced; prices continue steady; cholera is abating. Prices are still rising in Central India. In Rajputana matters are, on the whole, satisfactory. Ploughing operations continue in Berar. In Bengal, though the slight rain that has fallen in a few districts has done some good, the prospects of the crops and cultivation generally are not encouraging; owing to continued drought the results of the spring rice harvest which has begun in places are not expected to be good; cholera and small-pox are still prevalent. Heavy rain fell in Assam, and the station of Gauhati was visited by a cyclone on the 28th April; the rain has been of much benefit, but in Sylhet a great part of the bari rice has altogether failed; public health in British Burma is, on the whole, good; small-pox prevails in places, and cattle disease is reported in three districts. The weather in the North-Western Provinces and Oudh is seasonable, and the state of things generally fair; relief-works have been opened in one pargana of the Jhansi district; cholera is decreasing. In the Punjab the harvest is progressing with generally satisfactory results; cholera continues in several districts.

RESOLUTION—The Governor General in Council has read with interest the Report transmitted by the Government of the North-Western Provinces and Oudh on the Administration of the Department of Agriculture and Commerce in that province for the year 1877-78. This Report shows in a clear and concise manner the important work performed by the Department at the several farms, public gardens, and estates under the Court of Wards in the province in connection with agricultural projects and improvements, as well as in the collection of agricultural and commercial statistics and the promotion of trades and manufactures. His Excellency in Council is glad to be able to express entire acquiescence in His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor and Chief Commissioner's estimate of the great value of the work being done under Mr. E. O. Buck's direction, and to endorse strongly His Honour's commendation of Mr. Buck's ability and industry.

2. His Excellency in Council desires to take this opportunity of inviting the attention of other Local Governments and Administrations to this interesting Report, as an illustration of what results can be achieved by an intelligent supervision and direction of agricultural improvements in a province.

ORDER.—Ordered, that the foregoing Resolution, with the letter from the Government of the North-Western Provinces and the Report under notice, be published in the Supplement to the Gazette of India, and communicated to the Local Governments and Administrations noted in the margin, in continuation of the Resolution of the Government of India No. 1 (Agriculture and Horticulture), dated the 4th February 1879, on the subject of imparting to the agricultural community the lessons to be learnt from the operations of model and experimental farms.

No. 616, dated Allahabad, the 19th March 1879.

From—C. ROBERTSON, Esq., Secy. to the Govt., North-Western Provinces and Oudh,

To—The Secy. to the Govt. of India, Dept. of Revenue, Agriculture and Commerce.

In accordance with the orders contained in your No. 240, dated 23rd August 1878, I am desired to forward, for the information of His Excellency the Governor General in Council, a Report by the Director of Agriculture and Commerce in these Provinces on the Administration of his Department for the past year.

2. The Report speaks for itself as to the nature and extent of the operations Mr. Buck is engaged in. Reports under the principal heads have already been submitted to Government, and orders passed thereon. Mr. Buck will be asked to refer separately any point which has not been already disposed of.

3. The summary given in the present Report is short and concise, but suffices to show that much valuable work is being done and information acquired. Sir George Cooper takes this opportunity of recording his appreciation of the zeal, talent, and industry Mr. Buck has brought to bear on the discharge of the multifarious duties entrusted to him, and of the highly important services he is rendering to the Administration of these Provinces.

COPY forwarded to Mr. Buck, with the request that he will refer separately any point on which he is desirous of obtaining the orders of Government.

REPORT ON THE ADMINISTRATION OF THE DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE AND COMMERCE, NORTH-WESTERN PROVINCES AND OUDH, FOR THE YEAR 1877-78.

THE work under this Department is divided under the following heads:—

I.—Agriculture.

II.—Commerce.

III.—Village records.

I.—Agriculture includes the following sub-divisions:—

(A) Farms and public gardens.

(B) Arboriculture.

(A) FARMS AND PUBLIC GARDENS.

These are now connected with this Department:—

- (1) The botanical gardens—one at Saháranpur and two at Mussoorie (under one superintendence).
- (2) An experimental and arboricultural farm at Cawnpore.
- (3) A sewage farm at Allahabad.
- (4) The horticultural and arboricultural gardens at Lucknow.
- (5) A tobacco farm at Gházipur, with a branch at Pusa in Bengal.
- (6) An orchard and tobacco plantation in Kumaun.
- (7) A seed and stock farm in the Dún.
- (8) A silk farm in the Dún.
- (9) Farming operations under the Court of Wards.

Separate reports have been submitted during the year on the working of the above institutions, and it is not necessary for me to do more now than supply a brief abstract of their operations.

(1) Botanical Gardens at Saháranpur and Mussoorie.

THE SAHARANPUR BOTANICAL GARDENS.

These are not under my executive charge; but I am required to keep Government informed of progress in the gardens, and bring to the notice of Government any points in connection with them which require Government orders.

General character.

Mr. Duthie joined as successor to Dr. Jameson at the beginning of 1877. Mr. Nisbet, head-gardener, having held temporary charge for a year and a half, after continued ill health, died during the year. A report has already been sent up to Government on these gardens, and I need not now re-enter into details which were then given. During the year I visited the gardens more than once, and, as I had to make them my head-quarters for a month while preparing a collection for the Paris Exhibition, learned a great deal about their capabilities, and have in the special report described the operations of the year. I take the opportunity now to discuss a little more fully the character which the gardens have assumed, and the work which I think they ought to perform, since it will be easier from a general report like that now under submission to judge of the position which they bear in relation to other kindred institutions maintained by Government than in a special account describing these gardens alone.

In the first place, their net cost is large (Rs. 25,000); and in 1877-78 I was asked by Government whether the expenditure could be cut down. I objected on the grounds that it would be a pity to take any hasty action in diminishing the capabilities of the only scientific institution of the north of India which had become historical, and which I believed had done, and was doing, a great deal of practical good in the distribution of trees and plants, in addition to the scientific ends which it served. His Honour allowed these pleas to be admitted.

SAHARANPUR BOTANICAL GARDENS.

The botanical collection which Saharanpur possesses is valuable, and must be maintained. It is being, and will be, increased under the skilled management of Mr. Duthie, whose scientific attainments are exceptional. In this direction it is due to the dignity of the Province to maintain what is a national heirloom, and to grant ungrudgingly the funds required for the purpose. During the year, Mr. Duthie, in agreement with me, considered it desirable to clear out the plantations and drain the grounds, and the improvements which were effected were mainly defrayed from the sale of felled timber. The botanical collection was at the end of the year in a much better condition—I may almost say a better state of health—than at the beginning, and a fresh start can now be made. The objects with which the botanical collection is maintained are, I conceive, to collect North India products for examination and arrangement, and also to ascertain what useful products from other parts of the world can be successfully grown in the north of India, and not to make a scientific collection of plants from all parts of the world, as at Kew. The first object is one which chiefly concerns the Superintendent; the second is one in which this Department, as representing agricultural and economic interests, is specially concerned; and during the year I impressed upon the Superintendent the desirability of increasing the utility of the gardens in this direction. It seemed to me that a very great deal of action was still required.

Its objects.

Next to expenditure on the objects above noted, which are the legitimate work of the botanical gardens, comes expenditure on laying out the grounds. Here I judged that much of the expenditure was, under existing conditions, unnecessary. There is no public, as at Calcutta or London, for whom to make scenic effects, and money spent on raising beds of annuals and roses is wasted, if no other object is served than to beautify the gardens. There is not a native gardener in the place who understands flower-gardening, and a very large number of hands are employed to no purpose. The only plea for maintaining a flower garden at all is for training gardeners for supply to the number of India or for propagating Indian plants; and these objects cannot be effected without a practical and well-trained English gardener in charge. Mr. Duthie asked for a successor to Mr. Nisbet, and I hope the arrangement will be made; otherwise the flower-gardening, which has been hitherto conducted by natives in the most ignorant way, had better be discontinued.

Flower garden.

Next is expenditure on vegetable gardening. This is maintained with a laudable object. Seeds are brought out from England and multiplied at Saharanpur for distribution to British regiments and the public (gratis to the former, and at a low price to the latter). Here, again, I found the greatest ignorance and bad management to prevail, the native gardeners having no pretension to any knowledge of the proper way in which to cultivate and select for seed; and I have not been surprised to learn from several gentlemen who are skilled vegetable growers that for the last two or three years at least the Saharanpur seeds have been comparatively worthless. A practical gardener is considered by the Superintendent and myself as absolutely necessary to superintend this branch of the work.

Vegetable seeds.

Next comes distribution of plants and trees. The canal plantations were believed to depend a good deal upon the gardens; but reports from canal officers indicated that the connection between canal plantations and the gardens were being fast severed, and that little was obtained except seeds. Foresters had been trained at Saharanpur for them, but the training was not of the kind required. I represented to Government that advantage should be taken of Saharanpur to raise trees of utility, especially foreign trees, for distribution to road plantations and district groves; and this is the chief direction which distributions will now take. For the last two or three years no systematic distribution has been effected; demand has been left to chance purchasers, and active measures are necessary on the part of Government in this Department, outside the gardens, to create a field to which the gardens may supply useful trees which are there found successful. This is one reason why I recommended Government to allow this Department to become interested in arboricultural extension.

Distribution of plants and seeds.

SAHARANPUR BOTANICAL GARDENS.

Rhea.

Fruit trees are raised to some extent for distribution. But very little advance has been made on outside culture, and cultivation of rhea has lately been a prominent feature in the work of the gardens. I found the plantation had been much neglected under Mr. Nisbet, and a great deal had to be done to bring it into order. Separate reports have been submitted on this subject, which give an account of the action which I took with reference to rhea cultivation.

MUSSOORIE GARDENS.

The Mussoorie gardens attached to Saharanpur provide a botanical collection and a distributing centre for hill productions, and are as supplementary to Saharanpur for the collection of hill products which will not thrive in the plains. Similar work was done during the year in clearing and improving, as at Saharanpur, and the collection is being fast improved. Gardening is not such a prominent feature here as at Saharanpur, though I consider the gardens ought to be utilised to train hill-gardeners, who are much wanted; and I have obtained the consent of the Superintendent to institute a system for training hill-gardeners. Both here and at Chajuri (a third garden, at a lower elevation) fruit and other trees and plants are raised for distribution, and, so far as they are raised at any cost to Government, I doubt the wisdom of continuing the expense. There is no country near Mussoorie where (as in Kumaun) fruit trees can be distributed, since the whole of the hill territory in the neighbourhood is under Native rule. I have proposed it, therefore, as a necessary element in the maintenance of the Mussoorie and Chajuri gardens, that, outside the cost of botanical collections, no expenditure shall be maintained which does not result in an equivalent income. There is a ready market at Mussoorie, and the cost of whatever gardening is maintained ought to be recouped by sale of produce to the public. During the year the Superintendent placed by my advice a strong staff of gardeners, under a skilled native, at Chajuri (which had been much neglected), with the view of enabling gardening operations to be conducted in an efficient and remunerative form.

(2) *An Experimental and Arboricultural Farm at Cawnpore.THE CAWNPORE FARM.

The Cawnpore Farm is practically, since the abolition of the farm at Bulandshahr, the only farm retained for experimental purposes. A few experiments are still conducted at Allahabad, but they are, on account of the absence of irrigation, restricted to a very limited extent.

Its area.

During the year arrangements were made for the purchase of the adjacent premises hitherto used as an orphanage by the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel. The arrangement provides accommodation for myself and my office, and permits me for the first time to reside on the farm during a portion of the year—a consideration which I believe to be very important for the further progress of operations. Acres 63-3 were added to the farm lands, which now THE CAWNPORE FARM. consist of the following areas:—

(1) Government land.—The areas are—

			Acres.	Roods.	Poles.
Under trees	32	1	14
" crops	8	3	26,
Roads and buildings	8	1	38
Tank	4	1	13
Total	54	0	11

Flower-gardening having hitherto monopolised too much attention (chiefly because the "farmers" sent out from England for the cotton farms some years ago were gardeners and not farmers), flower business was transferred to Lucknow. The last one, who was useless except to grow roses, resigned under compulsion, and the farm has since been under the temporary management of an indigo-planter. He is going, and the question now is, whether to try the experiment of a trained farmer from home, or a manager experienced in Indian agriculture. I am in favour of the latter, on the principle that we must work from below and not from above, by inductive and not deductive processes.

The drought destroyed the value of field experiments; an account of them is given in the farm report, and I need do no more than to note other operations on the farm, which were— Experiments.

- (1) Trials of English and improved ploughs, the results of which proved that the B. F. O. (Ransom and Sims) and American ploughs (supplied by the Secretary of State) were the best adapted for Indian conditions. A further account is given below.
- (2) The trial of new seed wheat, both from England and those parts of India of which the wheat has the best reputation: none of the new seed produced better results than the native seed.
- (3) Sub-soil drainage was tried with at present indefinite results.
- (4) Water-lifts.—Arrangements were made for the trial of every kind of water-lift in which there appeared prima facie to be any merit (see remarks in general note).
- (5) Winnowing by machinery, with good results.

The chief strength of our endeavours, on the experimental farm has, therefore, been devoted to these objects, and some further remarks on the prospects in view appear desirable. In a note submitted by me last year to Government I brought forward the following difficulties with regard to the introduction of improved ploughs, which I consider the most important step which can be taken, because the improvement of one acre with a new plough means the improvement of several millions of acres if its use can be extended. Introduction of improved ploughs.

(1) Disinclination of cultivators.—I have made attempts through Collectors to introduce ploughs on the Court of Wards' estates, and sent out 30 B. F. O. ploughs and 12 Madras ploughs as the best adapted. I also sent men to instruct the cultivators, so that no objection might be raised on the score of ignorance, and trust that the step thus taken may lead to a greater familiarity with their use which may overcome the disinclination which now prevails. The drought completely stopped progress in 1877; but in 1878 the farm instructors went out, and the ploughs were used. It does not belong to this report to include an account of the results in 1878; but I may give the following extract from the officer in charge of the Etawah district, not that I place too much reliance on what I may call sensational cases:—

“Several zamindars, having seen the results produced by the improved ploughs mentioned in your letter No. ^{811 A} 1333 of 1878 to the Collector of Etawah, of their own accord have come to me and asked me to ascertain where they can be procured, and at what price, as they are anxious to get them. Etawah being a small city, and there being few good blacksmiths, and only one model left at the tahsili to imitate, similar ploughs cannot be quickly enough produced.”

The Collector of Banda has made much progress on Court of Wards' estates with great success, and I expect a report from him at an early date of an encouraging nature.

(2) Inaptitude of English implements.—I notice in my note “a seemingly absurd, but perfectly valid, objection, that the driver of the bullocks cannot reach his bullocks' tails.” Criticisms, which I was glad to receive, denied that this was an objection; but the following note by Mr. D. Reid, a well-known Bengal planter, proves that the objection has force:—

Introduction of improved ploughs.

“The ploughman was highly delighted with Mr. Macrae's sub-soiler, because he could get at the tails of his cattle; and the native does really get more work out of his bullocks when he can reach over to twist their tails.”

[No plough successfully used on the farm has overcome this difficulty, and two men must work with all that we have at present approved. Mr. Macrae's “sub-soiler” has not yet been tried.]

Another point is, that the plough must be light for the cultivator to carry on his shoulder. The B. F. O. is 64 lbs., which is too heavy, and a lighter plough is wanted. Of all yet tried, the American plough sent by the Secretary of State is the best in this respect. I saw Messrs. Ransom and Sims in London, and Mr. Fuller, my Assistant, visited their workshops at Ipswich with the object of discussing with them what plough is best suited to conditions in India; and the result was the choice of an eagle American plough, very like that sent by the Secretary of State. An Indian plough was sent to Messrs. Ransom and Sims for their inspection; but there seems little chance of any improvement being effected by its modification at home. The principle on which it works is a wrong one according to English notions.

Another objection is, that native cattle are trained to turn round in the opposite direction to that required by the English plough. If native cultivators are to accept the plough, we must make the share turn the other way; for they cannot be expected to change their old custom and train their cattle in a new way. The difficulty can be overcome as I have pointed out, but it has been necessary to discover it.

The Madras farm plough, which is an improved native plough, has been thoroughly tried at Cawnpore, and has not given satisfaction; but it has been distributed to natives, and will be allowed a thorough trial. The improvements appear to add to the weight and draught.

(3) Weakness of draught cattle.—This must be accepted, at any rate for years to come; and every beginning must be made with ploughs of light draught. The B. F. O. and American ploughs are both fairly good in this respect, and can be drawn by ordinary cattle; but the American plough appears to be the best of the two.

(4) Expense of ploughs.—This must be, and has been greatly, overcome by manufacture in Indian bazars, at any rate of the rough parts of the plough. The B. F. O. and American ploughs have now been turned out at Cawnpore for Rs. 15 and Rs. 10 each, which are the lowest prices we can hope to reach with good work. The native blacksmiths give very strong metal, and their ploughshares are less brittle than English ones; but it remains to be seen how they will wear. In appearance the ploughs are admirable. For next ploughing season a number of ploughs will be distributed at these prices for payment, to be made by instalments, Rs. 2 or Rs. 3, at each six-monthly harvest. CAWNPORE FARM.

(5) Difficulty of keeping them in order.—The least complicated plough is best; and in this respect the American ploughs—both that sent out by the Secretary of State and that selected by Mr. Fuller—are far superior to any others. There will not be any practical difficulty in keeping the plough in order, and it is intended, if the plough is found to meet with native approval, to establish agencies throughout the province.

I have thus indicated the steps which have been taken towards overcoming the difficulties which exist in the way of the introduction of an improved plough. The question is of the very highest importance to the country, if it is true that a larger amount of food-crops can be raised by its means throughout India; and I cannot but insist that the native's verdict will in this respect be the surest.

English farmers and indigo-planters have given theirs in favour of the plough, but they do not cultivate under the same conditions as Indian cultivators; and it is now our duty, having overcome as far as we can the practical difficulties in the way of a new plough, to see that they give it a full trial, and it may be safely promised that they will, if the produce is larger, take to the use of any plough which is adapted to their labour and means.

Arboriculture was for the first time made part of the farm work, and nurseries of carob prosopis, inga dulcis, and other fruit and fodder bearing trees for distribution commenced. (The arboricultural operations of the Department will be further described under the head of Arboriculture.) Arboriculture.

Stock-breeding.—Horned cattle are not bred at the farm, but half-bred English rams are reared for distribution, and were sent to the districts of Budaun and Banda, where there was reason to believe that special interest would be taken in sheep-breeding. New rams were also ordered from Australia. Sheep-breeding.

The net expenditure to Government for the Cawnpore Farm was Rs. 1,637 during the year under report.

(3) Sewage Farm at Allahabad.

The Allahabad Farm not being suited, on account of absence of irrigation, for experimental purposes, has been maintained for the purpose of proving the agricultural value of the sewage of a city in India. The manager, being under a contract, had to be kept, and under the circumstances could best be utilised in superintending operations, and in preparing a statistical record of results. ALLAHABAD SEWAGE FARM.

Operations are fully described in the farm report, and it is sufficient in this place to indicate that land manured with latrine filth brings without irrigation about Rs. 20 an acre, and with irrigation about Rs. 40 an acre, more than the ordinary rent on leases of not less than five years. It is worth mentioning that at Cawnpore some land (where canal water and latrine manure are unlimited in supply) has lately let at more than £20 an acre. The enhancement of income which is estimated for the city of Allahabad when the system is completed is Rs. 10,000. The way of raising municipal income

The results tend to prove that municipalities should buy land round the city, and gradually raise its value as market garden ground; that they should make a monopoly of the city manure, and, if possible, arrange for a free water-supply, which doubles its value, and thus recoup the whole expenditure which they are obliged to make for sanitary purposes. The sewage farm costs nothing to Government.

(4) A Horticultural and Arboricultural Garden at Lucknow.

LUCKNOW HORTICULTURAL GARDENS.
Acclimatisation of seeds and plants

The Lucknow gardens came under this Department in May 1878; they had hitherto been under Dr. Bonavia, whose special appointment at Lucknow terminated at the beginning of the year. They are chiefly maintained for horticultural objects, but some attention has also been paid to arboriculture and useful plants. Successful experiments had been carried on by Dr. Bonavia for the production of acclimatised flower seeds, and the seeds raised at Lucknow are becoming popular for the two reasons, that they are cheaper and more certain of germination. Similar experiments were conducted in vegetable seeds, the improvements of native vegetables being also one of the objects in view, and some success has been obtained.

The Superintendent reported of the flower seeds that "they germinate quicker, in greater proportion, and are more certain than imported seeds, while the plants came into flower sooner and flowered more abundantly." These effects are the result of several years' work, and are important, if they indicate that a similar result may be obtained by patient experiment with plants of a more useful kind. The trees to which especial attention must be drawn as having been successfully raised are eucalypti and carobs. The Superintendent considers that he has proved that of the eucalypti, rostrata and sideroxylon are the two best adapted to these Provinces, and that their hardiness is established. Carobs have fruited abundantly, and supplied quantities of seeds for distribution. The successful establishment of this tree is due to Dr. Bonavia, and may prove of the highest importance.

The net cost of the gardens to Government was in the year under report Rs. 2,610.

(5) A Tobacco Farm at Gházipur, with a Branch at Pusa in Bengal.

TOBACCO FARMS.
Position of affairs.

The operations conducted during the year by Messrs. Begg, Sutherland, who have now the full control over these farms, have been important. At the beginning of the year 1877, I had obtained the consent of His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal for the above firm, whom North-West Government had established at Gházipur, to treat with the Bengal Government for the occupation of the Pusa Stud Estate; and arrangements were eventually concluded by which they entered into possession of Pusa a few months later.

The position of affairs at the beginning of the year under report was the following. In 1876-77, a crop had been raised from 52½ acres at Gházipur; a severe hailstorm reduced the value of the crops, according to the firm's estimate, by fully one-third. The outturn was nearly 59,000 lbs., exclusive of second cuttings retained by cultivators, but was not sent to England on account of its being so much broken by hail.

Meanwhile, the enterprise was running a very great risk of complete failure through the unfortunate illness of the Virginian curer, Mr. Williamson, who had both worked too hard and exposed himself too freely to the climate, the dangers of which he had not appreciated. Already I had taken him to the Himalayas and obtained his temporary recovery; but in April he became so ill, that I strongly urged the firm to send him to Java for a sea-trip, with the secondary object of instituting enquiries into Java tobacco culture, which has there been very successful. To relieve Mr. Williamson, a European apprentice had previously been placed by me at Government expense on the farm, with the consent of the firm, who were at that time unwilling to undergo the expense themselves, and, luckily, things were kept going until Mr. Williamson's return in July.

The ensuing drought, which was extreme at Gházipur in 1877, prevented the growth of anything like a good crop at that farm; but the firm had, in anticipation of obtaining Pusa, secured a second professional curer and manufacturer from America (Mr. Cabaniss), who arrived in time to raise an excellent crop on 200 acres at Pusa—a result which justified my conclusions previously placed before Government as to the greater suitability of Upper Bengal climate for tobacco. At Gházipur, however, there was as much difficulty experienced in keeping the crop alive as the curer, and on 60 acres the outturn was only 50,000 lbs. of an inferior quality. Before this was cut, I had to send Mr. Williamson again to the hills, whence he returned in improved health, though he has since, under medical advice, been allowed by the firm to take a sea-voyage to America.

TOBACCO FARMS.

Outturn of 1876-77.

The Pusa crop on 200 acres realised an outturn of more than 150,000 lbs., of which 15,000 lbs. have been sent to England and valued at prices varying from $2\frac{1}{2}d.$ to $5\frac{1}{2}d.$; but the brokers say that it would have fetched more if it had been kept longer in this country to mature. Of the remainder, a large quantity will be manufactured, and a portion sent to England as cured leaf.

The two estates have now been placed by the firm, Messrs. Begg, Sutherland & Co., in the immediate charge of a member of the firm, who has taken up his residence at Pusa, visiting Gházipur when his presence is required there. The apprentice whom I appointed to relieve Mr. Williamson has been taken over by the firm, and is paid by them as assistant manager. There are two professional American curers, one for each estate, who will now be relieved of all those worries of management which went some way to endanger Mr. Williamson's life, and a fifth (English) assistant has been trained in Germany in the cigar-making trade, and will shortly join; meanwhile, Mr. Williamson has been commissioned by the firm to import the best machinery of all kinds for tobacco and cigar-making while on leave in America.

General management.

The above statement proves not only the progress which the enterprise is making, but also the vigour with which Messrs. Begg, Sutherland are at work, and how fully they have justified the confidence which Government placed in them. When, at the outset, advice was given to employ Government agency alone, the issue was decided in favour of utilising commercial enterprise as most likely to succeed; and it is certain that Government alone could never have made such rapid strides as Messrs. Begg, Sutherland, who, while they have connections in the trade in England and America, have not to ask the leave of half a dozen authorities when they want a new curer.

Progress made.

The results of the operations hithert undertaken are still uncertain. The firm are sanguine, and I am sanguine, as to ultimate success; but time is still wanted. A crop sown in July 1877 is cut in January, cured by March, sent home in the rains, kept in bond for a year (two are better), and opened for sale in 1879. Of all the tobacco sent home, only the small parcels of 1876 (which were the produce of a crop injured by hail and grown in a dry season) have been tested in the market. They realised a price three times as great as Indian leaf previously exported, and about two-thirds the price of American leaf of the same class.

Results.

The tobacco of 1877 has not yet been subjected to sale; but an offer was made by a wholesale English firm for a very large quantity annually at a price which would have paid a sure profit. It would, however, be premature, and possibly indiscreet, to discuss the question in the present stage; and I prefer to reserve facts for a future report.

No official report has been received in this office on the samples sent to England through official channels; but I have understood that they have not been favourably judged. This report does not agree with the fact that good prices have been privately offered to the firm in England, or with the opinion of the American curers, who are as good judges as any professionals can be, and time must be asked for before any final verdict is given. Sales in the open market are the best test; and if these can be effected on favourable terms, no doubt will remain as to the results.

The above remarks refer to cured leaf. But attention is also being given to manufacture; and as the speciality of Virginians is smoking tobacco and not cigars, first experiments have been made with smoking tobacco. Samples of "Black Cavendish" sent to regiments in Mr. Williamson's absence during the year under report were practically condemned by the troops; and as the tobacco was certainly not of the best class, it was a pity the experiment was made. But a smoking "mixture" offered to the public has succeeded far better, and is showing signs of finding general favour. Manufactured tobacco must, however, be much more restricted to the local market than cured leaf; and although an individual firm will no doubt make more profits by local sale in India, yet competition with the world must probably take the form of export of cured leaf.

Comparison between tobacco and tea

A comparison of tobacco with tea may give some idea of the possible position which the former may take as a product of India. An acre of tea produces in Eastern Bengal about 300 lbs. on the average; three or four years elapse before it begins to yield, and full vigour only lasts for a few years without expensive manuring. Cost of cultivation and manufacture is given at various rates; but there is reason to believe that, including export, it is not less than 4 annas a pound. The average price, good leaf and bad, is said not to exceed 9 annas a pound. At these rates, net profits on 100 acres would be $300 \times 5 \text{ annas} \times 100 = \text{Rs. } 9,375$. An acre of tobacco produces about 800 lbs. on the average; cost of cultivation and curing can, including export, be kept probably to 2 annas, and, if manufacture is added, to 3 annas. The price of cured leaf ought to be, if it is to compete with American tobacco, 6d. a pound, or 4 annas, and of manufactured tobacco in India about 10 annas. The minimum net profits of 100 acres at these rates are $800 \times 2 \text{ annas} \times 100 = \text{Rs. } 10,000$ for cured tobacco, and $800 \times 6 \times 100 = \text{Rs. } 30,000$ for manufactured.

The above figures show that there is as good, if not a better, margin for profit in tobacco than in tea. The market in which it competes is of larger extent, and it is almost proved that tobacco cured in India can be sold in London at a profit for a price at which it would not pay America to send it. The indications which I have given of the thorough manner in which exportation is progressing under Messrs. Begg, Sutherland may at least convince Government that the position (whether low or high) which India can occupy in the tobacco market of the world will be in a very few years thoroughly established.

KUMAUN ORCHARD AND TOBACCO PLANTATIONS

Tobacco experiments in the hills

In bringing the American curer to Kumaun for the preservation of his health, I was permitted by Government to institute with his assistance tobacco experiments in the hills. The curer believed that a finer leaf, which would obtain a better market at home, could be raised in the hills—such, indeed, as is exported from Java. The year under report comprises the termination of a first experiment under Mr. Robert Troup, planter at Ránikhet, and the commencement of another in the following season at the Government fruit nurseries at the same place. Both have failed. The first crop of three or four acres was badly cultivated and burnt up. Seed for the second crop came out too late from America, and the situation proved too cold for the plant. But neither experiment was conclusive, and arrangements have been made for a third, and still more thorough, trial on the estate of another planter (Mr. Norman Troup). To enter fully into details now will be to trench on the operations of the year subsequent to that under report, and it is sufficient at present to inform Government that a third trial has been taken in hand under conditions which ought to ensure a thorough experiment. A trained cultivator is to be sent from Gházipur, the services of an American curer are to be placed at the disposal of the planter, and the best cigar-leaf seed has been ordered. The Manager of the Gházipur and Pusa Estates has in the meanwhile visited Mr. Troup, and thoroughly interested him in the project.

KUMAUN ORCHARD
AND TOBACCO PLANTATIONS.

The original idea conceived by myself with reference to Kumaun was to establish a tobacco plantation on new land, and to import a Mulatto curer, whom Mr. Williamson thought he could obtain on cheap terms. The attempt, however, failed. But when the Commissioner of Kumaun was consulted on the matter, he had expressed a wish to give a further impetus to fruit cultivation by establishing Government orchards, and the original proposals to Government were made to continue the two projects. In the year under report land was chosen and inspected, but subsequently abandoned, in consequence of certain disadvantages in soil and position which I need not describe in detail. New land has since been selected, on which I will report next year. Meanwhile, fruit trees have been raised at the Government nurseries at Kanikhet, while the tobacco experiments have for the time become altogether dissociated from the orchard project.

It will be convenient at this place to make a few remarks as to the position of Kumaun with respect to the agricultural interests of the North-Western Provinces. Kumaun possesses a climate and natural conditions not common to any other part of the Provinces (or indeed of India) in British occupation. There is therefore a prima facie presumption that it can be made to yield certain products which India requires either for consumption or export which cannot be produced elsewhere. A successful commencement was made thirty years ago with tea, which subsequently being extended to the lower hill countries east of Bengal, found there a climate better suited to its production. There are now plantations in Kumaun which yield about 300,000 lbs. out of the 30 million pounds produced in India. The frost and cold of the winter months prevent such large acreage yields as are given under the sub-tropical moisture of Assam and similar climates, and Kumaun finds it difficult therefore to compete against the lower hills. A better tea of the finer classes is undoubtedly produced, and commands a higher price in private sales, since it can be better used as a "whole" or unmixed tea than the Assam leaf, which is employed chiefly for flavouring by home dealers; but demand for such classes is far more limited in the home markets, and Kumaun planters have therefore hitherto chiefly occupied themselves in providing green teas for Central Asia, where they are carried by Kabul traders, who visit Kumaun yearly, and often purchase the whole, or nearly the whole, produce of an estate. During the last two years, however, owing to Russian restrictions on export to Central Asia and to combination amongst the Kabulis, prices have fallen, and sales are now made which give a very much smaller profit to planters. This circumstance is one reason why I am anxious to induce thorough experiments in tobacco in Kumaun, which may, if a better leaf can be raised there than in the plains, provide large profits. Tea plantations have increased the prosperity of the Kumaun agricultural classes so greatly (by opening up communications and bringing in a large labouring population, for whom they are required to raise food), that the decline of tea would now be a great blow to this division of the Provinces if nothing were brought forward to take its place. Labour is supplied from the Native States, Tehri, Kashmir, and Nipal (chiefly the last), and the greater part of the cash paid for tea filters through these foreign labourers to the agricultural population of

AND TOBACCO PLANTATIONS

Adaptability of
cultivation.

Kumaun. Next to tobacco, or perhaps before it, the most promising product is fruit. Large quantities of fruit, chiefly apples and dried stone-fruits, are brought annually from Kabul to India; and there seems no reason why Kumaun should not supersede that country as the orchard for the plains. The experiments which have been made by the Commissioner of Kumaun (Sir H. Ramsay) and at the Government nurseries founded by Sir William Muir at Ránikhet, as well as by one or two of the planters, prove that apples and apricots can be raised with the very greatest success in the Himalayas. Large quantities of young trees have already been distributed by the nurseries; but private enterprise is deterred from making any rapid steps by the length of the period which intervenes between the outlay of capital in the plantation of orchards and the returns realised from them. The consequence is, that apples are still selling for 6d. apiece in Naini Tal, although the far lower price offered in native bazars in the plains for inferior Kabul fruit is sufficient to guarantee substantial profits. These are the reasons which have induced the Commissioner of Kumaun and myself to give an impetus to fruit-growing, by the establishment of large orchards, which may, if found desirable after the lapse of some years, be eventually placed in private hands. The object in view in this case is not merely to bring money to Kumaun, but also to add to the food-supply of the population of the plains, who depend almost entirely on vegetable productions for sustenance. Chestnuts (which provide the greater portion of food in the Pyrénées) are also not unlikely to succeed in the Himalayas, although experimental cultivation has not been so successful as in the case of apple and some of the stone-fruits. But as chestnuts possess extreme importance in their adaptability for exportation, every possible measure will be taken to increase their cultivation on the chance of their proving a success.

plains with hill potato.

The production of potatoes for seed also received my attention during the year. New potato stock had been introduced both by the Commissioner and myself to Kumaun in previous years; and as experiment at Cawnpore had proved that potatoes from the hills gave better crops than seed sown in the plains (where only the very smallest can be preserved through the rains), I commenced a system of export in 1877, which resulted in the disposal of 273 maunds. There is difficulty, however, in providing ripe tubers in sufficient time, since the crop in the hills is taken up in October, the same month that it is required for seed in the plains, and carriage to the nearest railway is slow. On the whole, the results were favourable, and when the railway connects the hills with the plains, success will be more certain. The project is important as potatoes form one of the few products which can be made to supply rapidly a large amount of food after a failure of the autumn harvest in the north of India; and I trust that every attempt may therefore be made to induce the agriculturists of the plains to accustom themselves to obtain potato seed from hill cultivators. I am glad to know that some of the zamindars who took the seed last year were pleased with the result.

The net cost of Gházipur and Kumaun operations was Rs. 6,050, defrayed from the rent paid by Messrs. Begg and Sutherland.

SEED AND STOCK
FARM IN THE DÚN

(7) Seed and Stock Farm in the Dún.

Suitability of the Dún.

The same principles which led to the utilisation of Kumaun for the supply of products and seed which cannot be produced in the plains, suggested the project of establishing a seed and stock farm in the Dún, which possesses a climate healthier, both for cereals and for animal life, than any other portion of the plains. There is land still belonging to Government in the Dún, and the Superintendent is in favour of utilising it for the purpose. Strong and good cereal seed is a very urgent want throughout the Province, and the best way in which to raise a supply has been for some time the subject of consideration. His Honour Sir George Couper was in favour of some practical attempt being undertaken, and the suggestion to utilise Dún land was therefore placed before the Commissioner of the division for discussion with the Superintendent of the Dún. What further action has been proposed or taken will be noticed in the next report. It is necessary, however, to remove at once any idea that may be formed that model farms are to be multiplied. There were four years ago three model farms in the Province. There are now only two, one of which at Allahabad is practically only a sewage farm, and will be eventually handed over to the municipality; the other, the experimental farm at Cawnpore. The Dún land, if utilised at all, will be used only for the production of good seed and for stock-breeding, and not as a model farm.

SEED AND STOCK
FARM IN THE DÚN

With regard to stock-breeding little has been done, and little could be done until existing conditions were better known. During the year under report Mr. Fuller, my Assistant, was sent to Hissar to learn what arrangements were conducted there, and was desired to place all the facts ascertained by him before Government, as well as any propositions which might seem feasible. Further enquiries are to be made this season in the cattle-breeding districts of the Sub-Himalayan tracts. Mr. Fuller's report is before Government, and has been circulated for opinion; and I need only say here that it is not at all certain that it will not be wiser to depend upon Hissar as a central breeding establishment than to attempt any independent measures. If, however, any are undertaken, it is not improbable that the Dún will form one of the best centres of supply.

Stock-breeding.

[Sheep-breeding was, as I have noticed under the head of "Cawnpore Farm," undertaken to a small extent there, and distribution made to two districts, of which Banda was one. Banda lies in a tract of country which has for years past been utilised for sheep and cattle breeding on account of the large area of pasture land available. The Collector has during the year folded a large number of ewes, for which rams with which he has been supplied have been exclusively used, and the lambs when sufficiently hardy are to be distributed in the neighbourhood. The natives themselves refused to take the rams, not feeling sure that the new breed would suit the climate, and it remains to be seen how far they were right or wrong. New Australian rams were ordered for the Cawnpore establishment, because it was believed that, coming from a hotter climate than England, they would suit the North-Western Provinces better. The other district to which rams were sent was Budaun, where five were made over to zamindars.]

(8) A Silk Farm in the Dún.

The silk farm is under personal charge of Mr. Ross, Superintendent of the Dún, who in the year under report brought operations through a third season. The second season was a failure, owing to Mr. Ross' absence; but in this year he made some progress. The annual report states that "the practical points of success were the health of the acclimatised worms and the large weight of good silk produced from good cocoons," which facts taken together prove that good silk can be successfully produced in the Dún. Professional opinion on the silk has not yet been received. It has been in previous reports explained, but the statement may be repeated, that the merits of the Dún for silk culture are (1) that eggs can be removed to and stored in a cold atmosphere in the Himalayas, which prevents quick germination,

THE DÚN SILK FARM.

THE DUN SILK FARM resulting in feeble worms; (2) that mulberry trees like the climate; (3) that worms are healthier in the spring of the year (when eggs are hatched) than in the lower plains.

Its advantages

The remaining advantage of cheap labour is of course shared by other parts of India. The great advantage is, therefore, that of being able to rear strong, healthy worms; and that this can be done is now proved.

Instruction of natives in silk production

One feature in the year's operations must be noted. Two professional reelers, prisoners in Bengal jails, were imported, one of whom proved a failure, the other a success. Mr. Ross has now taken in hand the instructions of natives of the Dún, with the view of extending the industry among the agricultural population, so as to give immediate and practical effect to the lead given by the Government farm. The net cost to Government on the silk farm has been Rs. 3,454.

(9) Farming Operations under the Court of Wards.

With the following remarks made in Sir John Strachey's minute on the organisation of this Department I fully agree:—

OPERATIONS IN COURT OF WARDS' ESTATES
Sir John Strachey's view.

"Estates under the Court of Wards afford another means of promoting agricultural improvements. No one can be less inclined than I am to try doubtful experiments at other people's expense; but I believe that, under proper superintendence, much might be done on these estates through the agency of the cultivators themselves. They might often be induced to try new seeds, new plants; or new methods of cultivation. The rapid increase of potato, opium, and indigo cultivation in these Provinces sufficiently proves that no real bar exists to the adoption of novelties by the agricultural classes when once they are convinced that they are remunerative. The successful introduction of an improvement on one or two Court of Wards' estates would have a much better chance of leavening the agriculture of the surrounding country than any number of equally successful experiments on the model farms. In fact, while the latter must be utilised chiefly in teaching experience to the Government, and in proving what experiments are likely to meet with success and what with failure, the latter should be employed in reproducing, for the education of the agricultural classes, any of those experiments in which success has been obtained. While leaving the general control over those estates, as at present, in the hands of the district officers, much might be done in the direction of agricultural improvements through the agency of the special department. 'These estates,' it was said in the Report on the Administration of these Provinces for 1871-72, 'should be our model farms; and the higher cultivation, the greater appearance of comfort, the trim villages, and the skilful utilisation of natural advantages, should testify to the people what the effects of an enlightened management can be.'

"But it appears to me that Court of Wards' estates might, under intelligent inquiry, be made the medium for investigations of a still more important character. Great ignorance prevails regarding the real condition of the cultivating population; the manner in which they live, the profits which they realise from their holdings, and the relations which exist between them and the money-lending classes, are subjects on which much light might be thrown. Even among experienced officers whose attention has been specially devoted to the subject a wide divergence of opinion will be found as to the real margin which, taking good and bad years together, proprietors realise from their estates after payment of the Government demand. The facts stand out that a year of scarcity reduces a large portion of the cultivating community to a condition of severe distress; that in some parts of the country the people are always under-fed; that throughout these Provinces the majority of them are in debt to the money-lending classes.

An examination of 1,000 cultivators taken at random in a district in the Lower Doab proved that, while 25 per cent. were irretrievably in debt; 50 per cent. more were in the constant habit of borrowing, and that only 25 per cent. never resorted to the money-lender at all. The fact is equally prominent that a large number of proprietors who bore up under the exactions of oppressive Native Governments have broken down, or are breaking down, under the demands of a Government whose intentions at least are infinitely more benevolent. The extreme importance of ascertaining the causes which tend to these results is apparent, and no better instrument for the purpose can be found than the Court of Wards' estates. They afford the opportunity of investigating facts connected with the condition of the cultivating classes, of discovering what remedies may be applied for their improvement, and of ascertaining the results of investing capital, not only on works of agricultural utility, but also in relieving cultivators during periods of pressure and temporary scarcity with money or food, and in assisting them at proper times in the purchase of cattle or agricultural implements."

OPERATIONS IN COURT OF WARDS' ESTATES.

Experiments ought not to be made at the expense of Court of Wards' estates unless probabilities in their favour are established facts. We have at present advanced very little beyond the experimental stage, and the only improvements which I have dared to suggest for introduction on Court of Wards' estates have been English ploughs, new wheat seed, and new sugar-mills.

In 1877 operations were practically defeated by the drought, and I refrained from making any attempt in the year under report to press experiments forward at a time when all official agricultural energy was devoted to the preservation of vegetable, animal, and human life. The following distributions were made (expense of carriage being defrayed from the Farm Budget) :—

Introduction of new implements and seeds.

- 12 Madras ploughs.
- 16 B. F. O. ploughs.
- 59 Sugar-mills.
- 176 maunds wheat seed.

Separate reports have been submitted to Government on the two latter; the former could not be tried on account of the want of rain. Of the new sugar-mills and the wheat seed an account has been given under the Cawnpore Farm. I am convinced that little good will be obtained in any attempts I myself or higher authority may make in working through Court of Wards' estates, unless district officers have more time to attend to such matters, and are allowed to consider them of practical importance to the country. It would be better still—and I have stated this opinion in a letter to Government on the subject—to place Court of Wards' estates under the intelligent management of selected European managers or of covenanted officers, who could easily be spared without cost to the State, if the more economical system of providing Judicial Courts with Native Magistrates were further extended. I cannot personally watch agricultural undertakings on any estate; agricultural operations which require continual supervision can only be superintended by local officers; and I must use every opportunity to insist that, if Government wish to extend improvements, which are proved to be successful, among native agricultural classes, they must either provide special local agency for the purpose, or, by giving them leisure, permit and require district officials to interest themselves in the work. As the surest, I advocate special and well-selected agency in the superintendence of Court of Wards' estates.

(B) ARBORICULTURE.

The duty of providing nurseries for district arboriculture was entrusted to this Department just as the year was closing. Arrangements had hitherto been made in the Public Works Department, and the orders of Government now required that, while nurseries should be maintained by this Department, avenues and roadside planting should remain under the Public Works Department. The chief change has been to reduce the number of small nurseries which were kept up at much waste of money, and concentrate operations on one or two large nurseries in each district and on provincial nurseries, under professional supervision, at Saharanpur, Cawnpore, Lucknow, and Gorakhpur. The last-named nursery has been placed under Forest supervision. The others already existed.

ARBORICULTURE.

AGRICULTURE

Its object.

His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor having desired that fruit or fodder trees only should in future be planted, steps have been taken to raise plantations of carobs, prosopis, mangoes, and other useful trees; the provincial nurseries being especially used for the introduction of new and foreign trees, which will be distributed thence to the districts.

The scheme prepared in the North-Western Provinces agrees very much in plan with a similar programme lately promulgated by the Government of India in the Forest Department, in conjunction with which it will probably be very advantageous for the provincial scheme to be combined.

The main object of the proposals is to secure the plantation of useful trees throughout the plains, and thus supplement the work done in the forest lands under the Himalayas, which, useful as it is, does not materially affect the well-being of the districts at any distance from the mountain range. It is, and I believe reasonably, assumed that the aridity of the North-Western climate, increased as it is by the continual clearance of wood and scrub before advancing cultivation, may be kept in check by the plantation of trees wherever room can be found for them; and it is manifestly desirable that, if this idea is carried out, trees of which the fruit or foliage is useful as food should be selected for the purpose. The first step is to organise the nursery system, and this has been commenced. As the year under report was at its close when orders issued, the above explanation of the nature of the measures which have been undertaken is sufficient for the present report.

II.—Commerce may be divided under the following heads:—

(A) Collection of trade statistics.

(B) Promotion of trades and manufactures.

(A) COLLECTION OF TRADE STATISTICS.

(A). In describing what has been done for the registration of trade statistics, it is desirable to call attention to the programme which was adopted at the Simla Conference in June 1876, at which it was decided that traffic should be divided and registered under the following heads:—

1st.—Trade with foreign countries, i.e., as regards the North-Western Provinces and Oudh, trade with Nipal and Tibet.

2ndly.—With provinces and Native States immediately surrounding the North-Western Provinces and Oudh.

3rdly.—Traffic within the Provinces, including the traffic of principal roads, rivers, canals, and railways, and the trade of municipalities.

Arrangements were made for the registration of foreign trade, and reports have been submitted on our trade with Nipal and Tibet, to which I refer for details.

With regard to trade with other provinces and Native States, a cordon of posts was established round the Province, and registration effected of all traffic which passed the boundary by road and river; and a provincial report has already been submitted Government in which detailed results are shown. It is impossible to say more of these statistics than that they indicate in a general way the character and amount of exports and imports. It is idle to pretend that accuracy of detail has been obtained. An attempt was made to provide for supervision by placing traffic registration under the special charge of one officer in each district; but district officers have so many duties to perform, that they cannot be expected to devote much time to the investigation of work conducted on the extreme boundaries of their districts. This system of frontier registration is, by the orders of the Secretary of State, to be discontinued next year. But, meanwhile, the returns of the year under report and of the current year will, however inaccurate, have provided a very useful, and I believe valuable, indication of the general flow and character of the trade which this Province conducts with other parts of India.

In the above remarks I have purposely omitted to allude to railway traffic, the registration of which is by far the most important, while it admits at the same time of being rendered the most complete.

At the Simla Conference there was a general understanding that Bengal should provide returns for the East Indian Railway,—Punjab, for the Sind, Punjab and Delhi Railway,—and the North-Western Provinces, for the Oudh and Rohilkhand Railway. The railway statistics eventually obtained by Bengal and the Punjab were, however, of a local character, and proved practically useless for the compilation of a synopsis of railway traffic between different provinces and between one part and another of the same province. I visited Calcutta with the object of obtaining more complete statistics through the Bengal Office, but objections were there raised to my proposals on the score of difficulty and expense. I felt convinced however that, through the agency of the East Indian Railway Audit Office, a system could be established, at comparatively small expense, under which the railway trade of any part of each province with any part of every other province could be completely registered; and my expectations were realised at a visit which was paid to the Audit Office by Mr. O'Connor, Assistant Secretary to the Government of India, and myself, in November 1877. I subsequently visited Jamalpur to arrange preliminaries, and since October 1877 the system which I proposed has been in working order, in anticipation of the sanction of the Government of India, which was finally accorded in a Resolution dated 22nd February 1878. The provinces included in this scheme are Bengal, the North-Western Provinces and Oudh, the Punjab, and the Central Provinces, as well as Bombay, Rajputana, and Ajmere, so far as that portion of this railway trade is concerned which passes between them and the four provinces first named. The whole expenditure does not exceed Rs. 5,000. It is satisfactory to record that railway statistics of a year, viz., from October 1877 to October 1878, are now complete, and that at the present time returns are provided quarterly showing the amount and value of each class of merchandise exported from and imported to not only each province, but each section of the province, as well as from and to the ports of Calcutta and Bombay. Since the close of the year under report, the whole of the arrangements connected with the railway trade of the four provinces named have been placed by the Government of India under my control.

The registration of internal trade was confined to the collection of statistics in (1) the Rohilkhand and the Meerut Divisions, (2) in the Benares Division, in which localities Government required information in connection with light railways, and special reports were submitted to Government in the Public Works Department on the returns attained. The funds allotted for trade registration did not admit of further expenditure, and, with the exception of municipal registration effected in some of the Rohilkhand towns in connection with the above enquiries, town registration could not be undertaken. It is a question whether a municipality should not be required to provide Government returns of their trade at their own expense, since it is of importance to every town to maintain a history of its own trade.

(B). PROMOTION OF TRADES AND MANUFACTURES.

(B) The only attempts which have been made to promote the interests of special trades of large commercial importance are those which have been described already under the head of "Agriculture," viz., those in connection with tobacco, silk, and rhea fibre, and I need not add anything in this place to the account I have already given of the first two of the undertakings named.

Rhea would deserve further notice, but that the action which has been taken in connection with the attempts to develop an industry in this fibre is due so much more to the Government of India than to this Department, that it would be out of place to describe the operations as belonging to provincial action.

I desire now to offer some brief remarks on the subject of promoting commercial enterprise in new directions with a view partly of explaining what action has been taken, and partly of inviting an expression of the wishes of Government on the subject. In developing new enterprise, Government can afford assistance in three ways. First, by making enquiry, and bringing such facts as may be elicited before the notice of the commercial public; secondly, by offering prizes or bonuses for the successful establishment of a new undertaking; thirdly, by itself actively engaging in the enterprise as pioneer.

The first duty is one which I have on the part of Government undertaken. I have taken steps to obtain through the agency of village records complete statistics of agricultural products in the Province. I next took the opportunity afforded by the requisition made upon this Department for the Paris Exhibition, of making a collection of all North-Western Provinces products other than agricultural which are, or are likely to be, the subject of commerce; and I am preparing a series of volumes in continuation of those edited by Mr. Atkinson of the Civil Service, and entitled "Economic Products of the North-Western Provinces." The volume which has been prepared in the year under report, and which is now under issue from press, is that on Dyes and Tans, Mr. Atkinson having already edited two volumes—one on Gums and Resins, the other on the Minerals of Kumaun. The most important volume of the series will be that on Agricultural Products, of which Mr. Wright's valuable agricultural memorandum for Cawnpore (prepared partly in communication with this Department) is to form the basis. Material has been collected during the year in each district which, when supplemented by further enquiries, will enable Mr. Wright and myself to expand his memorandum into an agricultural dictionary for the Province.

In the meantime enquiries of a more special character have been made in the interest of particular trades, in respect to which it is premature at present to predicate any definite results. The glass manufacture of the reh-covered plains of the northern districts and the wool supplies of Bhutan and Tibet have been the subject of detailed investigation, and I shall shortly be in a position to publish some interesting facts regarding them.

The second and third means of assisting commercial enterprise, viz., by offering prizes, or by active engagement in a new enterprise, may be treated together. An instance of the second method of giving aid is supplied by the action taken by the Government of India in offering a prize of Rs. 50,000 for a successful Rhea machine; and of the third by the steps taken for the development of the tobacco and silk industries. Much more could be done if funds were available; while but little progress can be made without either actual expenditure, or concessions which are equivalent to a grant-in-aid. Some little time ago I pointed out that one method of action, already practised not unsuccessfully, might be more persistently followed: I refer to the utilisation of jail machinery. For the development of such industries as pottery and glass-making, it is almost safe to say that nothing is wanted but skilled instruction, since the plant of these trades is extremely cheap. I am firmly convinced that immense development would follow the introduction of skilled professional knowledge into the country; and if Government are unable to provide funds sufficient for independent experiment, I again take the opportunity of noticing that a more economical way of effecting the object may be found in carrying out the system (already partly encouraged) of providing our jails with specially qualified warders. If, on the other hand, this proposal is considered for any reason unfeasible, then I venture to trust that Government will acknowledge the expediency of following up the action which they have already adopted in the case of tobacco, by granting me sufficient funds to enable me to carry out experiments, or to offer substantial prizes, under the direction of my own Department. If the principle I have proposed is admitted to be a sound one, I shall be prepared to place before Government projects for approval.

A first step has been taken for the encouragement and possible improvement of art manufacture by the establishment of a central depôt at Allahabad, where samples of textile fabrics and ornamental ware are being collected for exhibition and sale. Samples are not allowed to be exhibited until passed in this Department, and only duplicates of passed samples can be sold at the dépôt. It is intended, in conjunction with this undertaking, to obtain and provide new patterns to manufacturers, where means exist of adopting such measures. The collection has only lately been commenced, and a more complete account must be awaited in my next report.

During the year samples of teas and cotton fabrics were sent to the Colonies, and there is reason to believe that some opening may be found for these articles of commerce in Australia. One of the Kumaun tea-planters has obtained a favourable report and further orders through the agency of this Department.

I may allude, in conclusion, to the collection of products which was made for the Paris Exhibition, and which occupied some weeks of my time in the cold weather of the year under report. The collection was, I believe, intended as much for the India Museum in Kensington as for the Paris Exhibition, and was received with favourable comments by the Government of India.

Returns of accidents to trains, &c., on railways open for traffic in India for the 2nd quarter of 1878.

OBSERVATIONS.—Part I.—Accidents to Trains, Rolling Stock, Permanent Way, &c.—The total casualties resulting from accidents to trains, &c., during the quarter ending 30th June 1878, were among passengers 6 injured, and among servants 5 killed and 10 injured. The casualties to passengers occurred on the Oudh and Rohilkhand Railway, and were nearly all due to an accident which was caused by a mail train being turned into a wrong line, and coming into collision with a dead mud buffer. The injuries sustained were very slight. In another collision on the Oudh and Rohilkhand Railway, 4 servants were killed and 3 injured.

There were 3 collisions between passenger trains or parts of passenger trains; 13 collisions between passenger trains and goods or mineral trains, engines, or vehicles standing foul of the line by which 1 servant was injured; 18 collisions between goods trains or parts of goods trains; by which 4 railway servants were killed and 4 injured; 4 collisions between light engines, causing injury to one railway servant; 9 cases of passenger trains or parts of passenger trains leaving the rails; 112 cases of goods trains or parts of goods trains, engines, &c., leaving the rails; 12 cases of trains or engines travelling in the wrong direction through points, by which 5 passengers and 1 servant received slight scratches; 2 cases of trains running into stations or sidings at too high a speed; 224 cases of trains running over cattle; 20 cases of trains running over obstructions; 11 cases of trains running through level crossing gates; and 7 cases of bursting of boilers, tubes, &c., of engines. There were 22 failures of engine machinery, 3 of tyres, 28 of axles and 19 of couplings.

There were 13 cases in which axles failed on the Great Indian Peninsula Railway and 10 on the East Indian Railway. The casualties resulting from this class of accidents were 2 servants injured.

There have also been reported 4 cases of broken rails; 4 cases of flooding of portions of permanent way by which 1 servant was killed and 1 injured; 10 cases of slips in cuttings and embankments; 79 cases of fire in trains; 8 cases of fire at stations or involving injury to bridges or viaducts; and 140 other accidents.

As observed in the returns for the first quarter of 1878, the number of miscellaneous accidents is the largest on the East Indian Railway, viz., 107, and they consist chiefly of points being damaged. It has already been laid down in Public Works Department Circular No. 4 R of 6th February 1879, that such accidents, as damage to points resulting in no further mischief, should be excluded from the returns.

The total number of accidents of all descriptions included in Part I was 752 against 733 during the previous quarter, and the number of persons killed and injured thereby were 5 and 16 against 3 and 1 respectively.

It is observed that the derailment of a wagon on the Rajputana State Railway on the 21st June, caused by a stone being placed on the line, has been classified under heading 6 of the key to Part I. This accident should have been shown under heading 10, "Trains running over obstructions on the line."

The case in which the feed pipe of the engine of a mail train was bent on the Northern Bengal Railway on the 21st April, in consequence of its running over a bullock, should have been excluded from the return of trains running through level crossing gates over cattle or other obstructions as required by the heading of the return and entered in the general return.

Part II.—Accidents to passengers from causes other than accidents to trains, &c., persons passing over level crossings, trespassers and others.—There was 1 passenger killed and 11 injured, of whom 1 was injured by falling between carriages and platforms; 1 killed and 1 injured by falling when getting into or out of trains; 1 injured by the closing of carriage doors; 8 injured by falling out of carriages during the travelling of trains; and 3 injured through other causes. Of other persons included in this part of the return 3 were killed and 1 injured whilst passing over railways at level crossings; 29 killed and 10 injured while trespassing on the line; 12 were suicides; and 5 killed and 3 injured from miscellaneous causes.

As compared with the first quarter of 1878, the number of passengers killed shows a decrease of 4, and the number of passengers injured an increase of 5.

Part III.—Accidents to servants in the employ of railways or of contractors whilst performing duties connected directly with the transit of passengers and goods.—Out of a total of 36 killed and 77 injured, 1 were killed and 12 injured during shunting operations; 6 killed and 11 injured by falling off engines, &c.; 1 injured by coming in contact, while shunting, with vehicles, &c., standing on adjoining lines; 4 killed and 5 injured while getting in or out of trains, engines, &c.; 4 injured while loading, unloading or sheeting; 1 killed whilst breaking, spragging or chocking wheels; 1 injured whilst working at cranes or capstans; 1 injured whilst working on the permanent way or in sidings; 3 killed whilst walking along the lines on the way home or to work; 4 killed and 5 injured whilst walking, crossing or standing on the line; 2 killed whilst passing between vehicles; 2 injured whilst attending to the machinery of engines; 1 injured by falling or being caught between vehicles and platforms; 2 injured by falling off ladders, scaffolds, &c., 4 killed and 5 injured whilst coupling or uncoupling vehicles; and 8 killed and 21 injured from miscellaneous causes.

As compared with the previous quarter, the number killed shows an increase of 2, and the number injured an increase of 12.

The totals of persons killed and injured from causes connected with the working of trains on all railways were as follows:—

	Killed.	Injured
PASSENGERS—
From causes beyond control	...	8
" misconduct or want of caution	1	12
SERVANTS—
From causes beyond control	15	30
" misconduct or want of caution	26	57
Persons passing at level crossings	3	4
Trespassers (including suicides)	41	10
Other persons	5	3
TOTAL	91	124

In addition to the above, 25 persons were killed and 44 injured in yards, workshops, &c. There have also been reported 103 deaths of passengers in carriages and at stations, due largely to their undertaking journeys when in bad health.

RESOLUTION.—Resolved that the attention of the authorities concerned be invited to the remarks with regard to the classification of certain accidents noted above and to the large number of miscellaneous accidents on the East Indian Railway.

At the Court at Windsor, the 22nd day of February 1879.

PRESENT:

The Queen's Most Excellent Majesty in Council.

WHEREAS by the Extradition Acts of 1870 and 1873, it was amongst other things enacted, that where an arrangement has been made with any foreign State with respect to the surrender to such State of any fugitive criminals, Her Majesty may, by Order in Council, direct that the said Acts shall apply in the case of such foreign State; and that Her Majesty may, by the same or any subsequent Order, limit the operation of the Order, and restrict the same to fugitive criminals who are in or suspected of being in the part of Her Majesty's dominions specified in the Order, and render the operation thereof subject to such conditions, exceptions, and qualifications as may be deemed expedient:

And whereas a Treaty was concluded on the thirty-first day of March, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four, between Her Majesty and the Swiss Confederation, for the Mutual Extradition of Fugitive Criminals, which Treaty is in the terms following:—

Her Majesty the Queen of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, and the Swiss Confederation, having judged it expedient, with a view to the better administration of justice and to the prevention of crime within their respective territories and jurisdictions, that persons charged with, or convicted of, the crimes hereinafter enumerated, and being fugitives from justice, should, under certain circumstances, be reciprocally delivered up, have named as their Plenipotentiaries to conclude a Treaty for this purpose, that is to say:

Her Majesty the Queen of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, Alfred Guthrie Graham Bonar, Esquire, Her Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary to the Swiss Confederation;

Die Auslieferung findet auch statt wegen Theilnahme an einer der vorbezeichneten strafbaren Handlungen, mag die Theilnahme vor oder nach der Verübung stattfinden.

ARTIKEL III.

Kein Schweizer wird von Seiten der Schweiz an die Regierung des Vereinigten Königreiches und von Seiten dieser kein englischer Unterthan an die Schweiz ausgeliefert werden.

ARTIKEL IV.

Die Auslieferung soll nicht stattfinden, wenn die von der Schweizerischen Regierung verfolgte Person im Vereinigten Königreich, oder die Seitens der Regierung des Vereinigten Königreiches verfolgte Person in einem Kanton der Schweiz wegen derselben strafbaren Handlung, wegen deren die Auslieferung nachgeacht wird, in Untersuchung gewesen und ausser Verfolgung gesetzt worden, oder sich noch in Untersuchung befindet, oder bereits bestraft worden ist.

Wenn die von der Schweizerischen Regierung verfolgte Person im Vereinigten Königreich, oder wenn die Seitens der Regierung des Vereinigten Königreiches verfolgte Person in einem Kanton der Schweiz wegen einer andern strafbaren Handlung in Untersuchung liegt oder bestraft worden ist, so kann die Auslieferung verschoben werden, bis diese Person in gehörigen Rechtsgang in Freiheit gesetzt worden ist.

Wird ein solches Individuum wegen Verpflichtungen, die dasselbe mit Privatpersonen abgeschlossen hat, in jenem Lande, in welchem es Zuflucht genommen hat, gerichtlich verfolgt oder shall, nevertheless, take place; the injured party retaining his right to prosecute his claims before the competent authority.

ARTICLE V.

The extradition shall not take place if, subsequently to the commission of the crime, or the institution of the penal prosecution, or the conviction thereon, exemption from prosecution or punishment has been acquired by lapse of time, according to the laws of the State applied to.

ARTICLE VI.

If the individual claimed by one of the two Contracting Parties in pursuance of the present Treaty should be also claimed by one or several other Powers, on account of other crimes committed upon their respective territories, his surrender shall be granted to that State whose demand is earliest in date; unless any other arrangement should be made between the Governments which have claimed him, either on account of the gravity of the crimes committed, or for any other reason.

ARTICLE VII.

A fugitive criminal shall not be surrendered if the offence in respect of which his surrender is demanded is one of a political character, or is connected with a crime of that nature, or if he prove that the requisition for his surrender has, in fact, been made with a view to try and punish him for an offence of a political character.

ARTICLE VIII.

A person surrendered can in no case be kept in prison, or be brought to trial in the State to which the surrender has been made, for any other crime, or on account of any other matters than those for which the extradition shall have taken place.

This stipulation does not apply to crimes committed after the extradition.

ARTICLE IX.

The requisition for extradition must always be made by the way of diplomacy, and to wit, in Switzerland by the British Minister to the President of the Confederation, and in the United Kingdom to the Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs by the Consul-General of Switzerland, who, for the purposes of this treaty, is hereby recognized by Her Majesty as a diplomatic Representative of Switzerland.

The requisition for the extradition of an accused person must be accompanied by a warrant of arrest issued by the competent authority of the State requiring the extradition, and by such evidence as, according to the laws of the place where the accused is found, would justify his arrest if the crime had been committed there.

mit Personalarrest belegt, so soll dessen Auslieferung dennoch stattfinden, dabei aber der beschädigten Partei das Recht vorbehalten bleiben, ihre Aussprache vor der kompetenten Behörde geltend zu machen.

ARTIKEL V.

Die Auslieferung soll nicht stattfinden, wenn seit der begangenen strafbaren Handlung, oder der Einleitung der strafgerichtlichen Verfolgung, oder der erfolgten Verurtheilung nach den Gesetzen des ersuchten Staates Verjährung der strafgerichtlichen Verfolgung oder der erkannten Strafe eingetreten ist.

ARTIKEL VI.

Wird ein Individuum von einer der beiden Vertragsparteien auf Grund des gegenwärtigen Vertrages zur Auslieferung reklamirt, zugleich aber auch dessen Auslieferung von einer oder mehreren andern Mächten wegen andern auf deren Gebieten begangenen Verbrechen verlangt, so ist dasjenige Gesuch im Vorgange zu bewilligen, welches das älteste im datum ist, es sei denn, das zwischen den Regierungen, die das betreffende Individuum reklamirt haben, entweder wegen der Wichtigkeit der begangenen Verbrechen oder aus andern Gründen ein anderes Abkommen getroffen würde.

ARTIKEL VII.

Ein flüchtiger Verbrecher soll nicht ausgeliefert werden, wenn die strafbare Handlung, wegen deren seine Auslieferung verlangt wird, einen politischen Charakter an sich trägt, oder mit einem derartigen Verbrechen zusammenhängt, oder wenn er nachweisen kann, dass der Antrag auf seine Auslieferung in Wirklichkeit mit der Absicht gestellt worden ist, ihn wegen eines Verbrechens oder Vergehens politischer Natur zu verfolgen oder zu bestrafen.

ARTIKEL VIII.

Die ausgelieferte Person darf in dem Staate, an welchen die Auslieferung erfolgt ist, keinenfalls wegen einer andern strafbaren Handlung oder auf Grund anderer Thatfachen, als derjenigen, wegen deren die Auslieferung erfolgt ist, in Haft behalten oder zur Untersuchung gezogen werden.

Auf strafbare Handlungen, welche nach erfolgter Auslieferung verübt sind, findet diese Bestimmung keine Anwendung.

ARTIKEL IX.

Das Auslieferungsgesuch muss immer auf diplomatischem Wege gestellt werden und zwar in der Schweiz durch den Englischen Gesandten bei dem Bundespräsidenten und in Grossbritannien durch den Schweizerischen General-Konsul in London, welcher von Ihrer Majestät für die Zwecke dieses Vertrages als diplomatischer Repräsentant der Schweiz anerkannt wird, bei dem Staatssekretär für die auswärtigen Angelegenheiten.

Mit dem Gesuche auf Auslieferung eines Beschuldigten muss ein Verhaftsbefehl welcher von der zuständigen Behörde des die Auslieferung begehrenden Staates erlassen ist, und solche Beweise beigebracht werden, welche nach den Gesetzen des Ortes, wo der Beschuldigte aufgefunden wird, dessen Verhaftung rechtfertigen würden, wenn die strafbare Handlung dort begangen wäre.

If the requisition relates to a person already convicted, it must be accompanied by the sentence of condemnation passed against the convicted person by the competent Court of the State that makes the requisition for extradition.

A requisition for extradition cannot be founded on sentences passed in contumaciam.

ARTICLE X.

A fugitive criminal may, however, be apprehended under a warrant issued by any police magistrate, justice of the peace, or other competent authority, in either country, on such information or complaint, together with such evidence or after such judicial proceedings as would in the opinion of the officer issuing the warrant justify its issue, if the crime had been committed in that part of the dominions of the two Contracting Parties in which he exercises jurisdiction. Provided, however, that in the United Kingdom the accused shall in such case be sent as speedily as possible before a police magistrate in London. Such requisition may be made by means of the post or by telegraph.

The accused shall, however, be discharged if, within such reasonable time as with reference to the circumstances of the case, the police magistrate may fix, the requisition shall not have been made according to the stipulations contained in Article IX.

ARTICLE XI.

The extradition shall not take place before the expiration of fifteen days from the apprehension, and then only if the evidence be found sufficient, according to the laws of the State applied to, either to justify the committal of the prisoner for trial in case the crime had been committed in the territory of the said State, or to prove that the prisoner is the identical person convicted by the Courts of the State which makes the requisition.

ARTICLE XII.

In the examinations which they have to make in accordance with the foregoing stipulations, the authorities of the State applied to shall admit as entirely valid evidence the sworn depositions or statement of witnesses taken in the other State, or copies thereof, and likewise the warrants and sentences issued therein, provided such documents are signed or certified by a Judge, Magistrate, or Officer of such State, and are authenticated by the oath of some witness, or by being sealed with the official seal of a British Secretary of State, or of the Chancellor of the Swiss Confederation.

ARTICLE XIII.

If sufficient evidence for the extradition be not produced within two months from the date of the apprehension of the fugitive, he shall be set at liberty.

Betrifft das Auslieferungsbegehren eine bereits verurtheilte Person, so muss das Strafurtheil beigebracht werden, welches von dem zuständigen Gericht des die Auslieferung begehrenden Staates gegen den Verurtheilten erlassen worden ist.

Auf Strafurtheile, welche in contumaciam erlassen worden sind, kann das Auslieferungsgesuch nicht gegründet werden.

ARTIKEL X.

Indessen kann ein flüchtiger Verbrecher in beiden Ländern auch verhaftet werden auf Grund eines Verhaftsbefehles, der von einem Polizeimagistrat, Friedensrichter, oder von einer andern kompetenten Behörde auf eine solche Strafanzeige oder Klage und zugleich auf einen solchen Beweis oder nach einem solchen gerichtlichen Verfahren erlassen wird, dass nach der Ansicht des Beamten, welcher den Verhaftsbefehl erlässt, dessen Erlass gerechtfertigt wäre, wenn das Verbrechen in demjenigen Theile der Gebiete der Vertragsparteien begangen worden wäre, in welchem der Beamte Gerichtsbarkeit ausübt. Es wird indessen bedungen, dass in dem Vereinigten Königreiche in einem solchen Falle der Beklagte so schnell wie möglich vor einen Polizeimagistrat in London gesendet werden soll. Solche Requisitionen mögen vermittels der Post oder durch den Telegraphen gemacht werden.

Der Angeklagte soll indess des Verhaftes entlassen werden, wenn inner einer billigen Frist, die von dem Polizeimagistrat anzusezen ist und bei deren Fixirung die Verumständungen des einzelnen Falles zu berücksichtigen sind, das Begehren nicht in Gemässheit der in Artikel IX. enthaltenen Bestimmungen gestellt worden ist.

ARTIKEL XI.

Die Auslieferung erfolgt nicht vor Ablauf von fünfzehn Tagen seit der Ergreifung und nur dann, wenn die Beweise für genügend befunden worden sind, um nach den Gesetzen des ersuchten Staates entweder die Verweisung des Ergriffenen zur Hauptuntersuchung zu rechtfertigen, falls die strafbare Handlung im Gebiet dieses Staates begangen wäre, oder darzuthun, dass der Ergriffene mit der von den Gerichten des ersuchenden Staates verurtheilten Person identisch ist.

ARTIKEL XII.

ARTIKEL XIII.

Wenn die zur Auslieferung genügenden Beweise nicht binnen zwei Monaten von dem Tage der Ergreifung des Flüchtigen an beigebracht werden, so ist der Ergriffene auf freien Fuss zu sezen.

ARTICLE XIV.

All articles seized, which were in the possession of the person to be surrendered at the time of his apprehension, shall, if the competent authority of State applied to for the extradition has ordered the delivery thereof, be given up when the extradition takes place, and the said delivery shall extend not merely to the stolen articles, but to everything that may serve as a proof of the crime.

ARTICLE XV.

The Contracting Parties renounce any claim for the reimbursement of the expenses incurred by them in the arrest and maintenance of the person to be surrendered, and his conveyance to the frontiers of the State from which he is required; they reciprocally agree to bear such expenses themselves.

ARTICLE XVI.

The stipulations of the present Treaty shall be applicable to the Colonies and foreign Possessions of her Britannic Majesty.

The requisition for the arrest and surrender of a fugitive criminal who has taken refuge in any of such Colonies or foreign Possessions shall be made through the Swiss Consul-General in London to the Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, who shall proceed in conformity with the provisions of the present Treaty and the laws of the land.

Her Britannic Majesty shall, however, be at liberty to make special arrangements in the British Colonies and foreign Possessions for the surrender of such individuals as shall have committed in Switzerland any of the crimes hereinafore mentioned, who may take refuge within such Colonies and foreign Possessions, on the basis as nearly as may be of the provisions of the present Treaty.

The requisition for the surrender of a fugitive criminal from any Colony or foreign Possession of Her Britannic Majesty shall be governed by the rules laid down in the preceding Articles of the present Treaty.

ARTICLE XVII.

The present Treaty shall come into force ten days after its publication in conformity with the forms prescribed by the laws of the High Contracting Parties. It may be terminated by either of the High Contracting Parties, but shall remain in force for six months after notice has been given for its termination.

The Treaty shall be ratified, and the ratifications shall be exchanged at Berne in four weeks, or sooner if possible.

In witness whereof the respective Plenipotentiaries have signed the same, and have affixed thereto the seal of their arms.

Done at Berne, the thirty-first day of March, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four.

(L.S.) A. G. G. BONAR.
(L.S.) J. M. KNÜSEL.

ARTIKEL XIV.

Alle in Beschlag genommenen Gegenstände, welche sich zur Zeit der Verhaftung der auszuliefernden Person in deren Besitz waren, sollen, wenn die zuständige Behörde des um die Auslieferung ersuchten Staates die Ausantwortung derselben angeordnet hat, bei Vollziehung der Auslieferung mit übergeben werden, und diese Ueberlieferung soll sich nicht bloß auf die entfiemdeten Gegenstände, sondern auch auf Alles erstrecken, was zum Beweis, der strafbaren Handlung dienen kann.

ARTIKEL XV.

ARTIKEL XVI.

Die Bestimmungen des gegenwärtigen Vertrages sollen auf die Kolonien und auswärtigen Besitzungen Ihrer Grossbritannischen Majestät Anwendung finden.

Der Antrag auf Verhaftung und Auslieferung eines flüchtigen Verbrechers, welcher in einer dieser Kolonien oder auswärtigen Besitzungen Zuflucht gefunden hat, soll durch den Schweizerischen General-Konsul in London bei dem Staatssekretär der auswärtigen Angelegenheiten gestellt werden, welcher nach Vorschrift dieses Vertrages und der bestehenden Geseze zu verfahren hat.

Ihrer Grossbritannischen Majestät soll es jedoch freistehen, in den Britischen Kolonien und auswärtigen Besitzungen über die Auslieferung solcher Individuen die in der Schweiz ein im Vertrag genanntes Verbrechen begangen haben, aber innerhalb dieser Kolonien und auswärtigen Besitzungen Zuflucht gefunden haben, auf möglichst gleicher Grundlage mit den Bestimmungen des gegenwärtigen Vertrages besondere Anordnungen zu treffen.

ARTIKEL XVII.

Der gegenwärtige Vertrag soll zehn Tage nach seiner, in Gemässheit der durch die Gesetzgebung der hohen vertragenden Theile vorgeschriebenen Formen erfolgten Veröffentlichung in Kraft treten. Der Vertrag kann von jedem der beiden hohen vertragenden Theile aufgekündet werden, bleibt jedoch nach erfolgter Aufkündigung noch sechs Monate in Kraft.

Der Vertrag wird ratifizirt und die Ratifikationen werden nach vier Wochen, oder wo möglich früher, in Bern ausgewechselt werden.

Zu Urkund dessen haben die beiderseitigen Bevollmächtigten die gegenwärtige Uebereinkunft unterzeichnet und mit ihren Wappen unterseigt.

So geschehen in Bern den einunddreissigsten März, Ein tausend acht hundert vier und siebenzig.

(L.S.) J. M. KNÜSEL.

And whereas a Protocol amending Article XVI of the aforesaid Treaty was signed by the Plenipotentiaries of Her Majesty and of the Swiss Confederation, on the twenty-eighth day of November, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four, which Protocol is in the following terms:—

The Undersigned Plenipotentiaries of Her Majesty the Queen of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland and the Federal Council of the Swiss Confederation, having met in Conference, have taken into their consideration the following subject:—

They have directed their attention to the fact that the second paragraph of the XVIth Article of the Treaty, which stipulates that the requisition for the arrest of a fugitive criminal who has taken refuge in any of the Colonies or foreign possessions of Her Britannic Majesty, shall be made through the Swiss Consul-General in London to the Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, was not in accordance with the law of England, and they have consequently resolved to declare that the second paragraph of that Article beginning:

“The requisition for the arrest,” and concluding with, “and the laws of the land,” shall be null and void, and in lieu thereof the following words shall be substituted:

“The requisition for the surrender of a fugitive criminal who has taken refuge in any of such Colonies or foreign possessions shall be made to the Governor or to the Supreme Authority of such Colony or Possession through the Swiss Consul, or, in case there should be no Swiss Consul, through the Consular Agent of another State charged for the occasion with the Swiss interests in the Colony or Possession in question.

“The Governor or Supreme Authority above-mentioned shall decide with regard to such requisitions as nearly as possible in accordance with the provisions of the present Treaty. He will, however, be at liberty either to consent to the extradition, or report the case to his Government.”

The other provisions of Article XVI remain in force as they have been agreed upon in the Treaty.

This Protocol shall be regarded and acted upon as forming part of the Treaty in question.

In witness whereof the Undersigned have signed this Protocol, and have hereunto affixed their seals.

Done in duplicate at Berne, the twenty-eighth day of November, in the year of Grace, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four.

The Plenipotentiary of Great Britain:

(L.S.) EDWIN CORBETT.

Die unterzeichneten Bevollmächtigten Ihrer Majestät der Königin des Vereinigten Königreichs von Grossbritannien und Irland, und des Bundesrathes der Schweizerischen Eidgenossenschaft, haben in einer Conferenz folgenden Gegenstand in Erwägung gezogen:—

Sie haben ihre Aufmerksamkeit auf die That-sache gerichtet, dass der zweite Absatz von Artikel XVI des Vertrages, welcher Bestimmt, dass das Gesuch um Verhaftung eines flüchtigen Verbrechers, welcher sich nach einer der Colonien oder auswärtigen Besitzungen Ihrer Grossbritannischen Majestät gewendet hat, durch den Schweizerischen General-Konsul in London an den Staatssekretär für die auswärtigen Angelegenheiten gerichtet werden soll, mit den Gesetzen Englands nicht in Einklang steht. Sie sind daher übereingekommen zu erklären, dass der zweite Absatz besagten Artikels, also beginnend:

Die andern Punkte von Artikel XVI bleiben in der im Vertrag vereinbarten in Form Kraft.

Dieses Protokoll soll als integrierender Bestandteil des Vertrages angesehen und beobachtet werden.

OUDH CIVIL COURTS BILL.

The Hon'ble MR. COCKERELL moved for leave to introduce a Bill to amend the law relating to Civil Courts in Oudh. He said that the origin of the proposed legislation was the necessity which had arisen for levelling up the judicial establishments of the "Non-Regulation" to the standard of those maintained in the "Regulation" Provinces.

From the time of the introduction of uniform Codes of Procedure into all the Provinces of the Empire, this result must have been foreseen as sooner or later inevitable; for an elaborate Code of Procedure naturally not only promoted an increase of litigation, but also tended in a still more marked degree to enhance the time occupied in the disposal of every contested suit. The Secretary to the Government of the North-Western Provinces, in a letter addressed to the Government of India relating to this measure, wrote:—

"Although Sir George Couper has always been strongly in favour of the non-regulation system, he must admit that, owing to various causes, it is now out of date. It is enough to mention one fact; and that is the number of legal practitioners who practise in our Courts. Formerly, the parties appeared in person, and the Judge had little difficulty in ascertaining the facts of the case. Now, in a great number of suits the parties are represented by barristers or pleaders; it is not only much more difficult to get at the bottom of the case, but a great deal of time is taken up by the arguments of the lawyers; and it is no exaggeration to say that a case which would formerly have been disposed of in an hour, now often occupies the Court for two days."

Now he (MR. COCKERELL) did not wish it to be inferred from his citation of this passage that he in any way endorsed the suggestion that the action of lawyers in the conduct of cases tended to mystify or obscure the true facts and history thereof; on the contrary, he could say from his own experience that the aid afforded by the presence of lawyers on behalf of the parties in the trial of cases was extremely valuable; but at the same time it was an unquestionable fact that the interposition of these gentlemen did tend to protract the trial of suits in a great degree, and that such interposition had considerably increased of late years, and was one of the direct results of the introduction of a clear and elaborate law of procedure.

It was a somewhat remarkable fact also that in this little Oudh Province the proportion of contested to uncontested suits was far greater than in any other Province; it amounted to about 45 per cent. of the entire number of suits disposed of, whilst (to take, for the sake of comparison, a case in the extreme converse direction) in the Bombay Presidency the ratio of contested to uncontested suits was, according to the latest published statistics, barely one to five. The strain of increased judicial work upon the Oudh officers in their dual capacity of Judges and Revenue Administrators became so great, and the Revenue administration of the Province was found to have suffered from this cause to such a marked extent, that in 1876-77 a Committee of Oudh officers was appointed to look into the whole matter, and devise some means of relief. The measure now to be adopted, if the Bill which he was asking leave to introduce became law, was the outcome of that Committee's report. It was certainly a much more comprehensive measure than that which was adopted to meet a similar state of things in the Panjáb a few years ago, not only because it afforded more substantial relief to the overworked local executive, but because it was likely to be far more satisfactory to the public, inasmuch as it purported to create a judiciary absolutely distinct from, and wholly independent of, that executive, after the model of the system which was in force in the older Provinces.

The "Oudh Judicial Scheme," as it was called, which had received the sanction of the Secretary of State, provided for the entertainment of four District Judges, twelve Subordinate Judges and twenty-two Munsifs, all subject to the control of the existing Judicial Commissioner as a High Court for the trial of all civil suits and appeals. Oudh was at present divided into twelve districts and four Commissioners' divisions, which for revenue and executive purposes would remain unaltered. For the administration of civil justice these divisions would constitute "districts," with one Judge and an average of about four Subordinate Judges and six Munsifs for each "district." No practical inconvenience was to be anticipated from an arrangement of this kind; for there was nothing new in thus combining two or more revenue districts for civil Court purposes and placing them under a single Judge. There were in the North-Western Provinces, he believed, some six or seven, and in Bengal certainly not less than eight or nine, such combinations, which hitherto had been found to work satisfactorily.

The present Oudh Courts Act, both as regarded the nomenclature of the several Courts and the pecuniary limits of jurisdiction which it assigned to each class of Courts, was not adapted to the proposed change of system; hence fresh legislation had become necessary.

The Bill which, if the permission of the Council was accorded, he desired to introduce, was drawn mainly on the lines of the Bengal Civil Courts Act of 1871, with one or two important exceptions designed to meet the special circumstances of the Oudh Province.

He would, for the present, reserve any detailed account of those exceptions and the reasons for them, as falling properly within the explanation which he would have to submit to the Council when introducing the Bill.

The Motion was put and agreed to.

PANJÁB ADDITIONAL FINANCIAL COMMISSIONER'S BILL.

The Hon'ble MR. STOKES moved for leave to introduce a Bill to provide for the appointment in the Panjáb of an Additional Financial Commissioner.

He said that the Financial Commissioner of the Panjáb had applied to Government for the assistance of an officer, to be appointed for a limited period, to help him in clearing off the arrears of work which had accumulated in his office during the incumbency of his predecessor, the late much-regretted Mr. Gore Ouseley.

The Panjáb Land-Revenue Act, 1871, however, only provided for the appointment of one Financial Commissioner, and appeared to contemplate that all the duties which it assigned to the Financial Commissioner should be performed by that one officer in person. Further, it might be a question whether the functions of the Financial Commissioner under certain other enactments could be devolved upon any other officer. Hence the necessity for legislation.

The present Bill would authorize the Local Government, with the previous sanction of the Governor General in Council, to appoint an Additional Financial Commissioner to perform such portion of the work of the Financial Commissioner, under any enactment for the time being in force, as that officer might choose to assign to him.

The Motion was put and agreed to.

MR. STOKES then introduced the Bill. The Legislative Department had been so recently instructed to prepare it that there had been no time to print it and to circulate it in the usual way to Hon'ble Members. It had, however, been carefully settled in consultation with the Hon'ble Members (Sir A. Arbuthnot and Mr. Rivers Thompson) who were respectively in charge of the Home and Revenue Departments; and his hon'ble friend the Financial Member (frugi dicatur, as Horace would say) would be glad to hear that the Bill was only a temporary measure, and would expire on the 30th September, 1879. He (MR. STOKES) would now read the Bill to the Council:—

TO

Provide for the temporary appointment in the Panjáb of an Additional Financial Commissioner.

"Whereas it is expedient to provide temporarily for the appointment of an Additional Financial Commissioner to assist the Financial Commissioner of the Panjáb; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

Short title.

"1. This Act may be called 'The Panjáb Additional Financial Commissioner's Act, 1879': and it shall come into force at once.

Commencement.

"2. The Lieutenant-Governor of the Panjáb may, from time to time, with the previous sanction of the Governor General in Council, appoint such person as the said Lieutenant-Governor thinks fit to be an Additional Financial Commissioner.

Appointment of Additional Financial Commissioner.

Governor thinks fit to be an Additional Financial Commissioner.

"Every person so appointed shall hold his office during the pleasure of the Governor General in Council:

Provided that no such person shall be so appointed or continue in office after the thirtieth day of September, 1879.

"3. Every Additional Financial Commissioner, appointed under section two, shall hold his sittings at such place in the Panjáb as the said Lieutenant-Governor from time to time directs, and shall dispose of such revenue, judicial and other business, now or hereafter pending before the Financial Commissioner of the Panjáb, under any enactment for the time being in force, as the said Financial Commissioner may, from time to time, transfer to him for that purpose, and, in the disposal of such business, shall follow the same procedure and exercise the same powers as would be followed and exercised by the said Financial Commissioner in like cases.

Business transferred by Financial Commissioner to be disposed of by Additional Financial Commissioner.

"The said Financial Commissioner may at any time withdraw and himself dispose of any business transferred to the Additional Financial Commissioner under this section and not disposed of by him."

Power to withdraw cases so transferred.

The Hon'ble MR. STOKES applied to the President to suspend the Rules for the Conduct of Business. The matter was one of great urgency; the arrears in the office of the Financial Commissioner were exceedingly large, and the public interests required that not a day should be lost in clearing them off.

The PRESIDENT declared the Rules suspended.

The Hon'ble MR. STOKES then moved that the Bill be taken into consideration.

The Motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble MR. STOKES then moved that the Bill be passed.

The Motion was put and agreed to.

TRADE-MARKS BILL.

The Hon'ble MR. STOKES also moved for leave to introduce a Bill for the registration of Trade-marks. He said that this Bill had been prepared, at the request of the Government of Bombay, to meet the wishes of the Mill-owners Association and the Bombay Chamber of Commerce. Both these bodies had called the attention of the Local Government to the provisions of the English Trade-marks Registration Acts of 1875 and 1876 (which had been held by the High Court of Bombay not to apply to India), and stated that it seemed desirable, having regard to the increase of manufactures in this country, and especially of the cotton-manufactures of Bombay, that there should be a law of a similar nature in India.

The Bill was nothing more than a reproduction, with the changes required to fit them to the different circumstances of this country, of the provisions of the Statutes 38 & 39 Vic., chapter 91 (An Act to establish a register of Trade-marks), and 39 & 40 Vic., chapter 33 (An Act for the amendment of the Trade-marks Registration Act, 1875). It seemed desirable (more especially in the case of laws dealing with large commercial interests), when the object of one of our Acts was merely to extend the provisions of an Imperial Statute to this country, to follow closely the lines of such Statute, so as to make the law in this country as nearly as possible identical with that in England, and thus to give the Indian Courts the guidance of the decisions of the English tribunals on the corresponding provisions of the English enactment.

The Motion was put and agreed to.

MILITARY CANTONMENTS ACT AMENDMENT BILL.

The Hon'ble MR. STOKES also moved for leave to introduce a Bill to provide for the revision of proceedings in trials held under the Military Cantonments Act, 1864, section 20. He said that section 20 of the Cantonments Act (XXII of 1864) declared that breaches of the Cantonment rules should be triable by the Cantonment Magistrate where there was such an officer, and empowered the Local Government to invest any other person with power to try such breaches. The section then declared that the Magistrate of the District should have no control over the Cantonment Magistrate or any other person so invested. Now, in a case tried some months ago by an officer specially invested under section 20 with power to try breaches of Cantonment rules, the Judges of the Chief Court of the Panjab, to whom the officer's order was submitted for revision, expressed a doubt (which, if MR. STOKES might venture to say so, was perfectly well founded) as to whether the twenty-second chapter of the Code of Criminal Procedure gave them any power of revision in such a case. They, at the same time, expressed an opinion to the effect that such a power ought to be provided. The Governor General in Council concurred as to the need of such a power, and the present Bill had been drafted to provide it.

The Motion was put and agreed to.

BURMA COAST-LIGHTS BILL.

The Hon'ble MR. STOKES also presented the Report of the Select Committee on the Bill to amend the law relating to Coast-lights in the eastern part of the Bay of Bengal.

PLEADERS ACT AMENDMENT BILL.

The Hon'ble MR. STOKES also moved that the Hon'ble Mr. Colvin be added to the Select Committee on the Bill to amend the Pleadings, Mukhtars and Revenue Agents Act, 1865.

The Motion was put and agreed to.

RANGOON PORT COMMISSIONERS BILL.

The Hon'ble MR. THOMPSON moved that the Hon'ble Messrs. Cockerell and Colvin be added to the Select Committee on the Bill to appoint Commissioners for the Port of Rangoon.

The Motion was put and agreed to.

N. W. P. LAND-REVENUE ACT AMENDMENT BILL.

The Hon'ble MR. COLVIN presented the Report of the Select Committee on the Bill to amend the North-Western Provinces Land-Revenue Act, 1873.

ODDH LAND-REVENUE ACT AMENDMENT BILL.

The Hon'ble MR. COLVIN also presented the Report of the Select Committee on the Bill to amend the Oudh Land-Revenue Act, 1876.

The Council adjourned to Wednesday, the 21st May, 1879.

RULES FOR ENQUIRING INTO, AND REPORTING ON, SERIOUS ACCIDENTS ON STATE RAILWAYS

GENERAL.

THE following Rules are prescribed by the Governor General in Council for enquiring into, and reporting on, serious accidents on State Railways:

Serious accidents are accidents attended with loss of life or limb or other serious injury or danger of such loss or injury to persons travelling, or being upon the Railway; or accidents that have, or might have, caused large loss of public or private property.

2. In the case of any State Railway passing through Native States, the Government of India will, from time to time, direct what official shall, for the purposes of these Rules, be regarded as the Magistrate of the District in respect of the portions of the Railway situate in each such State.

3. Throughout these Rules, the words, "nearest District Superintendent of Police" shall be substituted for the words "Railway Police Superintendent" in respect of State Railways, whereon a Railway Police Superintendentship has not been established.

SECTION I.

Duties of Managers and Railway Officers.

4. On the occurrence of any serious Railway accident, it shall be the duty of the nearest Station Master to give immediate notice thereof in writing, or by telegraph, when possible—

- (a) to the nearest Magistrate;
- (b) to the Railway Police Superintendent;
- (c) to the Officer in charge of the Police Station in the jurisdiction of which the accident occurred.

5. It shall be the duty of the Manager to give notice of the accident—

- (a) in the case of accidents on Railways open for public traffic only, to the Consulting Engineer to Government for Guaranteed Railways, who has been authorized by Government to investigate and report on such accidents, and who, for the purposes of these Rules, is hereinafter called the Government Inspector;
- (b) to the Director of the Railway System, in as full detail as practicable;
- (c) to the Secretary to the Local Government in the Judicial Department within 12 hours after the occurrence, in order that the Local Government may, if necessary, watch over the investigation.

6. The Manager shall, in cases of serious personal injury, afford medical aid to the sufferers, and pay all their expenses while in hospital.

7. The Manager shall cause departmental enquiry to be held promptly for the thorough investigation of the causes of every serious accident, and shall require the Superintendent of Railway Police to be present at the enquiry if possible; in his unavoidable absence, an officer of Police should be present; also he shall communicate the result of the enquiries to the Magistrate mentioned in Rule 4, and if an open line, to the Government Inspector, with a statement of the persons, if any, whom the Railway authorities intend to prosecute, unless the matter should form the subject of a Magisterial enquiry under Rule 8.

8. It shall be the duty of the Manager to bring to justice all Railway subordinates guilty of crime, or of breaches of the Railway Act or Rules and Regulations calculated to cause serious accident, and to require the Superintendent of Railway Police to make a report of all cases in which there appears to be ground for suspecting Railway subordinates of such misconduct. Also he shall require the Superintendent of Railway Police to prosecute all persons whom it may be decided should be prosecuted.

9. The Manager shall facilitate the movements of the Medical Officers, the Police, the Magistrate, the Government Inspector and others concerned, in reaching promptly the scene of the accident. And he shall assist these authorities in conducting enquiries, and depute some responsible and intelligent officer to aid them in obtaining evidence and securing the attendance of the Railway subordinates.

10. In cases in which it is the duty of the Railway Officers to arrest any offender under Section 24 of Act XVIII. of 1854, or otherwise, the Manager shall see that he is at once arrested, or when such offender is himself a Railway Officer whose removal would cause danger or grave inconvenience, that precautions are taken to prevent his escape pending the arrival of a substitute.

11. He shall arrange for the attendance at the Court or place of enquiry of any officer or servant of the Railway upon the requisition of the Magistrate or other Civil officer.

12. He shall maintain at each Railway station a list of Magistrates or other officers (such list to be furnished by the Magistrate having jurisdiction over the place where the station is situate), to whom reports of accidents should be made; and he shall furnish Magistrates with a list of Railway Officers to whom any summons may be sent for service on subordinate Railway servants.

13. In the case of judicial enquiries, he shall report the result to the Director of State Railways, and forward copy of the decision of the Court.

14. He shall report monthly to the Director of State Railways all Railway accidents of a serious nature, whether happening on the open or unopen line, and report what steps have been, or are being taken, in order to prevent recurrence of similar accidents.

15. He shall issue such detailed instructions as will give effect to the foregoing Rules, and furnish the Director of State Railways with copy of all such detailed instructions as issued.

SECTION II.

Duties of the Railway and District Police.

16. An investigation may be made by the Railway Police in the case of any Railway accident.

17. Where there is no Railway Police, the duties imposed by these Rules on Railway Police must be discharged by the District Police, in addition to their duties as such.

18. In the case of serious accidents, the Railway Police Superintendent, if any, or the District Superintendent of Police, shall proceed without delay to the scene of the accident. If either officer be himself unable so to proceed, he shall depute a subordinate, who, in the case of the District Police, shall be an Assistant Superintendent of Police. The officer unable to proceed shall also at once inform his departmental superior and the Magistrate of the District.

19. Such accident shall forthwith be investigated by the Railway Police, or the District Police, as the case may be. If the investigation be made by the Railway Police, immediate information shall be given to the District Police, either direct or through the Magistrate of the District. The result of the Police investigation, prescribed by this Rule shall be reported to the Manager of the Railway, and to the Magistrate of the District.

20. When the investigation is made by the Railway Police, and officers of the District Police arrive on the scene of the accident, the latter shall afford all necessary assistance, and shall, if occasion arise, carry the investigation beyond the limits of the Railway premises. But the Railway Police Superintendent, if present, is primarily entrusted with the duty of investigation within such limits. Subject to any provisions elsewhere contained in these Rules, the further prosecution of the case on the conclusion of the preliminary local Police investigation shall rest with the Railway Police.

SECTION III.

Duties of Civil Officers.

21. It shall be in the discretion of the Magistrate of the District, on receiving information of the occurrence of a serious Railway accident within the meaning of Rule 1, either—

- (a) himself to proceed to the scene of such accident and make any enquiry;
- (b) to depute a subordinate Magistrate to make enquiry; or
- (c) to direct investigation to be made by the District Police.

22. In all serious cases, it will be the duty of the Superintendent of Railway Police, if any, to proceed without delay to the scene of the accident to conduct this enquiry. If unable to go, he will at once report the fact to the Magistrate.

23. The Magistrate or other officer shall summon any servant of the Railway, and all other persons whose presence he may think necessary, and, after taking the evidence and completing this enquiry, shall, if he consider there are sufficient grounds for judicial investigation, take the requisite steps to bring to trial any person he may consider criminally liable for the accident.

24. The Manager, or the Magistrate of the District, or the District Superintendent of Police, may require the Civil Surgeon of the District or any District Medical Officer to proceed to the scene of any Railway accident attended with personal injury, for the purpose of rendering medical aid, and of making before the investigating authorities any professional statements that may be required; and it shall be the duty of such Civil Surgeon or Medical Officer to proceed accordingly.

25. In cases where technical points are involved, the Magistrate or other officer should be careful to call for and take the opinion of professional persons.

26. The result of this preliminary local enquiry will be communicated by the Magistrate to the Manager of the Railway.

27. Should the Magistrate have delayed judicial action until receipt of the Railway Departmental report, he will then decide whether to discharge the persons accused, or to proceed with the case.

28. If the Manager of the Railway do not prosecute the persons considered liable by the Civil Officer, the Magistrate will arrange for their prosecution.

29. If, in the course of the judicial enquiry, the Magistrate wishes for the assistance of the Government Inspector, or Manager of the Railway, or for the attendance of any officer of the Railway, to explain or give evidence upon any matter relating to Railway supervision, management, or working, he will issue a requisition to such officers to attend the Court.

30. On the conclusion of the judicial enquiry, the Magistrate will, if necessary, report the result for the information of the Local Government, and he will send a copy of his decision to the Manager of the Railway.

31. Magistrates, through whose jurisdiction a State Railway passes, shall maintain a list of Railway officers (such list to be furnished by the Manager), to whom summons may be sent for service on subordinate Railway servants, and shall furnish the Manager with a list of Magistrates or other officers to whom reports of accidents should be made.

SECTION IV.

Government Inspector's duties.

32. On receiving notice of a serious accident, the Government Inspector shall proceed himself, or by deputy, to the scene of the accident, shall note the facts, watch the proceedings, and make such enquiries and investigations as he may think fit, calling upon the Manager or Officer in charge of the Line for any assistance needed, and shall form his own conclusions.

33. He shall send his report with any notes he may desire to record to the Government concerned, forwarding copy to the Manager of the Railway, or to the Magistrate having jurisdiction in British or in Native Territory as the case may be.

34. He shall assist the Magistrate so far as he can in person or by deputy in the judicial enquiry whenever called upon to do so.

35. In important cases, where a remedy or change of system appears necessary, he shall inform the Government of India what steps have been or are proposed to be taken by the Railway to prevent a recurrence of similar accidents, and whether in his opinion further action in the matter is desirable.

OBSERVATIONS.—Owing to want of uniformity in the system of working out the averages for the columns headed “Average number employed” in the Casualty Returns of the different Indian Railways for the year under review, it appears doubtful whether the figures in the General Return are in all instances quite correct.

2. The Returns of the Sind Section, for example, in Form No. I, show the average number of Europeans employed during the year under General Administration and Engineer’s Department as 3 and $3\frac{1}{2}$ respectively, without any casualties; while in the Numerical Return the numbers under the same heading are shown as 2 and 3 respectively.

3. The principle adopted on the East Indian Railway, of taking the number of persons employed on the 1st of each month and dividing by 12, seems to be both sufficiently correct and simple; and the Government of India desires that it may be followed on all Railways in future.

4. The late submission of the Returns of some of the Railways has delayed the compilation of the General Return, which should have been issued by the Government of India early in January last.

RESOLUTION.—All Local Governments and Officers concerned should be requested to give attention to the points above noticed, and to adopt such measures as will ensure the careful preparation and punctual submission of these Returns to the Government of India in future.

ORDERED, that this Resolution be forwarded to the Governments, Administrations and Officers noted in the margin for information and guidance, with the

No. 396E.—By desire of the Right Hon'ble the Secretary of State for India, the following notice issued by the Italian Government, respecting a prize to be awarded by them for the best essay on trees of the genus "Citrus," is published for general information:—

Notice issued by the Italian Ministry of Agriculture, Industry, and Commerce.

(Communicated to Lord Salisbury by the Italian Ambassador in London.)

(Translation)

The Ministry of Agriculture, Industry, and Commerce, considering the opinion expressed at the meeting of November 6, 1878, by the Commission appointed to decide upon the competitions instituted by Royal Decree of February 14, 1877, in regard to the essays "On the genus Citrus," presented to compete for the prize of 3,000 lire, and which were declared not deserving of the prize;

Considering that the reasons still exist for which it was thought very beneficial to encourage a complete study of the physical nature and biology of the Hesperidæ, and for which the competition was instituted;

Accepting the vote passed by the above-mentioned Commission,

Decrees:

Article 1.—A reward of 3,000 lire shall be assigned to the author of the most complete and best monographic essay on the structure, the vital functions, and the diseases of the acid fruits, or species and varieties of the genus Citrus and kindred genera; provided that the said work, by a sufficient collection of original observations and experiments, should succeed in furnishing an important addition to the present knowledge concerning such subjects, and thereby supply a scientific criterion for the improvement of the cultivation of these acid fruits and for the cure of their diseases.

Art. 2.—The date for sending in the works competing for the said prize is fixed for the end of May 1881.

Essays by Italians, or by foreigners written in Italian, are admissible to the competition; but if written in another language they must be accompanied by an Italian translation.

The essays sent in for competition are to be sent to the Ministry of Agriculture, Industry, and Commerce, with the superscription: "Competition for the Prizes for the best essay on the genus Citrus," and they must be distinguished by a motto to be given also, on a sealed cover containing the name and address of the author.

Art. 3.—The award upon the essays of the competitors will be issued by the Commission appointed in pursuance of the Royal Decree of February 14, 1877, No. 3684, within ten months from the close of the competition.

The cover that bears the motto of the essay to which the reward is to be granted will be opened; the covers corresponding with the unsuccessful essays will be burnt unopened.

The copyright of the essays sent in for competition is reserved to the respective authors; but the essay that obtains the reward may be printed, entire or in part, in the "Annals of Agriculture," published by the Ministry of Agriculture, Industry, and Commerce.

The present Decree will be registered at the Court of Accounts.

Given at Rome, December 9, 1878.

The Minister,

(Signed) E. PESSINA.

REPORTS ON THE STATE OF THE SEASON AND PROSPECTS OF THE CROPS FOR THE WEEK ENDING THE 13th MAY 1879.

GENERAL REMARKS.—In Madras general prospects continue fair; the want of rain is much felt in parts of Trichinopoly and Tinnevely. Matters are favourable in Mysore where good rain has fallen in various places. In the Bombay Presidency there has been slight rain in only the Southern Mahratta districts, Kaira, part of Hyderabad and Satara; preparations for the monsoon crops are going on everywhere; in one division of Hyderabad severe hailstorms have caused serious damage, and in part of Kaladgi the people are said to be wandering about in search of employment. The rabi harvest in the Central Provinces has now been quite completed and land is being ploughed and manured for the kharij sowings; prices are rising in some districts and remain high in others. Ploughing operations are progressing in Berar. In Central India prices are rising. The state of things in Rajputana is on the whole promising. Rain has fallen generally in Eastern and Northern Bengal and improved prospects; in Central Bengal there has been only slight and partial rain and more is much wanted; except in Midnapore no rain fell in Western Bengal nor in Behar, Orissa and Chota Nagpore; cultivation is retarded and where there has been no good rain the crops on the ground are suffering greatly; the outturn of the spring rice, now being reaped, is not expected to be favourable; prices are still rising in some districts; small-pox and cholera continue in many places. Heavy rain fell in Assam and the outlook is satisfactory. In British Burma general health is good; a few cases of small-pox and cholera have occurred and cattle disease exists in two districts. In the North-Western Provinces and Oudh the weather is hot and seasonable; cholera and cattle disease are prevalent in the northern districts. The rabi harvest is going on in the Punjab with fair results; cholera is reported from only four districts.

IRRIGATION BRANCH.

IRRIGATION OPERATIONS OF THE NORTH-WESTERN PROVINCES FOR THE KHARIF SEASON, 1878-79.

No 379A, dated Allahabad, the 19th March, 1879

RESOLUTION—By His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor, North-Western Provinces and Oudh.

Read—

Statements A. 11, B.11, C.11, showing the irrigation operations for the kharif, 1878.

OBSERVATIONS.—The season of kharif, 1878, was characterised by exceptionally heavy showers in April and May, by unusually scanty rain in June and July, and by a sufficient rainfall during August and September. In the majority of districts the rainfall was below the average, but it was well-timed for food crops.

2. The following statement shows roughly the comparative areas irrigated monthly in the two years 1877 and 1878 :—

April	170,990	206,174
May	171,634	145,393
June	96,568	116,000
July	66,293	85,116
August	120,817	75,457
September	105,281	31,826
TOTAL				731,583	680,026

The chief difference in the two seasons consists in the wider spread of irrigation in August and September of 1877; this extension was principally in cotton, the coarser grains and fodder crops, and was due to the nature of the season.

3. The following statement compares the areas under the several crops for the last three years :—

Crop.	Kharif, 1876, Acres.	Kharif, 1877, Acres.	Kharif, 1878, Acres.
Sugar	129,607	139,005	147,661
Rice	84,744	66,684	79,257
Bajra and jowar	4,830	81,137	12,079
Maize	27,424	61,577	65,818
Other food grains	2,533	12,272	19,326
Fodders	5,273	30,030	17,155
Fibres	41,150	105,309	74,532
Dyes	148,589	214,286	228,284
Miscellaneous	19,380	15,283	15,914
TOTAL ...	463,530	731,583	660,026

Compared with 1877, the increase and decrease in the several crops irrigated during kharif, 1878, was as follows :—

Sugar	+8,656
Rice	+12,573
Bajra and jowar	—69,058
Maize	+4,241
Other food grains	+7,054
Fodders	—18,875
Fibres	—30,777
Dyes	+13,998
Miscellaneous	+631 —71,557

The net decrease in the coarser food crops amounted to 57,763* acres, and was the natural result of the well-timed rainfall. The decrease in cotton is also attributable to the season, and is equally divided between the Ganges and Agra Canals; on the Eastern Jumna Canal there is a slight increase. The total area under this crop is still very much higher than in any year previous to 1877.

The increase in rice is due to a larger area having been sown than in the previous year, owing to the rains having been more favourable, but the area is below the average, as the early rains, though more plentiful than those of the previous year, were still scanty. The area under sugarcane is greater than it has ever before been: this area is, as explained in last year's review, independent of the rainfall and influenced chiefly by the market. The area of indigo is also a maximum, the figures for the last five years being as follows :—

Average of 3 years prior to 1877	157,000
Area, 1877	212,912
Do., 1878	227,220

4. The following statement compares the areas under sugarcane, rice and indigo, the crops which take the greatest amount of water, with the areas under other crops :—

Crop.	1876.	1877.	1878.
Sugar, rice, indigo	362,809	418,601	454,138
Other crops	100,711	312,982	205,888
TOTAL ...	463,520	731,583	660,026

* Bajra and jowar —69,058
Maize and other grains —11,295 +57,763

5. The following compares the areas by canals :—

CANAL.				1877.	1878.	More.	Less.
Ganges	541,313	483,356	...	57,957
Eastern Jumna	103,632	110,722	7,090	...
Agra	57,652	40,484	...	17,168
Dún	4,979	3,597	...	1,382
Rohilkhand	23,072	21,679	...	1,393
Bijnor	647	647
Bundelkhand	288	188	...	100

The Eastern Jumna is the only canal on which a decrease has not taken place, the area irrigated this year having been 7,090 acres more than that of 1877, and the highest on record after that of 1869, when the area was 119,164 acres. The following figures illustrate the regularity of the irrigation on this old-established canal :—

CROP.				1868.	1869.	1877.	1878.
Sugar...	31,733	27,311	34,701	32,747
Indigo	1,181	1,782	2,660	2,262
Rice	35,532	46,269	23,614	29,495
Cotton	8,651	15,315	13,373	15,229
Fodder	4,164	7,181	8,138	3,877
Coarser grains	15,772	18,121	16,387	23,650
Miscellaneous	4,792	3,205	4,759	3,462
TOTAL				101,825	119,164	103,632	110,722

The coarser grains consist principally of maize.

The decrease on the other canals requires no explanation. The entire cessation of irrigation on the Bijnor canals is attributed by the Collector to the early rains in April and May.

6. The following statement compares the assessments on account of water-rate for 1869, 1876, and the two following years :—

CANAL.				1869.	1876.	1877.	1878.
				Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.
Ganges	8,77,885	9,33,303	13,37,729	13,18,842
Eastern Jumna	3,11,592	3,29,960	3,58,278	3,84,001
Agra	39,133	1,41,262	1,23,138
Rohilkhand	19,964	34,354	20,848	19,053
Dún	12,962	14,184	12,385	11,097
Bijnor	1,185	4,859	1,036	...
Bundelkhand	644	783	1,499	309
TOTAL				12,24,232	13,56,576	18,73,037	18,56,440

Thus, owing to the larger area of the more valuable crops, the decrease in revenue is only Rs. 16,597 against a decrease in area of 71,557 acres.

ORDERED, that copies of this Resolution be submitted to the Government of India for information; that it be circulated as usual to other Governments and Departments, and that it be published in the Government Gazette.

By order, &c.,

ACT No. IX OF 1879.

An Act to amend the law relating to Coast-lights in the eastern part of the Bay of Bengal.

Whereas it is expedient to increase the Coast-light dues paid under the provisions of Act No. XIII of 1867 (An Act to provide for the establishment and maintenance of Coast-lights in the eastern part of the Bay of Bengal), and to render chargeable with Coast-light dues certain vessels which are not now so chargeable; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

Preliminary.

1. This Act may be called "The Burma Coast-lights Act, 1879":

It shall come into force on the first day of July, 1879; and it shall extend to the territories respectively administered by the Governors of Fort St. George and Bombay in Council, the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal and the Chief Commissioners of British Burma and the Andaman and Nicobar Islands.

But nothing herein contained shall apply to any vessel belonging to or in the service of Her Majesty or the Government of India, or to any vessel of war belonging to any Foreign Prince or State.

2. Act No. XIII of 1867 (to provide for the establishment and maintenance of Coast-lights in the eastern part of the Bay of Bengal) is hereby repealed:

But any appointment made under the said Act shall be deemed to have been made under this Act.

3. In this Act, unless there is something repugnant in the subject or context,—

"Customs-Collector" means a Customs-Collector or appointed under the Sea Customs Act, 1878, and includes any person appointed by the Local Government by name or in virtue of his office to discharge the functions of a Customs-Collector under this Act at any port:

"Vessel" includes anything made for the conveyance by water of human beings or of property:

"Master," when used in relation to any vessel, means any person (except a Pilot or Harbour Master) having for the time being the charge or control of such vessel:

"Voyage" means the whole distance between a vessel's place of departure and her final place of arrival; but the return of a vessel from any place shall, notwithstanding the terms of any charter-party, be deemed a distinct voyage.

Coast-light dues.
 4. For the purpose of establishing and maintaining coast-lights in the eastern part of the Bay of Bengal, a toll, hereinafter called "coast-light dues," shall be paid in respect of every vessel of the burden of fifty tons and upwards making any voyage mentioned in the schedule hereto annexed, at the rate of one anna and six pice per ton of burden :

Provided that such vessel sails from or enters during the course of, or at the termination of, any such voyage a port in British India, or takes in, or discharges, cargo off the coast of British India.

5. The said coast-light dues shall become due and payable—Dues when payable.

(a) in the case of a vessel clearing out of a port in British India upon any such voyage—previous to the grant of any port-clearance ;

(b) in the case of a vessel entering a port in British India in the course, or at the termination, of any such voyage—immediately upon her entering such port :

Provided that the said dues shall not be levied more than once on any vessel in the course of the same voyage.

6. The Governor General in Council may from time to time, by notification in the Gazette of India, reduce or raise the rate of coast-light dues in respect of all vessels or any particular class of vessels :

Provided that such rate shall not in any case exceed the rate fixed by section four.

7 The Customs-Collector shall collect the coast-light dues, and shall grant to the person paying the same a voucher in writing under his hand, setting forth the name of his office, the port at which the coast-light dues are paid, the amount so paid, the name, tonnage and other proper description of the vessel in respect of which such payment is made, and the voyage on which she is or has been bound.

8. Within twenty-four hours after the arrival within a port of any vessel chargeable with coast-light dues, the master of such vessel shall give notice of such arrival to the Customs-Collector.

9. In order to ascertain the tonnage of any vessel chargeable with coast-light dues, the following rules shall be observed :—

(a) If such vessel be a British registered vessel or a vessel registered under Act No. X of 1841 or Act No. XI of 1850, or under any other law for the time being in force for the registration of vessels in India, the Customs-Collector may require the owner or master of such vessel, or any other person having possession of her register, to produce such register for inspection. If any such owner, master or other person neglects or refuses to produce such register, or otherwise to satisfy the Customs-Collector as to what is the true tonnage of the vessel in respect of which such coast-light dues are payable, he shall be punished with fine which may extend to one hundred rupees, and the Customs-Collector may cause such vessel to be measured and the tonnage thereof to be ascertained, and in such case the owner or master of such vessel shall also be liable to pay the expenses of such measurement.

(b) If such vessel be not a British registered vessel or a vessel registered under Act No. X of 1841 or Act No. XI of 1850, or under any other law for the time being in force for the registration of vessels in India, and the owner or master thereof fails to satisfy the Customs-Collector as to what is her true tonnage according to the mode of measurement prescribed by the law in force for the time being for regulating the measurement of British registered vessels, the Customs-Collector shall cause such vessel to be measured and the tonnage thereof, according to the mode aforesaid, to be ascertained ; and in such case the owner or master of such vessel shall be liable to pay the expenses of such measurement.

10. If the master of any vessel refuses or neglects to pay to the Customs-Collector on demand by him the amount of any dues or expenses payable in respect of such vessel under this Act, the Customs-Collector may distrain or arrest such vessel, and the tackle, apparel and furniture belonging thereto, or any part thereof, and detain the same until the amount of such dues or expenses is paid ; and in case any part of such dues or expenses, or of the costs of the distress or arrest, or of the keeping of the same, remains unpaid for the space of five days next after any such distress or arrest so made, the Customs-Collector may cause the vessel or other thing so distrained or arrested to be sold, and with the proceeds of such sale may satisfy such dues, expenses and costs (including the costs of sale) remaining unpaid, and shall render the surplus (if any) to the master of such vessel upon demand.

11. The officer of Government whose duty it is to grant a port-clearance for any vessel shall not grant such port-clearance until her master or some other person has paid, or secured to the satisfaction of such officer, the amount of all dues, expenses and costs with which such vessel is chargeable under this Act, and of any fine to which any person is liable for anything done by him in contravention of this Act.

12. The master of any vessel departing from or entering any port in British India upon, or in the course of, or at the termination of, any voyage, shall, upon the demand of the Customs-Collector, specify upon what voyage she is or has been bound.

13. If the master of any vessel evades, or attempts to evade, the payment of any coast-light dues, expenses or costs payable in respect of such vessel under this Act, he shall be punished with fine which may extend to two hundred rupees.

Determination of Disputes under Act.

14. If any dispute arises as to whether any vessel is chargeable with any coast-light dues, expenses or costs under this Act, or as to the amount of such dues, expenses or costs, such dispute shall, upon application made in that behalf by either of the disputing parties, be heard and determined in the towns of Calcutta, Madras and Bombay by a Presidency Magistrate, and elsewhere by any Magistrate exercising at the place where the dispute arises powers under the Code of Criminal Procedure not less than those of a Magistrate of the second class. All decisions under this section shall be final.

Prosecutions under other Laws.

15. Nothing herein contained shall prevent any person from being prosecuted under any other law for any act or omission which constitutes an offence against this Act: provided that no person shall be punished twice for the same act or omission.

Statement of Receipts and Expenditure.

16. The Governor General in Council shall, on or before the first day of October in each year, publish in the Gazette of India a statement showing the amount received on account of coast-light dues during the year ending on the thirty-first day of March last preceding, and the amount expended during the same period on the establishment and maintenance of coast-lights in the eastern part of the Bay of Bengal.

And whereas it is also expedient to amend the Indian Ports Act, 1875, in manner herein-after appearing; It is hereby further enacted as follows:—

17. For section 77 of the same Act the following shall be substituted:—

“77. The port-due leviable under this Act in either of the ports of Maulmain and Bassein shall, to the extent of one anna and six pie per ton, be applicable in the first place to defray the expenses of maintaining the existing port-lights of British Burma.”

Bills introduced into the Council of the Governor General for making Laws and Regulations, or published under Rule 22.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

[First publication.]

The following Bill was introduced into the Council of the Governor General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 21st May, 1879, and was referred to a Select Committee:—

No. 5 of 1879.

A Bill to provide for the registration of Trade-marks.

WHEREAS it is expedient to provide for the registration of trade-marks; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

1. This Act may be called
"The Indian Trade-marks Act, 1879":

It extends to the whole of British India;

and it shall come into force at once.

2. In this Act, unless there be something repugnant in the subject or context,—

"trade-mark" means a mark consisting of one or more of the following essential particulars (namely):

(a) a name of an individual or firm printed, impressed or woven in some particular and distinctive manner, or

(b) a written signature or copy of a written signature of an individual or firm, or

(c) a distinctive device, mark, heading, label or ticket:

provided that there may be added to any one or more of the said particulars any letters, words or numerals, or combination of letters, words or numerals:

it includes also any special and distinctive word or words, or combination of numerals or letters, used as a trade-mark before the passing of this Act:

"Registered" and
"registration." "registered" and "registration" respectively mean registered and registration under this Act and the rules made hereunder and for the time being in force:

"The Court." "the Court" means the High Court of Judicature at Fort William.

3. An officer (hereinafter called "the Registrar") shall be appointed from time to time, by name or in virtue of his office, by the Governor General in Council to register trademarks and the proprietors thereof.

4. From and after the first day of January, 1880, no person shall be entitled to institute any suit or other proceeding to prevent, or to recover damages for, the infringement of any trademark, unless such trade-mark is registered; but nothing in this section shall apply to any device, mark, name, combination of words, or other matter or thing which has been in use as a trade-mark before the passing of this Act, and which the Registrar has refused to register under this Act.

5. A trade-mark must be registered as belonging to particular goods or classes of goods; and, when registered, shall be assigned and transmitted only in connexion with the good-will of the business concerned in such particular goods or classes of goods, and shall be determinable with such good-will.

Registration of a trade-mark shall be deemed to be equivalent to public use of such mark.

6. The registration of a person as first proprietor of a trade-mark shall be prima facie proof, and, after the expiration of five years from the date of such registration, conclusive proof, of his right to the exclusive use of such trade-mark, subject to the provisions of this Act as to its connexion with the good-will of a business.

7. Every person registered as proprietor of a trade-mark subsequently to the first person so registered shall, as respects his title to such trade-mark, stand in the same position as if his title were a continuation of the title of the first person so registered.

8. If any person who is not for the time being entitled, in accordance with this Act or otherwise in accordance with law, to the exclusive use of a trade-mark is registered as a proprietor of such trade-mark, or if the Registrar refuses to register, as proprietor of a trade-mark, the name of any person who is for the time being entitled in accordance with this Act or otherwise in accordance with law to the exclusive use of such trade-mark, or if any mark is registered as a trade-mark which is not authorized to be so registered, any person aggrieved by such registration or refusal may apply by motion, or in such other manner as the Court may direct, for an order of the Court that the register may be rectified.

The Court may either refuse such application, or it may, if satisfied of the justice of the case, make an order for the rectification of the register and award damages to the party aggrieved.

9. When each of several persons claims to be registered as proprietor of the same trade-mark, the Registrar may refuse to comply with the claims of any of such persons until their rights have been determined by the Court.

The Registrar may himself submit, or require the claimants to submit, their rights to the Court, by stating a case under section 527 of the Code of Civil Procedure, or in such other manner as the Court may direct.

10. The Court may, in any proceeding under section eight or section nine, decide—

(a) whether a mark is or is not such a trade-mark as is authorized to be registered under this Act;

(b) any question as to the right of any person who is party to such proceeding to have his name entered on the register of trade-marks, or to have the name of some other person removed from such register; and

(c) any other question that it may be necessary or expedient to decide for the rectification of the register.

Whenever any order has been made rectifying the register, the Court shall by its order direct that due notice of such rectification be given to the Registrar.

11. The Registrar shall not, without the special leave of the Court, to be given on motion or in such other manner as the Court may direct, register in respect of the same goods or classes of goods—

(a) a trade-mark identical with one which is already registered with respect to such goods or classes of goods; or

(b) a trade-mark so nearly resembling a trade-mark already registered with respect to such goods or classes of goods as to be calculated to deceive.

12. The Registrar shall not register, as part of, or in combination with, a trade-mark, any scandalous designs, or any words, if the exclusive use of such words would not, by reason of their being calculated to deceive or otherwise, be deemed entitled to protection in a Court.

13. The Governor General in Council may from time to time make rules consistent with this Act as to—

(a) the manner in which applications for registration of trade-marks shall be made;

(b) the notices to be given by advertisement before the registration of trade-marks;

(c) the classification of goods for the purposes of this Act;

(d) the registration of first and subsequent proprietors of trade-marks;

(e) the fees to be charged for registration of trade-marks, for the continuance of a trade-mark on the register and for granting certificates of refusal to register anything as a trade-mark;

(f) the removal from the register of any trade-mark;

(g) the form of notices under this Act, the mode of addressing and serving such notices, and the proof of such service;

(h) the persons entitled to inspect the register; and

(i) generally for the purpose of carrying this Act into effect.

Such rules shall be published in the Gazette of India, and shall thereupon have the force of law.

14. The certificate of the Registrar as to any entry, matter or thing which he is authorized by this Act, or any rules made hereunder, to make or do, shall be evidence of such entry having been made and of the contents thereof, and of such matters and things having been done or left undone.

15. When an application by any person to register as a trade-mark a device, mark, name, word, combination of words, or other matter or thing which has been in use as a trade-mark before the passing of this Act, has been refused, the Registrar shall, at the request of the applicant and on payment by him of the fee prescribed by the rules made under section thirteen, grant him a certificate of such refusal.

A certificate so granted shall be conclusive proof of such refusal.

16. The provisions of this Act conferring a special jurisdiction on the said High Court shall not, except so far as such jurisdiction extends, affect the jurisdiction of any other Court in suits or proceedings relating to trade-marks.

If the register requires to be rectified in consequence of any proceedings in any such other Court, due notice of such requirement shall be given to the Registrar, and he shall rectify the register accordingly.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

THIS Bill has been prepared, at the request of the Government of Bombay, to meet the wishes of the Mill-owners Association and the Bombay Chamber of Commerce. Both these bodies call the attention of the Local Government to the provisions of the English Trade-marks Registration Acts of 1875 and 1876 (which have been held by the High Court of Bombay not to apply to India), and state that it seems desirable, having regard to the increase of manufactures in this country, and especially of the cotton-manufactures of Bombay, that there should be a law of a similar nature in India.

2. The Bill is nothing more than a reproduction, with the changes required to fit them to the different circumstances of this country, of the provisions of the Statutes 38 & 39 Vic., chapter 91 (An Act to establish a register of Trade-marks), and 39 & 40 Vic., chapter 33 (An Act for the amendment of the Trade-marks Registration Act, 1875). It seems desirable (more especially in the case of laws dealing with large commercial interests), when the object of one of our Acts is merely to extend the provisions of an Imperial Statute to this country, to follow closely the lines of such Statute, so as to make the law in this country as nearly as possible identical with that in England.

3. The Bill provides for the appointment of a Registrar and the registration of trade-marks, and enacts that, after a certain fixed date, no suit shall be brought for the infringement of a trade-mark, unless such trade-mark is registered in accordance with the provisions of the Bill; it further defines the essential particulars of which a trade-mark must hereafter consist, but it saves from the operation of these provisions, the trade-marks which are at present in use and entitled to protection as such. The other provisions of the Bill are subsidiary to those, and the only one of them calling for notice here is that by which the High Court at Fort William is appointed the Court for the purposes of the Act. As it is understood that the registry-office will be situated at Calcutta (where alone proprietorship in copyright and specifications of inventions are registered), that Court is obviously the most convenient one to appoint.

PRELIMINARY.

Short title "The Oudh Civil Courts Act, 1879":
Local extent. It extends to all the territories for the time being administered by the Chief Commissioner of Oudh; and it shall come into force on the first day of July, 1879.
Commencement.

2. On and from that day the Acts mentioned in the schedule hereto annexed shall be repealed to the extent specified in the third column thereof.

3. In this Act, "district" means the area comprised in the local limits of the jurisdiction of the District Judge.

CONSTITUTION OF COURTS.

4. Besides the Courts established by other enactments, there shall be four grades of Civil Courts (namely):—

- (1) the Court of the Munsif;
- (2) the Court of the Subordinate Judge;
- (3) the Court of the District Judge;
- (4) the Court of the Judicial Commissioner.

5. The number of District Judges, Subordinate Judges and Munsifs to be appointed under this Act shall be fixed, and may from time to time be altered, by the Local Government.

6. The Governor General in Council may appoint such person as he thinks fit to be Judicial Commissioner.

The District Judges, Subordinate Judges and Munsifs shall be appointed by the Local Government.

7. When the business pending before any District Judge requires the aid of Additional Judges for its speedy disposal, the Local Government may, upon the recommendation of the Judicial Commissioner, and with the previous sanction of the Governor General in Council, appoint such Additional Judges as may be requisite.

Such Additional Judges shall perform any of the duties of a Judge under chapter III of this Act that the District Judge may, with the sanction of the Judicial Commissioner, assign to them; and in the performance of such duties they shall exercise the same powers as the District Judge.

8. In the event of the death of a District Judge, or of his being incapacitated by illness or otherwise for the performance of his duties, or of his absence from the station in which his Court is held, the Additional Judge, or, if there is no Additional Judge attached to such Court, the senior Subordinate Judge of the District, shall, without relinquishing his ordinary duties, assume charge of the Judge's office; and shall discharge such of the current duties thereof as are connected with the filing of suits and appeals, the issue of processes and the like functions;

and shall continue in charge of the office until it is resumed by the District Judge, or assumed by an officer duly appointed thereto.

9. In the event of the death of a Subordinate Judge, or of his being incapacitated by illness or otherwise for the performance of his duties, or of his absence on leave, when a person is appointed to act for him, the District Judge may transfer all or any of the proceedings pending in the Court of such Subordinate Judge either to his own Court, or to the Court of a Subordinate Judge (if any) under his control.

All proceedings transferred under this section shall be disposed of as if they had been instituted in the Court to which they are so transferred.

10. The Court of the District Judge shall be deemed to be the principal Civil Court of original jurisdiction in the district over which his jurisdiction extends.

The control over all the Civil Courts in such district is invested in the said District Judge, but subject to the general control of the Judicial Commissioner.

11. The Judicial Commissioner and the District Judges, and, subject to the approval of the District Judges to whose control they are respectively subject, the Subordinate Judges and Munsifs, shall appoint the ministerial officers of their Courts.

12. The Judicial Commissioner or any District Judge may transfer any ministerial officer from any Court under his control to any other Court under his control.

13. Every Court under this Act shall use a seal of such form and dimensions as are for the time being prescribed by the Local Government.

14. The Local Government may fix and from time to time alter the place or places at which any Court under this Act is to be held.

15. The Local Government may, from time to time, by notification in the official Gazette, invest such persons as it thinks fit with the powers of a Munsif, subject to such restrictions in respect of the value of the subject-matter of the suit as may be deemed proper, and withdraw such jurisdiction.

CHAPTER III.

GENERAL JURISDICTION.

16. The Local Government shall, by notification in the official Gazette, fix, and may by a like notification from time to time vary, the local limits of the jurisdiction of any Civil Court or person invested with the powers of a Civil Court under this Act.

17. Subject to the provisions of the Code of Civil Procedure, section 15,— the jurisdiction of a District Judge extends to all original suits cognizable by the Civil Courts.

Subject as aforesaid, the jurisdiction of a Subordinate Judge extends to all suits in which the amount or value of the subject-matter in dispute does not exceed ten thousand rupees, and the jurisdiction of a Munsif to all suits in which such amount or value does not exceed one thousand rupees.

18. Appeals from the decrees and orders of Munsifs and Subordinate Judges in original suits and proceedings shall, when such appeals are allowed by law, lie to the District Judge:

Provided that the Judicial Commissioner may, from time to time, subject to such restrictions as he may deem fit, order that all or any of the appeals from the decrees and orders of a Munsif shall be preferred to such Subordinate Judge as may be mentioned in the order; and such appeals shall thereupon be preferred accordingly.

19. Every District Judge may, from time to time, subject to the orders of the Judicial Commissioner, refer to any Subordinate Judge under his control any appeals pending before him from the decrees and orders of Munsifs; and such Subordinate Judge shall hear and dispose of such appeals accordingly.

The District Judge may withdraw any appeals so referred, and hear and dispose of appeals so withdrawn.

20. Appeals from the decrees and orders of District Judges and Additional Judges in original suits and proceedings shall, when such appeals are allowed by law, lie to the Judicial Commissioner.

21. When the decision of a Subordinate Judge, District Judge or Additional Judge passed in appeal confirms the decree or order of the Court of first instance, such decision shall be final; but when such decision reverses or modifies such decree or order and is not declared by any law for the time being in force to be final, the Judicial Commissioner may receive a second appeal if, on a perusal of the grounds of appeal and of copies of the judgments of the lower Courts, he is of opinion that a further consideration of the case is requisite for the ends of justice.

22. No presiding officer of any Court having jurisdiction under this Act shall try any suit or appeal in which he is a party or personally interested, or any appeal against a decree or order passed by himself, or shall adjudicate upon any proceeding connected with or arising out of such suit or appeal.

When any such suit, appeal or proceeding comes before any such presiding officer, he shall forthwith transmit the record of the case to the Court to which he is immediately subordinate, with a report of the circumstances attending the reference.

The superior Court shall thereupon dispose of the case in the manner prescribed by section 25 of Act X of 1877.

In the event of an appeal being preferred to a Judicial Commissioner from a judgment or order passed by him in any other capacity, or in which he has any personal interest, he shall report the fact to the Local Government, which may transfer the case to the High Court of the North-Western Provinces for disposal, or appoint an officer to be an Additional Judicial Commissioner for the disposal of the case.

24. The Judicial Commissioner may from time

(2). Applications for permission to sue or appeal as a pauper.

(3). Applications for certificates under Act XXVII of 1860 (for facilitating the collection of debts on successions, and for the recovery of parties paying debts to the representatives of deceased persons).

25. Subject to the provisions of the last clause

Disposal of proceedings so transferred

Provided that an appeal from the order of the Subordinate Judge or Munsif in such cases shall lie to the District Judge.

An appeal from his order thereon shall lie to the Judicial Commissioner, if an appeal from the decision of the District Judge in such proceedings is allowed by the law in force for the time being.

SCHEDULE.

ACTS REPEALED.

(See section 3.)

Number and year.	Title of Act.	Extent of repeal.
Act X of 1870 ...	The Land Acquisition Act, 1870 ...	So much of section 3 as declares the Commissioner of a Division to be a principal Civil Court of original jurisdiction in Oudh.
Act XXXII of 1871 ...	The Oudh Civil Courts Act, 1871	The whole, except section 40.
Act XVIII of 1870 ...	The Oudh Laws Act, 1870 ...	Sections 21, 23 and 43.
Act XIV of 1878 ...	An Act to assimilate certain powers of the Local Governments of the North-Western Provinces and Oudh.	Section 3.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

THE object of this Bill is to bring the law in Oudh with regard to the constitution and jurisdiction of the Civil Courts into harmony with the new state of things which will result from the separation of the judicial and executive branches of the Administration in that Province. The law at present regulating the Civil Courts in Oudh is Act XXXII of 1871 (the Oudh Civil Courts Act, 1871). It was found that, in order to fit that Act to the altered circumstances of Oudh, it would have to be practically reconstructed; and it was therefore determined to adopt the simpler and more convenient course of repealing it altogether, and of embodying such of its provisions as it might be desirable to retain in a new Act.

2. This Bill is in the main an extension to Oudh of the law regulating the Civil Courts in Bengal and the North-Western Provinces, namely, Act VI of 1871 (the Bengal Civil Courts Act, 1871), with certain modifications, which the circumstances of Oudh seem to require.

3. The chief points of variance between the Bill and the Bengal Civil Courts Act are—

1st.—The limitation of the original jurisdiction of Sub-Judges to suits in which the value of the subject-matter in dispute does not exceed 10,000 rupees.

2ndly.—The declaration of the finality of decisions or orders passed in appeal where the appellate order is in concurrence with that of the Court of first instance.

3rdly.—The allowance of a second appeal on the facts as well as on a point of law where the effect of the order or decision of the Appellate Court is to reverse or substantially modify the order or decision of the Court of first instance.

4thly.—The alteration of the course of first appeal where the value of the subject-matter of the suit exceeds 5,000 rupees, but does not exceed 10,000 rupees.

4. The reason for the first of these changes is the expediency of suits of great value and importance, and in regard to which an appeal lies as a matter of right to the Privy Council, being tried by the principal Court of original civil jurisdiction.

The second and third points of divergence from the provisions of the Bengal Courts Act comprise simply the maintenance of the principle of the existing law in Oudh in regard to appeals, which has not only worked well hitherto, but has been thought worthy of adoption to some extent for other Provinces.

The fourth change is the natural accompaniment of the first, as its effect is to bring all suits either in the original or appellate stage, where they reach the appellate stage, before the District Court.

5. Sections 23 to 25 of Act XXXII of 1871, giving the Judicial Commissioner power to refer cases to the High Court of the North-Western Provinces, and section 27 of that Act, conferring power to appoint an Additional Judicial Commissioner, have been omitted from the Bill; the former because it does not appear to be used; the latter because it is no longer necessary.

6. Section 21 of the Oudh Laws Act (XVIII of 1876), relating to the management of land attached by the Civil Courts, and section 28 of the same Act, which gives the Judicial Commissioner a power of revising the decisions of the Subordinate Courts, are repealed, because it is considered that these matters are sufficiently provided for by the Code of Civil Procedure.

[First publication]

The following Bill was introduced into the Council of the Governor General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 21st May, 1879, and was referred to a Select Committee:—

No. 7 of 1879.

A Bill to provide for the remission of proceedings in trials held under the Military Cantonments Act, 1864, section 20.

WHEREAS it is expedient to provide for the revision of the proceedings in trials held under the twentieth section of Act No. XXII of 1864 (to make provision for the Administration of Military Cantonments); It is hereby enacted as follows:—

1. For the last clause of the said section, the following shall be substituted
New clause substituted in Act XXII of 1864, sec 20 (that is to say).—

“There shall be no appeal in any case tried under this section; but every person trying any such case shall, for the purposes of chapter XXII of the Code of Criminal Procedure, be deemed to be subordinate to the High Court, the Court of Session and the Magistrate of the District.”

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

IN a case tried some months ago by an officer specially invested, under section 20 of Act XXII of 1864, with power to try breaches of Cantonment rules, the Judges of the Chief Court of the Panjáb, to whom the officer's order was submitted for revision, expressed a doubt as to whether the twenty-second chapter of the Code of Criminal Procedure gave them any power of revision in such a case. They, at the same time, expressed an opinion to the effect that such a power ought to be provided. The Governor General in Council concurs as to the need of such a power, and the present Bill has been drafted to provide it.

REPORTS ON THE STATE OF THE SEASON AND PROSPECTS OF THE CROPS FOR THE WEEK ENDING THE 20th MAY 1879.

GENERAL REMARKS.—In Madras general prospects are satisfactory. Slight rain has fallen in several districts of Mysore, and there have been heavy showers in Chitaldroog and Coorg; ploughing is going on in places. In the Bombay Presidency preparations for the monsoon crops are proceeding everywhere; the weather is very hot in Guzerat, close and cloudy in Bombay and stormy and showery in the Deccan and Southern Mahratta Country; cholera is prevalent in the Sind districts, Ahmedabad and Kaira. Slight rain has fallen in only three districts of the Central Provinces; the fields are however being prepared and manured for kharif sowings in all districts; prices are rising. Preparations for the kharif are progressing in Berar. In Central India prices of food are high. In Rajputana matters are on the whole promising. In Central and Eastern Bengal prospects generally have been improved by rain, but where the fall has been slight more is much wanted; drought continues in Western Bengal, Behar, Orissa and Chota Nagpur, and in most places the crops on the ground are withering and agricultural operations at a stand-still; Cholera and small-pox are still prevalent in many places. The state of things in Assam is favourable. In British Burma general health is good; small-pox and cholera continue in places, and cattle disease prevails in two districts. In the North-Western Provinces and Oudh slight rain fell in Meerut and Fyzabad only; cholera is abating except in Meerut and Kumaun, and cattle disease is disappearing. The weather in the Punjab is seasonable and prospects are generally favourable; cholera is reported from five districts, but it appears to be declining.

SIMLA, FRIDAY, MAY 30TH, 1879.

FOREIGN DEPARTMENT.

NOTIFICATION.

POLITICAL.

No. 1497 E.-P.

Simla, the 30th May 1879.

HIS HIGHNESS MUHAMMAD YAKUB KHAN, Amir of Afghanistan, and its Dependencies, having proceeded in person to Candamak to confer with the British Authorities for the cessation of hostilities in Afghanistan, and having there signed a Treaty of Peace with the British Government, the Treaty, as ratified this day by His Excellency the Viceroy and Governor-General, is hereby published for general information, together with the telegrams subjoined :—

Treaty between the British Government and His Highness MUHAMMAD YAKUB KHAN, Amir of Afghanistan, and its Dependencies, concluded at Gandamak on the 26th May 1879, by His Highness the AMIR MUHAMMAD YAKUB KHAN on his own part, and on the part of the British Government by MAJOR P. L. N. CAVAGNARI, C.S.I., Political Officer on Special Duty, in virtue of full powers vested in him by the Right Honourable EDWARD ROBERT LYTON, BULWER LYTON, BARON LYTON OF KNEBWORTH, and a Baronet, Grand Master of the Most Exalted Order of the Star of India, Knight Grand Cross of the Most Honourable Order of the Bath, Grand Master of the Order of the Indian Empire, Viceroy and Governor-General of India.

The following Articles of a Treaty for the restoration of peace and amicable relations have been agreed upon between the British Government and His Highness Muhammad Yakub Khan, Amir of Afghanistan, and its Dependencies :—

ARTICLE 1.

From the day of the exchange of the ratifications of the present Treaty there shall be perpetual peace and friendship between the British Government on the one part, and His Highness the Amir of Afghanistan, and its Dependencies, and his successors, on the other.

ARTICLE 2.

His Highness the Amir of Afghanistan, and its Dependencies, engages, on the exchange of the ratifications of this Treaty, to publish a full and complete amnesty, absolving all his subjects from any responsibility for intercourse with the British Forces during the war, and to guarantee and protect all persons of whatever degree from any punishment or molestation on that account.

ARTICLE 3.

His Highness the Amir of Afghanistan, and its Dependencies, agrees to conduct his relations with Foreign States in accordance with the advice and wishes of the British Government. His Highness the Amir will enter into no engagements with Foreign States, and will not take up arms against any Foreign State, except with the concurrence of the British Government. On these conditions, the British Government will support the Amir against any foreign aggression with money, arms, or troops, to be employed in whatsoever manner the British Government may judge best for this purpose. Should British troops at any time enter Afghanistan for the purpose of repelling foreign aggression, they will return to their stations in British territory as soon as the object for which they entered has been accomplished.

ARTICLE 4.

With a view to the maintenance of the direct and intimate relations now established between the British Government and His Highness the Amir of Afghanistan, and for the better protection of the frontiers of His Highness' dominions, it is agreed that a British Representative shall reside at Kabul, with a suitable escort, in a place of residence appropriate to his rank and dignity. It is also agreed that the British Government shall have the right to depute British Agents with suitable escorts to the Afghan frontiers, whensoever this may be considered necessary by the British Government in the interests of both States on the occurrence of any important external fact. His Highness the Amir of Afghanistan may on his part depute an Agent to reside at the Court of His Excellency the Viceroy and Governor-General of India, and at such other places in British India as may be similarly agreed upon.

ARTICLE 5.

His Highness the Amir of Afghanistan, and its Dependencies, guarantees the personal safety and honourable treatment of British Agents within his jurisdiction; and the British Government on its part undertakes that its Agents shall never in any way interfere with the internal administration of His Highness' dominions.

ARTICLE 6.

His Highness the Amir of Afghanistan, and its Dependencies, undertakes, on behalf of himself and his successors, to offer no impediment to British subjects peacefully trading within his dominions, so long as they do so with the permission of the British Government, and in accordance with such arrangements as may be mutually agreed upon from time to time between the two Governments.

ARTICLE 7.

In order that the passage of trade between the territories of the British Government and of His Highness the Amir of Afghanistan may be open and uninterrupted, His Highness the Amir of Afghanistan agrees to use his best endeavors to ensure the protection of traders and to facilitate the transit of goods along the well-known customary roads of Afghanistan. These roads shall be improved and maintained in such manner as the two Governments may decide to be most expedient for the general convenience of traffic, and under such financial arrangements as may be mutually determined upon between them. The arrangements made for the maintenance and security of the aforesaid roads, for the settlement of the duties to be levied upon merchandize carried over these roads, and for the general protection and development of trade with, and through, the dominions of His Highness, will be stated in a separate Commercial Treaty, to be concluded within one year, due regard being given to the state of the country.

ARTICLE 8.

With a view to facilitate communications between the allied Governments, and to aid and develop intercourse and commercial relations between the two countries, it is hereby agreed that a line of telegraph from Kurram to Kabul shall be constructed by, and at the cost of, the British Government: and the Amir of Afghanistan hereby undertakes to provide for the proper protection of this telegraph line.

ARTICLE 9.

In consideration of the renewal of a friendly alliance between the two States, which has been attested and secured by the foregoing Articles, the British Government restores to His Highness the Amir of Afghanistan, and its Dependencies, the towns of Kandahar and Jellalabad, with all the territory now in possession of the British armies, excepting the districts of Kurram, Pishin, and Sibi. His Highness the Amir of Afghanistan, and its Dependencies, agrees on his part that the districts of Kurram and Pishin and Sibi, according to the limits defined in the schedule annexed, shall remain under the protection and administrative control of the British Government: that is to say, the aforesaid districts shall be treated as assigned districts, and shall not be considered as permanently severed from the limits of the Afghan kingdom. The revenues of these districts, after deducting the charges of civil administration, shall be paid to His Highness the Amir.

The British Government will retain in its own hands the control of the Khyber and Michni Passes, which lie between the Peshawar and Jellalabad Districts, and of all relations with the independent tribes of the territory directly connected with these Passes.

ARTICLE 10.

For the further support of His Highness the Amir, in the recovery and maintenance of his legitimate authority, and in consideration of the efficient fulfilment in their entirety of the engagements stipulated by the foregoing Articles, the British Government agrees to pay to His Highness the Amir, and to his successors, an annual subsidy of six lakhs of Rupees.

NOTIFICATIONS.—POLITICAL.

Simla, the 30th May 1879.

No. 1497 E.-P.—His HIGHNESS MUHAMMAD YAKUB KHAN, Amir of Afghanistan and its Dependencies, having proceeded in person to Gandamak to confer with the British Authorities for the cessation of hostilities in Afghanistan, and having there signed a Treaty of Peace with the British Government, the Treaty, as ratified this day by His Excellency the Viceroy and Governor-General, is hereby published for general information, together with the telegrams subjoined:—

Treaty between the British Government and His Highness MUHAMMAD YAKUB KHAN, Amir of Afghanistan and its Dependencies, concluded at Gandamak on the 26th May 1879 by His Highness and AMIR MUHAMMAD YAKUB KHAN on his own part, and on the part of the British Government by MAJOR P. L. N. CAVAGNARI, C.S.I., Political Officer on Special Duty, in virtue of full powers vested in him by the Right Honorable EDWARD ROBERT LYTTON, BULWER LYTTON, BARON LYTTON OF KNEBWORTH, and a Baronet, Grand Master of the Most Exalted Order of the Star of India, Knight Grand Cross of the Most Honorable Order of the Bath, Grand Master of the Order of the Indian Empire, Viceroy and Governor-General of India.

The following Articles of a Treaty for the restoration of peace and amicable relations have been agreed upon between the British Government and His Highness Muhammad Yakub Khan, Amir of Afghanistan and its Dependencies:—

ARTICLE 1.

From the day of the exchange of the ratifications of the present Treaty there shall be perpetual peace and friendship between the British Government on the one part, and His Highness the Amir of Afghanistan and its Dependencies, and his successors, on the other.

ARTICLE 2.

His Highness the Amir of Afghanistan, and its Dependencies, engages, on the exchange of the ratifications of this Treaty, to publish a full and complete amnesty, absolving all his subjects from any responsibility for intercourse with the British Forces during the war, and to guarantee and protect all persons of whatever degree from any punishment or molestation on that account.

ARTICLE 3.

His Highness the Amir of Afghanistan, and its Dependencies, agrees to conduct his relations with Foreign States in accordance with the advice and wishes of the British Government. His Highness the Amir will enter into no engagements with Foreign States, and will not take up arms against any Foreign State, except with the concurrence of the British Government. On these conditions, the British Government will support the Amir against any foreign aggression with money, arms, or troops, to be employed in whatsoever manner the British Government may judge best for this purpose. Should British troops at any time enter Afghanistan for the purpose of repelling foreign aggression, they will return to their stations in British territory as soon as the object for which they entered has been accomplished.

ARTICLE 4.

With a view to the maintenance of the direct and intimate relations now established between the British Government and His Highness the Amir of Afghanistan, and for the better protection of the frontiers of His Highness' dominions, it is agreed that a British Representative shall reside at Kabul, with a suitable escort, in a place of residence appropriate to his rank and dignity. It is also agreed that the British Government shall have the right to depute British Agents with suitable escorts to the Afghan frontiers, whensoever this may be considered necessary by the British Government in the interests of both States on the occurrence of any important external fact. His Highness the Amir of Afghanistan may on his part depute an Agent to reside at the Court of His Excellency the Viceroy and Governor-General of India, and at such other places in British India as may be similarly agreed upon.

ARTICLE 5.

His Highness the Amir of Afghanistan, and its Dependencies, guarantees the personal safety and honorable treatment of British Agents within his jurisdiction; and the British Government on its part undertakes that its Agents shall never in any way interfere with the internal administration of His Highness' dominions.

ARTICLE 6.

His Highness the Amir of Afghanistan, and its Dependencies, undertakes, on behalf of himself and his successors, to offer no impediment to British subjects peacefully trading within his dominions, so long as they do so with the permission of the British Government, and in accordance with such arrangements as may be mutually agreed upon from time to time between the two Governments.

ARTICLE 7.

In order that the passage of trade between the territories of the British Government and of His Highness the Amir of Afghanistan may be open and uninterrupted, His Highness the Amir of Afghanistan agrees to use his best endeavors to ensure the protection of traders and to facilitate the transit of goods along the well-known customary roads of Afghanistan. These roads shall be improved and maintained in such manner as the two Governments may decide to be most expedient for the general convenience of traffic, and under such financial arrangements as may be mutually determined upon between them. The arrangements made for the maintenance and security of the aforesaid roads, for the settlement of the duties to be levied upon merchandize carried over these roads, and for the general protection and development of trade with, and through, the dominions of His Highness, will be stated in a separate Commercial Treaty, to be concluded within one year, due regard being given to the state of the country.

ARTICLE 8.

With a view to facilitate communications between the allied Governments, and to aid and develop intercourse and commercial relations between the two countries, it is hereby agreed that a line of telegraph from Kurram to Kabul shall be constructed by, and at the cost of, the British Government: and the Amir of Afghanistan hereby undertakes to provide for the proper protection of this telegraph line.

ARTICLE 9.

In consideration of the renewal of a friendly alliance between the two States, which has been attested and secured by the foregoing Articles, the British Government restores to His Highness the Amir of Afghanistan, and its Dependencies, the towns of Kandahar and Jellalabad, with all the territory now in possession of the British armies, excepting the districts of Kurram, Pishin, and Sibi. His Highness the Amir of Afghanistan, and its Dependencies, agrees on his part that the districts of Kurram and Pishin and Sibi, according to the limits defined in the schedule annexed,* shall remain under the protection and administrative control of the British Government: that is to say, the aforesaid districts shall be treated as assigned districts, and shall not be considered as permanently severed from the limits of the Afghan kingdom. The revenues of these districts, after deducting the charges of civil administration, shall be paid to His Highness the Amir.

The British Government will retain in its own hands the control of the Khyber and Michni Passes, which lie between the Peshawar and Jellalabad Districts, and of all relations with the independent tribes of the territory directly connected with these Passes.

ARTICLE 10.

For the further support of His Highness the Amir, in the recovery and maintenance of his legitimate authority, and in consideration of the efficient fulfilment in their entirety of the engagements stipulated by the foregoing Articles, the British Government agrees to pay to His Highness the Amir, and to his successors, an annual subsidy of six lakhs of Rupees.

Local extent. It extends to the whole of British India;

Commencement. and it shall come into force at once.

2. In this Act, unless there be something repugnant in the subject or context,—

"trade-mark" means a mark consisting of one or more of the following essential particulars (namely):

(a) a name of an individual or firm printed, impressed or woven in some particular and distinctive manner, or

(b) a written signature or copy of a written signature of an individual or firm, or

(c) a distinctive device, mark, heading, label or ticket:

provided that there may be added to any one or more of the said particulars any letters, words or numerals, or combination of letters, words or numerals:

it includes also any special and distinctive word or words, or combination of numerals or letters, used as a trade-mark before the passing of this Act:

"Registered" and "registration."

"registered" and "registration" respectively mean registered and registration under this Act and the rules made hereunder and for the time being in force:

"The Court."

"the Court" means the High Court of Judicature at Fort William.

3. An officer (hereinafter called "the Registrar") shall be appointed from time to time, by name or in virtue of his office, by the Governor General in Council to register trade-marks and the proprietors thereof.

4. From and after the first day of January, 1880, no person shall be entitled to institute any suit or other proceeding to prevent, or to recover damages for, the infringement of any trade-mark, unless such trade-mark is registered; but nothing in this section shall apply to any device, mark, name, combination of words, or other matter or thing which has been in use as a trade-mark, before the passing of this Act, and which the Registrar has refused to register under this Act.

5. A trade-mark must be registered as belonging to particular goods or classes of goods; and, when registered, shall be assigned and transmitted only in connexion with the good-will of the business concerned in such particular goods or classes of goods, and shall be determinable with such good-will.

Registration of a trade-mark shall be deemed to be equivalent to public use of such mark.

6. The registration of a person as first proprietor of a trade-mark shall be prima facie proof, and, after the expiration of five years from the date of such registration, conclusive proof, of his right to the exclusive use of such trade-mark, subject to the provisions of this Act as to its connexion with the good-will of a business.

7. Every person registered as proprietor of a trade-mark subsequently to the first person so registered shall, as respects his title to such trade-mark, stand in the same position as if his title were a continuation of the title of the first person so registered.

8. If any person who is not for the time being entitled, in accordance with this Act or otherwise in accordance with law, to the exclusive use of a trade-mark is registered as a proprietor of such trade-mark, or if the Registrar refuses to register, as proprietor of a trade-mark, the name of any person who is for the time being entitled in accordance with this Act or otherwise in accordance with law to the exclusive use of such trade-mark, or if any mark is registered as a trade-mark which is not authorized to be so registered, any person aggrieved by such registration or refusal may apply by motion, or in such other manner as the Court may direct, for an order of the Court that the register may be rectified.

The Court may either refuse such application, or it may, if satisfied of the justice of the case, make an order for the rectification of the register and award damages to the party aggrieved.

9. When each of several persons claims to be the proprietor of the same trade-mark, the Registrar may refuse to comply with the claims of any of such persons until their rights have been determined by the Court.

The Registrar may himself submit, or require the claimant to submit, their right to the Court, by stating a case under section 527 of the Code of Civil Procedure, or in such other manner as the Court may direct.

10. The Court may, in any proceeding under section eight or section nine, decide—

(a) whether a mark is or is not such a trade-mark as is authorized to be registered under this Act;

(b) any question as to the right of any person who is party to such proceeding to have his name entered on the register of trade-marks, or to have the name of some other person removed from such register; and

(c) any other question that it may be necessary or expedient to decide for the rectification of the register.

Whenever any order has been made rectifying the register, the Court shall by its order direct that due notice of such rectification be given to the Registrar.

11. The Registrar shall not, without the special leave of the Court, to be given on motion or in such other manner as the Court may direct, register in respect of the same goods or classes of goods—

(a) a trade-mark identical with one which is already registered with respect to such goods or classes of goods; or

(b) a trade-mark so nearly resembling a trade-mark already registered with respect to such goods or classes of goods as to be calculated to deceive.

12. The Registrar shall not register, as part of, or in combination with, a trade-mark, any scandalous designs, or any words, if the exclusive use of such words would not, by reason of their being calculated to deceive or otherwise, be deemed entitled to protection in a Court.

13. The Governor General in Council may from time to time make rules consistent with this Act as to—

(a) the manner in which applications for registration of trade-marks shall be made;

(b) the notices to be given by advertisement before the registration of trade-marks;

(c) the classification of goods for the purposes of this Act;

(d) the registration of first and subsequent proprietors of trade-marks;

(e) the fees to be charged for registration of trade-marks, for the continuance of a trade-mark on the register and for granting certificates of refusal to register anything as a trade-mark;

(f) the removal from the register of any trade-mark;

(g) the form of notices under this Act, the mode of addressing and serving such notices, and the proof of such service;

(h) the persons entitled to inspect the register; and

(i) generally for the purpose of carrying this Act into effect.

Such rules shall be published in the Gazette of India, and shall thereupon have the force of law.

14. The certificate of the Registrar as to any entry, matter or thing which he is authorized by this Act, or any rules made hereunder, to make or do, shall be evidence of such entry having been made and of the contents thereof, and of such matters and things having been done or left undone.

15. When an application by any person to register as a trade-mark a device, mark, name, word, combination of words, or other matter or thing which has been in use as a trade-mark before the passing of this Act, has been refused, the Registrar shall, at the request of the applicant and on payment by him of the fee prescribed by the rules made under section thirteen, grant him a certificate of such refusal.

A certificate so granted shall be conclusive proof of such refusal.

16. The provisions of this Act conferring a special jurisdiction on the said High Court shall not, except so far as such jurisdiction extends, affect the jurisdiction of any other Court in suits or proceedings relating to trade-marks.

If the register requires to be rectified in consequence of any proceedings registered on notice from any such other Court, due notice of such requirement shall be given to the Registrar, and he shall rectify the register accordingly.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

THIS Bill has been prepared, at the request of the Government of Bombay, to meet the wishes of the Mill-owners Association and the Bombay Chamber of Commerce. Both these bodies call the attention of the Local Government to the provisions of the English Trade-marks Registration Acts of 1875 and 1876 (which have been held by the High Court of Bombay not to apply to India), and state that it seems desirable, having regard to the increase of manufactures in this country, and especially of the cotton-manufactures of Bombay, that there should be a law of a similar nature in India.

2. The Bill is nothing more than a reproduction, with the changes required to fit them to the different circumstances of this country, of the provisions of the Statutes 38 & 39 Vic., chapter 91 (An Act to establish a register of Trade-marks), and 39 & 40 Vic., chapter 33 (An Act for the amendment of the Trade-marks Registration Act, 1875). It seems desirable (more especially in the case of laws dealing with large commercial interests), when the object of one of our Acts is merely to extend the provisions of an Imperial Statute to this country, to follow closely the lines of such Statute, so as to make the law in this country as nearly as possible identical with that in England.

3. The Bill provides for the appointment of a Registrar and the registration of trade-marks, and enacts that, after a certain fixed time no suit shall be brought for the infringement of a trade-mark, unless such trade-mark is registered in accordance with the provisions of the Bill. It further defines the essential particulars of which a trade-mark must hereafter consist, but it saves from the operation of these provisions the trade-marks which are at present in use and entitled to protection as such. The other provision of the Bill is subsidiary to these, and the only one of them calling for notice here is that by which the High Court at Fort William is appointed the Court for the purposes of the Act. As it is understood that the registry-office will be situated at Calcutta (where alone proprietorship in copyright and specifications of inventions are registered), that Court is obviously the most convenient one to appoint.

SCHEDULE.

ACTS REPEALED.

(See section 3.)

Number and year.	Title of Act.	Extent of repeal.
Act X of 1870 ...	The Land Acquisition Act, 1870 ..	So much of section 3 as declares the Commissioner or a Division to be a principal Civil Court of original jurisdiction in Oudh.
Act XXXII of 1871 ...	The Oudh Civil Courts Act, 1871	The whole, except section 40.
Act XVIII of 1876 ..	The Oudh Laws Act, 1876 ...	Sections 21, 28 and 15.
Act XIV of 1878 ...	An Act to assimilate certain powers of the Local Governments of the North-Western Provinces and Oudh.	Section 3.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

The object of this Bill is to bring the law in Oudh with regard to the constitution and jurisdiction of the Civil Courts into harmony with the new state of things which will result from the separation of the judicial and executive branches of the Administration in that Province. The law at present existing in the Civil Courts in Oudh is Act XXII of 1871 (the Oudh Civil Courts Act, 1871). It was found that in order to bring that Act to the altered circumstances of Oudh it would have to be practically reconstructed, and it was therefore determined to adopt the simpler and more convenient course of repealing it altogether and enacting such of its provisions as it might be desirable to retain in a new Act.

2. The Bill is in the main an extension to Oudh of the law regulating the Civil Courts in Bengal and the North Western Provinces, namely Act VI of 1871 (the Bengal Civil Courts Act, 1871), with certain modifications, which the circumstances of Oudh seem to require.

3. The chief points of variance between the Bill and the Bengal Civil Courts Act are—

1st—The limitation of the original jurisdiction of the Subordinate Courts in civil suits to suits of a value not exceeding 10,000 rupees.

2ndly—In determining the liability of a defendant to be committed to prison for non-payment of a debt, the Court will be empowered to take into consideration the means of the defendant.

3rdly—The Bill gives the appellate jurisdiction to the High Court in civil suits, whereas in the Bengal Act the appellate jurisdiction is given to the Appellate Court, to review the judgment of the Court of first instance.

4thly—The alteration of the scale of fees payable where a party has the subject-matter of the suit exceeding 10,000 rupees, and not exceeding 10,000 rupees.

4. The Bill also contains provisions for the purpose of bringing the law in Oudh into harmony with the law in Bengal and the North Western Provinces, and for the purpose of bringing the law in Oudh into harmony with the law in the other Provinces of India.

The second object of the Bill is to bring the law in Oudh into harmony with the law in Bengal and the North Western Provinces, and for the purpose of bringing the law in Oudh into harmony with the law in the other Provinces of India.

The fourth object of the Bill is to bring the law in Oudh into harmony with the law in Bengal and the North Western Provinces, and for the purpose of bringing the law in Oudh into harmony with the law in the other Provinces of India.

5. Section 21 of the Oudh Laws Act (XVIII of 1876), relating to the management of land attached by the Civil Courts, and section 24 of the same Act, which gives the Judicial Commissioner a power of revising the decisions of the Subordinate Courts, are repealed, because it is considered that these matters are sufficiently provided for by the Code of Civil Procedure.

6. Section 21 of the Oudh Laws Act (XVIII of 1876), relating to the management of land attached by the Civil Courts, and section 24 of the same Act, which gives the Judicial Commissioner a power of revising the decisions of the Subordinate Courts, are repealed, because it is considered that these matters are sufficiently provided for by the Code of Civil Procedure.

[Second publication]

The following Bill was introduced into the Council of the Governor General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 21st May, 1879, and was referred to a Select Committee—

No. 7 of 1879.

A Bill to provide for the revision of proceedings in trials held under the Military Cantonments Act, 1861, section 20.

WHEREAS it is expedient to provide for the revision of the proceedings in trials held under the twelfth section of Act No. XXII of 1861 (to provide for the trial of offences under the Military Cantonments Act), the Bill is enacted as follows—

1. For the first clause of the said section, the following shall be substituted (that is to say)—

"There shall be no appeal in any case tried under this section, but every person trying any such case shall, for the purposes of chapter XXII of the Code of Criminal Procedure, be deemed to be subordinate to the High Court, the Court of Session and the Magistrate of the District."

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

It is in the last few months ago by an officer only invested under section 20 of Act XXII of 1861, with power to try offences of Cantonment and the Judges of the Chief Court of the District to whom the officer's order was submitted for revision expressed doubt as to whether the twelfth section of the Code of Criminal Procedure gave the officer any power of revision in such cases. They at the same time, expressed an opinion to the effect that such a power ought to be provided. The Governor General in Council acceded to the need of such a power, and the present Bill has been drafted to provide it.

N. W. P. LAND-REVENUE ACT AMENDMENT BILL.

The Hon'ble Mr. COLVIN moved that the Report of the Select Committee on the Bill to amend the North-Western Provinces Land-Revenue Act, 1873, be taken into consideration.

He said that the Bill had been a good deal enlarged since it had first been introduced in Council. At that time it contained only three amendments of the present Act. The principal of these was intended to deprive persons whose estates might be under the management of the Court of Wards of power to charge or alienate those estates. Of the other two amendments, one was little more than an improvement in drafting, which required no notice. The last was more important. It was an addition to section 29 of the Act which was being amended, and it declared that charges incurred in the preparation of village-maps should be deemed to be charges within the meaning of that section. The effect of this was to make the village-map a part of the patwáris' records. It had been doubted whether village-maps could, under the wording of the Act as it stands, be properly treated as part of the patwáris' records. Whatever the proper interpretation of the Act might be, in practice they had for a great many years past been so treated. In 1854, and again in 1856, the Local Government expressly declared that to make a map was part of a patwári's ordinary duty; and, as a matter of fact, a great part of the existing village-maps in the temporarily-settled districts of the North-Western Provinces were, according to those orders, prepared by patwáris, or by substitutes for whom they paid. Again, in the latest rules prescribing the duties to be performed by a patwári which have been issued by the local Board of Revenue, it was declared that a patwári shall make any survey which may be required; and the Collector was authorized, if necessary, to appoint an establishment to assist him, which establishment might be paid out of the surplus of the patwári fund. The truth was that these village-maps were indispensable if the patwáris' records were to be of any use at all, and if the provisions of the Act in respect of these were not to remain a dead-letter. Those records, apart from the map, merely gave a list of the names of the different persons who held shares in the village and of the fields which they possessed, showing the dimensions and area of each. Every one of those fields bore a distinguishing number in the list, which it also bore in the village-map; and, by turning to the map, any field that was wanted could be found at once. Without it, these distinguishing numbers were meaningless, and the patwári's record scarcely of more service than an index to an atlas would be without its corresponding maps. It gave a list of fields, but furnished no clue by which they could be found. In short, he did not see how there could be any such thing as a "proper supervision, maintenance and correction of patwáris' records," which the Act enjoined, unless the village-map were recognized to be a part of them. Under these circumstances, it was highly expedient to remove any doubts which might exist upon the subject; and, by the Bill as now framed, village-maps were declared to form a part of the village-records.

The next point in the Bill which required notice was the provision in the same section that the patwáris' rate—the rate, that was to say, by which the village-accountants were paid—should be credited to a provincial fund. A good deal of discussion had taken place, at the time when the present Act was passed, between those who wished that this rate should be thrown into a general fund and those who maintained that a separate account ought to be kept for each village. It was argued by those who held the latter view that the patwari was a village-servant, and ought to be paid by the village-owners. On the other side, it was contended that the village-accountant had gradually been transformed into a servant of the State as regards many of his duties, and that he was no longer a mere private servant; and that the Government in making this change had incurred responsibilities towards the patwáris, of which one of the first was to see that the men were adequately and regularly paid. What he had just said gave the substance of the two conflicting opinions. It was unnecessary to take up the time of the Council with the arguments of either side in detail, because, whatever the merits of the controversy, it had been found in practice that effect could not be given everywhere to the plan of making each patwari dependent for his pay upon his own circle only. There were some parts of the country so poor that the full legal rate of three per cent. upon the annual value of an estate did not provide the patwáris with better wages than those of a day-labourer. Unfortunately, it also happened that the duties of a patwari in these poor circles were commonly heavier than they were on a rich estate, where the rate provided a good income. In order to obtain men fit for the post, it was necessary in such places to raise the salary above the amount yielded by the legal rate; and, as the individual villages could not out of their small rental supply the money necessary for this purpose, it was obvious that a fund which was composed of the surplus of richer circles could more properly contribute it than the proceeds of any general taxation.

Another alteration with respect to the patwáris' rate was contained in section 5 of the Bill. It had been found that in some districts the old rate according to which the patwáris had hitherto been paid was in excess of that allowed by the present Act. It would be very inconvenient—indeed, sometimes impossible—to reduce the rate so paid to three per cent. on the annual value of the estate, which was the highest contribution that could be levied under the Act, because, if this were done, the patwari in many cases would be very inadequately provided for, and arrangements which had been in force for years past would be disturbed. Accordingly, it was proposed that, in those districts where the facts were as he had described, the rate hitherto levied should for the future be deemed to be the legal rate. The districts referred to by him were those of Lalitpur, Dehra and Budaun.

He proceeded now to notice the changes which were proposed in section 66 of the present Act.

The first of these was the addition to its second clause of a sentence which declared that no list such as is spoken of in it shall be altered or added to during the currency of a settlement. This was only a change of form, not of substance. The Committee were satisfied that this was the intention of section 66 as it now stands. It declared that a list of certain cesses shall, if generally or specially sanctioned by the Local Government, be made by the Settlement-officer, and that no such cess which is not included in that list shall be enforced in any Court. It further empowered the Local Government from time to time to impose certain conditions on the collection of these cesses; but it was plain from the wording that it was not contemplated that the list itself should be altered during the currency of a settlement. It appeared, however, that this had not always been so understood. The Committee accordingly recommended the addition of a sentence to clause 2, section 66, which would place the intention of the Act beyond the possibility of doubt.

The second addition to section 66 empowered the Governor General in Council to declare in cases of doubt what shall be deemed to be a cess within the meaning of the section. This power would provide for the removal of any doubts, if they should arise, about the cesses which do or do not fall within the meaning of the section. The Committee, as he had observed before, did not think that any such power could properly be exercised during the currency of a settlement, and had limited it to the time during which a settlement was in progress.

The next section of the Bill which appeared to call for notice was the one which amended section 74 of the Act, and empowered the Settlement-officer in certain tracts to refuse commutation from rents in kind to rents in money. When the Act of 1873 was passed, it was believed that, by enabling the tenants to convert all rents which were payable in produce into rents payable in cash, a benefit would be conferred upon them. The effect of giving them that power had, however, in some parts of the country proved the reverse of a boon. It was, indeed, a doubtful advantage for tenants to pay in money instead of in grain, in places where the crops were precarious. Where they paid a fixed portion of the produce, the demand from them varied according to the out-turn of the harvest; but no such adaptation of the landlord's claim to circumstances was to be looked for in the case of fixed cash rents. Now, there were some tracts in the North-Western Provinces where the tenants at the time of settlement had applied for cash rents and had obtained them very much against the landlords' wishes. It so happened that, after the rents had been so commuted, there came two or three years of very bad harvests. The zamindars claimed their full rents. The tenants, they said, had wished for payments in money, and now they must abide by them. The cultivators had neither the money nor the means of raising it, and were obliged to execute engagements to pay at some future time which they could never fulfil. Mischief of this kind had occurred in more than one place from making the commutation of rents compulsory on the application of either party. It was proposed, therefore, to add a clause to section 74, enabling the Settlement-officer to refuse commutation, under certain circumstances, in such tracts as the Local Government thought fit to bring within the operation of the clause.

A change of some importance was proposed in Section 157. The Local Government were anxious that the power to transfer a patti from one landowner to another should be given to the Collector. At present it was vested in the Board of Revenue. It was found, however, that in some parts of the country the present procedure, by which the Collector had to report to the Commissioner, and the Commissioner to report to the Board, caused a delay which the Local Government considered mischievous. It was, therefore, proposed to make the procedure quicker and more summary by vesting the power of transferring shares which do not exceed 50 rupees in the Collector. This power would be subject to the sanction of the Commissioner, and to revision, if necessary, by the Board. The Committee had not thought it right to exempt it from the general supervision and control of the Board; but it was not anticipated that they would interfere with completed transfers, except under extraordinary circumstances.

There was only one other point that required notice. Opportunity had been taken in amending the North-Western Provinces Local Rates Act, 1878, to extend the definition of "tenant" so as to include lessees and under-proprietors who did not themselves use or occupy the land. It was not an uncommon practice in many parts of the country for a landowner to grant perpetual leases of a portion of his estate, on the payment of a fixed rent annually for ever. It had been held that such a perpetual lessee was neither a landlord nor a tenant within the meaning of the Act, and that the only course left for the lessor, who had to pay the whole rate, was to recover the tenants' moiety of it, if he could, from the different users or occupiers of the land. It was proposed to remedy this defect by altering the definition of the word "tenants" in the North-Western Provinces Local Rates Act in the manner which he had described.

The Hon'ble Mr. COLVIN then moved that the Bill as amended be passed.

BURMA COAST-LIGHTS BILL.

The Hon'ble MR. STOKES moved that the Report of the Select Committee on the Bill to amend the law relating to Coast-lights in the eastern part of the Bay of Bengal be taken into consideration. He said that the Committee had made three amendments in the substance of the measure, namely, first, by omitting the explanation to section 9, and thus relieving a ship's agent of liability for the master's or owner's refusal to pay dues payable under the proposed Act; secondly, by adding a section requiring the Government to publish annually a statement of the receipts on account of coast-light dues and of the expenditure on the lights; and thirdly, by substituting for "Port Blair" in both the places in which it occurred in the schedule the words "any Port in the Andaman and Nicobar Islands." The first of these amendments had been made at the suggestion of the Bengal Chamber of Commerce, who justly observed that the power to distrain and sell the vessel was sufficient. The second had been made with a view to providing those who paid the dues with the means of judging whether the rates from time to time fixed were reasonable or not; and the third was necessitated by the development of a trade in cocoanuts carried on by Native vessels plying between Burma and the Nicobars—vessels which undoubtedly benefited by some of the lights to which the Bill referred. The Committee had also made some improvements in the wording and arrangement of the Bill.

The Bill had been approved by the five Local Governments concerned; but the Bengal Chamber of Commerce had taken exception to the proposal to raise the coast-light dues, on the ground that, "as the calculations of dues sufficient for the purposes covered by the Act (XIII of 1867) were made at and for a period when the tonnage in respect of which the dues were payable was much smaller than at the present time, it is difficult to understand how those estimates could have been framed so inaccurately as to render it necessary at this moment of largely increased revenue to call for an addition of fifty per cent.; and how, while the revenue during intervening years has been progressive, the expenditure has been progressive also." They requested that, before any additional rate was imposed, they might be furnished with fuller explanation than that given in the Statement of Objects and Reasons attached to the Bill, and with the requisite accounts to justify the addition which it was proposed to make to the existing tax on tonnage.

It was easy to give the fuller explanation desired by the Chamber. The particulars of certain expenditure had not yet been received from England, and the entire capital expended on the lights up to date could not therefore be ascertained. But the accounts, so far as they went, showed Rs. 21,07,733 to have been expended. (MR. STOKES took these figures, as well as the others which he would quote, from an official Note drawn up last October by Mr. C. J. Lyall, the able and accurate Under Secretary to the Revenue Department). The annual interest on this sum, at 4½ per cent., was Rs. 94,848. The average cost of maintenance for the six years ending 1877-78 had been Rs. 53,277. This was exclusive of the Oyster Reef Light, which appeared only in the two last of these years. If we included the average cost of the Oyster Reef Light for the two years, the average cost of maintaining all the lights for future years might be estimated at Rs. 63,177. We thus had the annual charge (including interest on capital) equal, roughly speaking, to Rs. 1,58,000. Now, the total income from the light-dues for the six years ending 1877-78 had been Rs. 4,74,000, giving an average of only Rs. 79,000 per annum. It was true that this income had been rapidly rising. It had in fact increased in the six years under review by about fifty per cent., and in the year 1877-78 was as high as Rs. 97,000 or Rs. 98,000; but (omitting deficits for past years) it was still so very far short of the annual charge as above estimated, that even the increase of the rate by fifty per cent. which was now proposed would not for some time to come cover that charge. Further, assuming against all probability that the income would go on increasing at the same rate as hitherto, it should be remembered that, if the Krishna Shoal Light-house was to be reconstructed, a considerable addition would be made to the annual charge, even though we adopted the suggestion of the Chamber as to distributing the cost over a series of years.

It must be admitted that the author of the Act of 1867—the late Sir William Grey—in his anxiety to keep the dues as low as possible, pitched the rate below what it ought to have been. The Government of India, however bountifully disposed, must not continue to be, as Cicero said somewhere benignior quam res patitur,—more generous than its means allowed.

MR. STOKES observed, in conclusion, that section 6 of the Bill empowered the Government to reduce the rate whenever the lights had begun to pay their way.

OUDH LAND-REVENUE ACT AMENDMENT BILL.

The Hon'ble MR. COLVIN moved that the Report of the Select Committee on the Bill to amend the Oudh Land-Revenue Act, 1876, be taken into consideration. He said that the Bill had been altered in shape a good deal since it was first introduced into the Council. It had originally been a Bill to amend the Oudh Land-Revenue Act, but had subsequently been turned into a Bill for the recovery of certain advances made to landholders. The practice of giving takkāvi—that was to say, advances for agricultural purposes to landholders—existed before our time in India, and had been continued by the British Government. These advances used to be given to landholders only, and were made recoverable in the same way as an arrear of land-revenue by a Regulation of 1803. At that time the objects for which those advances could be made were undefined; but they were never given, he believed, except for agricultural purposes. In 1871 the Land Improvement Act was passed. By that Act agricultural advances made for certain particular objects were dealt with, and the privilege of receiving them was extended from landholders to tenants. Nothing was said about advances for any other agricultural objects. But, in 1873, when the Land-Revenue Act for the North-Western Provinces was passed, the Regulation of 1803 which had been mentioned was repealed. Since that time there had been no law regarding any advances but those made under the Land Improvement Act. If the Local Government chose to make such advances, there was nothing that he knew of to prevent it; but it would not be able to recover them except by going into the Civil Court in every case where payment was delayed or withheld. This might be, and often was, very inconvenient. There were occasions on which it was most necessary to make such advances—for the purchase of seed and cattle, for instance, after a famine. As the law stood at present, however, advances so made could not be recovered in any way except by a civil suit. This being so, there was danger that either the money would not be advanced at all from the doubts that would exist as to its recovery, or, if it were lent notwithstanding those doubts, that much of it might be lost. To remedy this, when the North-Western Provinces Land-Revenue Act was amended, a section had originally been inserted in the Bill declaring that all advances for agricultural purposes should be recoverable as arrears of land-revenue. In order to assimilate the practice in Oudh to that proposed for the North-Western Provinces, the present measure had been introduced in its first shape of a Bill to amend the Oudh Land-Revenue Act. But the Local Government expressed a wish that the Bill should take the form of a general measure for the recovery of takkāvi. Upon this, the opportunity was taken to ask other Local Governments whether it was not desirable that such a Bill, if passed, should be made applicable to them also. The result was that all the Provinces usually comprised in the term "Northern India," i.e., the Panjāb, the Central Provinces, Assam and Ajmer, as well as the North-Western Provinces and Oudh, had agreed to accept the measure; and it had been extended to them accordingly. In its present shape, therefore, the Bill provided for advances made to owners and occupiers of land for agricultural objects other than those specified in the Land Improvement Act, and declared that such advances should be recoverable from the persons receiving them or from their sureties in the same way as arrears of land-revenue.

In addition to this, the Bill imposed a condition upon the granting of such advances. In order to bring them within the operation of the law which it was proposed to enact, the Bill provided that the advances must have been made in accordance with rules to be framed by the Local Government and sanctioned by the Governor General in Council. It had been objected—and the Committee thought with reason—that it was not expedient that the power of making agricultural advances which could be recovered by such a sharp and summary process as that for the realization of arrears of revenue should be left vague and unrestricted. In the rules required by the Bill, the objects for which such loans might be made could, from time to time, be defined, and their conditions clearly specified, so that all persons interested would have the means of knowing when and how they could obtain an advance, and would also be informed of the liabilities which they incurred by accepting it.

The Motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble MR. COLVIN also moved that the Bill as amended be passed.

TRADE-MARKS BILL.

The Hon'ble MR. STOKES introduced the Bill to provide for the registration of trade-marks, and moved that it be referred to a Select Committee consisting of the Hon'ble Sir A. J. Arbuthnot, the Hon'ble Messrs. Cockerell and Hope and the Mover. He said that when he had obtained leave to introduce this Bill, he had explained the circumstances under which it had been prepared, and stated that it was nothing more than a reproduction, with the changes required to fit them to the different circumstances of this country, of the provisions of the two Statutes which regulated the registration of trade-marks in England. He had now only to say that the Bill provided for the appointment of a Registrar and the registration of trade-marks, and enacted that, after a certain fixed date, no suit should be brought for the infringement of a trade-mark, unless such trade-mark was registered in accordance with the provisions of the Bill. It further defined the essential particulars of which a trade-mark must hereafter consist; those particulars were as follows:—

“(a) a name of an individual or firm printed, impressed or woven in some particular and distinctive manner, or

(b) a written signature or copy of a written signature of an individual or firm, or

(c) a distinctive device, mark, heading, label or ticket :

it includes also any special and distinctive word or words, or combination of numerals or letters, used as a trade-mark before the passing of this Act.”

The other provisions of the Bill were subsidiary to these, and the only one of them calling for notice here was that by which the High Court at Fort William was appointed the Court for the purposes of the Act. As it was understood that the registry-office would be situate at Calcutta (where alone proprietorship in copyright and specifications of inventions were registered), that Court was obviously the most convenient one to appoint.

The Bill would of course be improved by the criticisms which he hoped it would receive from the Local Governments and the mercantile community. But, even if passed in its present form, he thought it would be a useful piece of legislation. It would, in conjunction with the 18th chapter of the Penal Code, help to give effect to the sound general principle which Lord Langdale, in Perry v. Trucfitt, had expressed thus : “A man is not to sell his own goods under the pretence that they are the goods of another man; he cannot be permitted to practise such a deception, nor to use the means which contribute to that end. He cannot, therefore, be allowed to use names, marks, letters or other indicia by which he may induce purchasers to believe that the goods which he is selling are the manufacture of another person.” Moreover, the protection of trade-marks was, like the quality of mercy, “twice blessed”: it was, in other words, doubly beneficial: it benefited the public, because it enabled them to buy with a reasonable certainty that they were getting what they asked for, and it benefited the manufacturer, because it secured to him the custom which he deserved, and which was intended for him.

The Motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble MR. STOKES also moved that the Bill be published in the local official Gazettes, in English and in such other languages as the Local Governments might think fit.

The Motion was put and agreed to.

OUDH CIVIL COURTS BILL.

The Hon'ble MR. COCKERELL introduced the Bill to amend the law relating to Civil Courts in Oudh, and moved that it be referred to a Select Committee consisting of the Hon'ble Sir A. J. Arbuthnot, the Hon'ble Messrs. Stokes, Hope and Colvin and the Mover, with instructions to report in four weeks. He said that the Bill, in effect, reproduced for application to the Oudh Province most of the provisions of Act VI of 1871, the Bengal Civil Courts Act.

As a separate subordinate judiciary, which from the District Court downwards was constructed after the model of that at present existing in Bengal and the North-Western Provinces, was to be established in Oudh, it seemed clearly right that the law relating to Civil Courts in the latter Province should be assimilated as much as possible to the law on this subject in force in the former Provinces.

The Bill, however, provided for one important distinction from the Bengal Act in regard to the original jurisdiction of the Courts of Subordinate Judges. Such Courts in Bengal and the North-Western Provinces exercised an unlimited jurisdiction in respect of the amount or value of the property in dispute in any case; whereas in Oudh it was proposed to limit the jurisdiction of Sub-Judges to cases in which the amount or value of the property forming the subject of litigation did not exceed Rs. 10,000.

Many cogent reasons could be assigned for the proposed restriction, but it would be sufficient here to mention two of these :—

1st.—It was desirable that suits of great importance, as involving an unusually heavy pecuniary stake, should be tried by the strongest Courts of original jurisdiction available; but where concurrent jurisdiction was given to two classes of Courts in respect of such suits, then, under the operation of the rules of the Civil Procedure Code, the result was that these suits were necessarily instituted, and generally tried by the lower class of Courts; for, although the Code conferred upon a District Court the power of withdrawing suits from any Subordinate Court and trying them itself, yet in practice it was found that this power was exercised very sparingly, in special circumstances, such as on the application of a party, and without any particular reference to the amount or value involved in the suit to be withdrawn.

2nd.—It was doubtful whether the public would have such confidence in these new Sub-Judges' Courts as to be willing to intrust cases involving an unusually heavy pecuniary stake to the adjudication of such Judges, some of whom at least (for the new posts would to some extent be filled by the late Assistant and Extra Assistant Commissioners) had hitherto exercised jurisdiction only in respect of suits in which the amount or value of the property in dispute did not exceed Rs. 5,000.

Indeed, strong representations had been made, from non-official quarters, too, to the effect that the public in Oudh would not have such confidence, and that it was consequently expedient to place some limitation as regards the pecuniary amount upon the jurisdiction to be exercised by these Judges.

There was no reason, moreover, to apprehend that the new "District Courts" in Oudh would have insufficient time for the trial and disposal of suits involving an amount or value in excess of Rs. 10,000; for not many such suits were instituted in the Oudh Courts: during the three years from 1875 to 1877 inclusive, the annual average number of such institutions did not exceed fifty-six, which, distributed amongst the four District Courts, gave an average of fourteen cases only to be disposed of by each Judge. It must be remembered also that these new District Judges would not, for some time at least, have the criminal work, which devolved upon the District Courts of the older Provinces.

Whilst the Courts of original jurisdiction in Oudh were, under the new scheme, to be entirely reconstructed, the highest Appellate Court (Judicial Commissioner's) would remain as heretofore; hence it was proposed to retain the special provisions of the law now in force in that Province in regard to second appeals.

In one respect this law was peculiar to Oudh; for in no other Province was an absolute finality accorded to the substantially concurrent decisions of the Appellate Court and the Court of first instance. The other special provision, allowing a second appeal on the facts of a case, when the decision of the first Appellate Court reversed or materially modified the order of the Court of first instance, was also in force in the Panjáb. Both these enactments were reported to have worked well in Oudh, and the twenty-first section of the Bill had consequently been drawn so as to provide for their retention.

Some provisions of the Bengal Courts Act had been omitted, as, for instance, the power of appointing a Munsif, temporarily, on the sudden occurrence of a vacancy in that office. The Local Government was averse to giving this power to the new District Judges in Oudh, and proposed to give it to the Judicial Commissioners, but it was thought that such an arrangement would fail to secure the object of this provision for temporary appointments, i.e., the avoidance of delay in the filling up of a vacancy; for it would take nearly as long a time to obtain a fresh appointment by the Judicial Commissioner, who, unlike the District Judge, did not ordinarily reside in the district where the vacancy would occur, as an appointment to be made by the Local Government. For these reasons, it seemed best to abandon this provision. Probably, in any case, it would be unnecessary in these days of more rapid communications.

Through inadvertence, the converse provision of the Bengal Act regarding the suspension of Munsifs by District Judges, which ought equally to have been omitted, had been inserted in the Bill; it would be for the Select Committee to which the Bill might be referred to determine whether the considerations which led the Local Government to disapprove of giving the power of appointment of Munsifs to the District Judges did not apply with greater force to this provision enabling them to suspend such officers.

It only remained for him (Mr. Cockerell) to draw attention to the two last sections of the Bill, which had been framed to provide for the rather complicated questions which would arise out of the abolition, from the date of the new law coming into force, of one set of Courts, and their immediate replacement by another set with totally different designations and limits of jurisdiction. It was thought that these provisions would be found to effect all that was needed.

The Motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble MR. COCKERELL also moved that the Bill be published in the Government Gazette, North-Western Provinces and Oudh, in English and in such other languages as the Local Government thinks fit.

The Motion was put and agreed to.

MILITARY CANTONMENTS ACT AMENDMENT BILL.

The Hon'ble Mr. STOKES introduced the Bill to provide for the revision of proceedings in trials held under the Military Cantonments Act, 1864, section 20, and moved that it be referred to a Select Committee consisting of the Hon'ble Messrs. Cockerell and Colvin and himself. He said that the Bill was one of extreme simplicity and brevity. The effect of it was that in trials for breaches of Cantonment Rules there would be no appeal, but the Cantonment Magistrate trying the case would, for the purposes of the twenty-second chapter of the Code of Criminal Procedure, be subordinate to the High Court, the Court of Session and the District Magistrate.

The Motion was put and agreed to.

CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE AMENDMENT BILL.

The Hon'ble Mr. STOKES also moved that the Hon'ble Messrs. Hope and Colvin be added to the Select Committee on the Bill to amend the Code of Civil Procedure.

The Motion was put and agreed to.

The Council adjourned to Thursday, the 5th June, 1879.

REPORTS ON THE STATE OF THE SEASON AND PROSPECTS OF THE CROPS FOR THE WEEK ENDING THE 27th MAY 1879.

GENERAL REMARKS.—In Madras general prospects are favourable, good rain has fallen in the districts reported on, and the fall in Malabar has been so far excessive, as to interfere slightly with sowings. The south-west monsoon is reported to have set in in Mysore and there has been heavy rain throughout the Province; ploughing is going on and prices are generally stationary. In the Bombay Presidency rain has been general in the Deccan and Southern Mahratta Country districts, and there has also been some in other places; agricultural operations are progressing everywhere; cholera prevails in Sind and Guzerat where the heat is excessive. In the Central Provinces rain has fallen in several districts; ploughing continues and prices are steady. In Berar ploughing operations have been nearly completed. Slight rain has fallen in places in Central India, and it is said that there are signs of the approach of the monsoon. In Rajputana matters remain on the whole promising. Rain has fallen in nearly every district in Bengal; in some places it has been very slight, but in Jalpaiguri and Cooch Behar, especially in the former locality, it was excessive; prospects in the northern districts are generally favourable, and in most other districts the rain has benefitted the crops which suffered from drought; more rain however is much wanted for rice cultivation which has not yet commenced in many places; prices are gradually rising in almost all districts. In Assam the state of things is satisfactory. Public health in British Burma is good; slight small-pox and cholera continue and cattle disease exists in six districts. In the North-Western Provinces and Oudh slight rain fell in Kumaun, Sitapur and Fyzabad; cholera is still prevalent in the first-named place, but is disappearing elsewhere. Seasonable weather continues in the Punjab and prospects are fair.

ARTIKEL III.

Kein Schweizer wird von Seiten der Schweiz an die Regierung des Vereinigten Königreiches und von Seiten dieser kein englischer Unterthan an die Schweiz ausgeliefert werden.

ARTICLE IV.

The extradition shall not take place if the person claimed on the part of the Government of the United Kingdom, or the person claimed on the part of the Swiss Government, has already been tried and discharged or punished, or is still under trial, in one of the Swiss Cantons or in the United Kingdom respectively, for the crime for which his extradition is demanded.

If the person claimed on the part of the Government of the United Kingdom, or if the person claimed on the part of the Swiss Government, should be under examination, or have been condemned for any other crime, in one of the Swiss Cantons or in the United Kingdom respectively, his extradition may be deferred until he shall have been set at liberty in due course of law.

In case such individual should be proceeded against or detained in the country in which he has taken refuge, on account of obligations contracted towards private individuals, his extradition shall, nevertheless, take place; the injured party retaining his right to prosecute his claims before the competent authority.

ARTICLE V.

The extradition shall not take place if, subsequently to the commission of the crime, or the institution of the penal prosecution, or the conviction thereon, exemption from prosecution or punishment has been acquired by lapse of time, according to the laws of the State applied to.

ARTICLE VI.

If the individual claimed by one of the two Contracting Parties in pursuance of the present Treaty should be also claimed by one or several other Powers, on account of other crimes committed upon their respective territories, his surrender shall be granted to that State whose demand is earliest in date; unless any other arrangement should be made between the Governments which have claimed him, either on account of the gravity of the crimes committed, or for any other reason.

ARTICLE VII.

A fugitive criminal shall not be surrendered if the offence in respect of which his surrender is demanded is one of a political character, or is connected with a crime of that nature, or if he prove that the requisition for his surrender has, in fact, been made with a view to try and punish him for an offence of a political character.

ARTICLE VIII.

A person surrendered can in no case be kept in prison, or be brought to trial in the State to which the surrender has been made, for any other crime, or on account of any other matters than those for which the extradition shall have taken place.

ARTIKEL IV.

Die Auslieferung soll nicht stattfinden, wenn die von der Schweizerischen Regierung verfolgte Person im Vereinigten Königreich, oder die Seitens der Regierung des Vereinigten Königreiches verfolgte Person in einem Kanton der Schweiz wegen derselben strafbaren Handlung, wegen deren die Auslieferung nachgesucht wird, in Untersuchung gewesen und ausser Verfolgung gesetzt worden, oder sich noch in Untersuchung befindet, oder bereits bestraft worden ist.

Wenn die von der Schweizerischen Regierung verfolgte Person im Vereinigten Königreich, oder wenn die Seitens der Regierung des Vereinigten Königreiches verfolgte Person in einem Kanton der Schweiz wegen einer andern strafbaren Handlung in Untersuchung liegt oder bestraft worden ist, so kann die Auslieferung verschoben werden, bis diese Person in gehörigen Rechtsgang in Freiheit gesetzt worden ist.

Wird ein solches Individuum wegen Verpflichtungen, die dasselbe mit Privatpersonen abgeschlossen hat, in jenem Lande, in welchem es Zuflucht genommen hat, gerichtlich verfolgt oder mit Personalarrest belegt, so soll dessen Auslieferung dennoch stattfinden, dabei aber der beschädigten Partei das Recht vorbehalten bleiben, ihre Aussprache vor der kompetenten Behörde geltend zu machen.

ARTIKEL V.

Die Auslieferung soll nicht stattfinden, wenn seit der begangenen strafbaren Handlung, oder der Einleitung der strafgerichtlichen Verfolgung, oder der erfolgten Verurtheilung nach den Gesetzen des ersuchten Staates Verjährung der strafgerichtlichen Verfolgung oder der erkannten Strafe eingetreten ist.

ARTIKEL VI.

Wird ein Individuum von einer der beiden Vertragsparteien auf Grund des gegenwärtigen Vertrages zur Auslieferung reklamirt, zugleich aber auch dessen Auslieferung von einer oder mehreren andern Mächten wegen andern auf deren Gebieten begangenen Verbrechen verlangt, so ist dasjenige Gesuch im Vorgange zu bewilligen, welches das älteste im Datum ist, es sei denn, das zwischen den Regierungen, die das betreffende Individuum reklamirt haben, entweder wegen der Wichtigkeit der begangenen Verbrechen oder aus andern Gründen ein anderes Abkommen getroffen wurde.

ARTIKEL VII.

Ein fluchtiger Verbrecher soll nicht ausgeliefert werden, wenn die strafbare Handlung, wegen deren seine Auslieferung verlangt wird, einen politischen Charakter an sich trägt, oder mit einem derartigen Verbrechen zusammenhängt, oder wenn er nachweisen kann, dass der Antrag auf seine Auslieferung in Wirklichkeit mit der Absicht gestellt worden ist, ihn wegen eines Verbrechens oder Vergehens politischer Natur zu verfolgen oder zu bestrafen.

ARTIKEL VIII.

Die ausgelieferte Person darf in dem Staate, an welchen die Auslieferung erfolgt ist, keinesfalls wegen einer andern strafbaren Handlung oder auf Grund anderer Thatfachen, als derjenigen, wegen deren die Auslieferung erfolgt ist, in Haft behalten oder zur Untersuchung gezogen werden.

This stipulation does not apply to crimes committed after the extradition.

ARTICLE IX.

The requisition for extradition must always be made by the way of diplomacy, and to wit, in Switzerland by the British Minister to the President of the Confederation, and in the United Kingdom to the Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs by the Consul-General of Switzerland, who, for the purposes of this Treaty, is hereby recognised by Her Majesty as a Diplomatic Representative of Switzerland.

The requisition for the extradition of an accused person must be accompanied by a warrant of arrest issued by the competent authority of the State requiring the extradition, and by such evidence as, according to the laws of the place where the accused is found, would justify his arrest if the crime had been committed there.

If the requisition relates to a person already convicted, it must be accompanied by the sentence of condemnation passed against the convicted person by the competent Court of the State that makes the requisition for extradition.

A requisition for extradition cannot be founded on sentences passed in contumaciam.

ARTICLE X.

A fugitive criminal may, however, be apprehended under a warrant issued by any police magistrate, justice of the peace, or other competent authority, in either country, on such information or complaint, together with such evidence, or after such judicial proceedings as would, in the opinion of the officer issuing the warrant, justify its issue, if the crime had been committed in that part of the dominions of the two Contracting Parties in which he exercises jurisdiction. Provided, however, that in the United Kingdom the accused shall in such case be sent as speedily as possible before a police magistrate in London. Such requisition may be made by means of the post or by telegraph.

The accused shall, however, be discharged if, within such reasonable time as, with reference to the circumstances of the case, the police magistrate may fix, the requisition shall not have been made according to the stipulations contained in Article IX.

ARTICLE XI.

The extradition shall not take place before the expiration of fifteen days from the apprehension, and then only if the evidence be found sufficient, according to the laws of the State applied to, either to justify the committal of the prisoner for trial in case the crime had been committed in the territory of the said State, or to prove that the prisoner is the identical person convicted by the Courts of the State which makes the requisition.

Auf strafbare Handlungen, welche nach erfolgter Auslieferung verübt sind, findet diese Bestimmung keine Anwendung.

ARTIKEL IX.

Das Auslieferungsbegehren muss immer auf diplomatischem Wege gestellt werden und zwar in der Schweiz durch den Englischen Gesandten bei dem Bundespräsidenten und in Grossbritannien durch den Schweizerischen General-Konsul in London, welcher von Ihrer Majestät für die Zwecke dieses Vertrages als diplomatischer Repräsentant der Schweiz anerkannt wird, bei dem Staatssekretär für die auswärtigen Angelegenheiten.

Mit dem Gesuche auf Auslieferung eines Beschuldigten müssen ein Verhaftsbefehl welcher von der zuständigen Behörde des die Auslieferung begehrenden Staates erlassen ist, und solche Beweise beigebracht werden, welche nach den Gesetzen des Ortes, wo der Beschuldigte aufgefunden wird, dessen Verhaftung rechtfertigen würden, wenn die strafbare Handlung dort begangen wäre.

Betrifft das Auslieferungsbegehren eine bereits verurtheilte Person, so muss das Strafurtheil beigebracht werden, welches von dem zuständigen Gericht des die Auslieferung begehrenden Staates gegen den Verurtheilten erlassen worden ist.

Auf Strafurtheile, welche in contumaciam erlassen worden sind, kann das Auslieferungs-gesuch nicht gegründet werden.

ARTIKEL X.

Indessen kann ein fluchtiger Verbrecher in beiden Ländern auch verhaftet werden auf Grund eines Verhaftsbefehles, der von einem Polizeimagistrat, Friedensrichter, oder von einer andern kompetenten Behörde auf eine solche Strafanzeige oder Klage und zugleich auf einen solchen Beweis oder nach einem solchen gerichtlichen Verfahren erlassen wird, dass nach der Ansicht des Beamten, welcher den Verhaftsbefehl erlässt, dessen Erlass gerechtfertigt wäre, wenn das Verbrechen in demjenigen Theile der Gebiete der Vertragsparteien begangen worden wäre, in welchem der Beamte Gerichtsbarkeit ausübt. Es wird indessen bedungen, dass in dem Vereinigten Königreiche in einem solchen Falle der Beklagte so schnell wie möglich vor einen Polizeimagistrat in London gesendet werden soll. Solche Requisitionen mögen vermittle der Post oder durch den Telegraphen gemacht werden.

Der Angeklagte soll indess des Verhaftes entlassen werden, wenn inner einer billigen Frist, die von dem Polizeimagistrat anzusezen ist und bei deren Fixirung die Verumständungen des einzelnen Falles zu berücksichtigen sind, das Begehren nicht in Gemässheit der in Artikel IX. enthaltenen Bestimmungen gestellt worden ist.

ARTIKEL XI.

Die Auslieferung erfolgt nicht vor Ablauf von fünfzehn Tagen seit der Ergreifung und nur dann wenn die Beweise für genügend befunden worden sind, um nach den Gesetzen des ersuchten Staates entweder die Verweisung des Ergriffenen zur Hauptuntersuchung zu rechtfertigen, falls die strafbare Handlung im Gebiet dieses Staates begangen wäre, oder darzuthun, dass der Ergriffene mit der von den Gerichten des ersuchenden Staates verurtheilten Person identisch ist.

ARTICLE XII.

In the examinations which they have to make in accordance with the foregoing stipulations, the authorities of the State applied to shall admit as entirely valid evidence the sworn depositions or statement of witnesses taken in the other State or copies thereof, and likewise the warrants and sentences issued therein, provided such documents are signed or certified by a Judge, Magistrate, or Officer of such State, and are authenticated by the oath of some witness, or by being sealed with the official seal of a British Secretary of State, or of the Chancellor of the Swiss Confederation.

ARTICLE XIII.

If sufficient evidence for the extradition be not produced within two months from the date of the apprehension of the fugitive, he shall be set at liberty.

ARTICLE XIV.

All articles seized, which were in the possession of the person to be surrendered at the time of his apprehension, shall, if the competent authority of State applied to for the extradition has ordered the delivery thereof, be given up when the extradition takes place, and the said delivery shall extend not merely to the stolen articles, but to everything that may serve as a proof of the crime.

ARTICLE XV.

The Contracting Parties renounce any claim for the reimbursement of the expenses incurred by them in the arrest and maintenance of the person to be surrendered, and his conveyance to the frontiers of the State from which he is required; they reciprocally agree to bear such expenses themselves.

ARTICLE XVI.

The stipulations of the present Treaty shall be applicable to the Colonies and foreign Possessions of Her Britannic Majesty.

The requisition for the arrest and surrender of a fugitive criminal who has taken refuge in any of such Colonies or foreign Possessions shall be made through the Swiss Consul-General in London to the Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, who shall proceed in conformity with the provisions of the present Treaty and the laws of the land.

Her Britannic Majesty shall, however, be at liberty to make special arrangements in the British Colonies and foreign Possessions for the surrender of such individuals as shall have committed in Switzerland any of the crimes hereinafore mentioned, who may take refuge within such Colonies and foreign Possessions, on the basis as nearly as may be, of the provisions of the present Treaty.

The requisition for the surrender of a fugitive criminal from any Colony or foreign Possession of Her Britannic Majesty shall be governed by the rules laid down in the preceding Articles of the present Treaty.

ARTIKEL XII.

ARTIKEL XIII.

Wenn die zur Auslieferung genügenden Beweise nicht binnen zwei Monaten von dem Tage der Ergreifung des Fluchtigen an beigebracht werden, so ist der Ergriffene auf freien Fuss zu setzen.

ARTIKEL XIV.

ARTIKEL XV.

Die vertragenden Theile verzichten darauf, die Erstattung derjenigen Kosten, welche ihnen aus der Festnahme und den Unterhalt des Auszuliefernden und seinem Transport bis zur Grenze des requirirten Staates erwachsen, in Anspruch zu nehmen, willigen vielmehr gegenseitig darein diese Kosten selbst zu tragen.

ARTIKEL XVI.

Die Bestimmungen des gegenwärtigen Vertrages sollen auf die Kolonien und auswärtigen Besitzungen Ihrer Grossbritannischen Majestät Anwendung finden.

Der Antrag auf Verhaftung und Auslieferung eines fluchtigen Verbrechers, welcher in einer dieser Kolonien oder auswärtigen Besitzungen Zuflucht gefunden hat, soll durch den Schweizerischen General-Konsul in London bei dem Staatssekretar der auswärtigen Angelegenheiten gestellt werden, welcher nach Vorschrift dieses Vertrages und der bestehenden Gesetze zu verfahren hat.

Ihrer Grossbritannischen Majestät soll es jedoch freistehen, in den Britischen Kolonien und auswärtigen Besitzungen über die Auslieferung solcher Individuen die in der Schweiz ein im Vertrag genanntes Verbrechen begangen haben, aber innerhalb dieser Kolonien und auswärtigen Besitzungen Zuflucht gefunden haben, auf möglichst gleicher Grundlage mit den Bestimmungen des gegenwärtigen Vertrages besondere Anordnungen zu treffen.

ARTICLE XVII.

The present Treaty shall come into force ten days after its publication in conformity with the forms prescribed by the laws of the High Contracting Parties. It may be terminated by either of the High Contracting Parties, but shall remain in force for six months after notice has been given for its termination.

The Treaty shall be ratified, and the ratifications shall be exchanged at Berne in four weeks, or sooner if possible.

In witness whereof the respective Plenipotentiaries have signed the same, and have affixed thereto the seal of their arms.

ARTIKEL XVII.

Der gegenwärtige Vertrag soll zehn Tage nach seiner, in Gemässheit der durch die Gesetzgebung der hohen vertragenden Theile vorgeschriebenen Formen erfolgten Veröffentlichung in Kraft treten. And whereas a Protocol amending Article XVI of the aforesaid Treaty was signed by the Plenipotentiaries of Her Majesty and of the Swiss Confederation on the twenty-eighth day of November, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four, which Protocol is in the following terms:—

The undersigned Plenipotentiaries of Her Majesty the Queen of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland and the Federal Council of the Swiss Confederation, having met in Conference, have taken into their consideration the following subject:—

They have directed their attention to the fact that the second paragraph of the XVIth Article of the Treaty, which stipulates that the requisition for the arrest of a fugitive criminal who has taken refuge in any of the Colonies or foreign possessions of Her Britannic Majesty shall be made through the Swiss Consul-General in London to the Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, was not in accordance with the law of England, and they have consequently resolved to declare that the second paragraph of that Article beginning:

“The requisition for the arrest,” and concluding with, “and the laws of the land,” shall be null and void, and in lieu thereof the following words shall be substituted:

“The requisition for the surrender of a fugitive criminal who has taken refuge in any of such Colonies or foreign possessions shall be made to the Governor or to the Supreme Authority of such Colony or Possession through the Swiss Consul, or, in case there should be no Swiss Consul, through the Consular Agent of another State charged for the occasion with the Swiss interests in the Colony or Possession in question.

“The Governor or Supreme Authority above-mentioned shall decide with regard to such requisitions as nearly as possible in accordance with the provisions of the present Treaty. He will, however, be at liberty either to consent to the extradition or report the case to his Government.”

The other provisions of Article XVI remain in force as they have been agreed upon in the Treaty.

Die unterzeichneten Bevollmächtigten Ihrer Majestät der Königin des Vereinigten Königreichs von Grossbritannien und Irland, und des Bundesrathes der Schweizerischen Eidgenossenschaft, haben in einer Conferenz folgenden Gegenstand in Erwägung gezogen:—

Sie haben ihre Aufmerksamkeit auf die Thatsache gerichtet, dass der zweite Absatz von Artikel XVI des Vertrages, welcher bestimmt, dass das Gesuch um Verhaftung eines flüchtigen Verbrechers, welcher sich nach einer der Colonien oder auswärtigen Besitzungen Ihrer Grossbritannischen Majestät gewendet hat, durch den Schweizerischen General-Konsul in London an den Staatssekretär für die auswärtigen Angelegenheiten gerichtet werden soll, mit den Gesetzen Englands nicht in Einklang steht. Sie sind daher übereingekommen zu erklären, dass der zweite Absatz besagten Artikels, also beginnend:

“Der Antrag auf Verhaftung,” und schliessend, “der bestehenden Gesetze zu verfahren hat,” null und nichtig sein, und an Stelle desselben die nachfolgenden Worte eingeschaltet werden sollen:

Die andern Punkte von Artikel XVI bleiben in der im Vertrag vereinbarten Form in Kraft.

This Protocol shall be regarded and acted upon as forming part of the Treaty in question.

In witness whereof the Undersigned have signed this Protocol, and have hereunto affixed their seals.

Done in duplicate at Berne, the twenty-eighth day of November, in the year of Grace, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four.

The Plenipotentiary of Great Britain,

(L.S.)

EDWIN CORBETT.

Dieses Protokoll soll als integrierender Bestandtheil des Vertrages angesehen und beobachtet werden.

Zur Urkunde dessen haben die Unterfertigten dasselbe unterzeichnet und ihre Siegel beigesezt.

So geschehen in doppelter Ausfertigung in Bern, den achtundzwanzigsten Tag des Wintermonats im Jahre des Heils ein tausend acht hundert vier und seibenzig.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

This Bill has been prepared, at the request of the Government of Bombay, to meet the wishes of the Mill-owners Association and the Bombay Chamber of Commerce. Both these bodies call the attention of the Local Government to the provisions of the English Trade-marks Registration Acts of 1875 and 1876 (which have been held by the High Court of Bombay not to apply to India), and state that it seems desirable, having regard to the increase of manufactures in this country, and especially of the cotton-manufactures of Bombay, that there should be a law of a similar nature in India.

2. The Bill is nothing more than a reproduction, with the changes required to fit them to the different circumstances of this country, of the provisions of the Statutes 38 & 39 Vic., chapter 91 (An Act to establish a register of Trade-marks), and 39 & 40 Vic., chapter 33 (An Act for the amendment of the Trade-marks Registration Act, 1875). It seems desirable (more especially in the case of laws dealing with large commercial interests), when the object of one of our Acts is merely to extend the provisions of an Imperial Statute to this country, to follow closely the lines of such Statute, so as to make the law in this country as nearly as possible identical with that in England.

3. The Bill provides for the appointment of a Registrar and the registration of trade-marks, and enacts that, after a certain fixed date, no suit shall be brought for the infringement of a trade-mark, unless such trade-mark is registered in accordance with the provisions of the Bill; it further defines the essential particulars of which a trade-mark must hereafter consist; but it saves from the operation of these provisions the trade-marks which are at present in use and entitled to protection as such. The other provisions of the Bill are subsidiary to these, and the only one of them calling for notice here is that by which the High Court at Fort William is appointed the Court for the purposes of the Act. As it is understood that the registry-office will be situate at Calcutta (where alone proprietorship in copyright and specifications of inventions are registered), that Court is obviously the most convenient one to appoint.

SCHEDULE.

A Bill to amend the law relating to Civil Courts in Oudh.

WHEREAS it is expedient to amend the law relating to Civil Courts in Oudh; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

CHAPTER I.

PRELIMINARY.

1. This Act may be called "The Oudh Civil Courts Act, 1879":

Local extent. It extends to all the territories for the time being administered by the Chief Commissioner of Oudh; and it shall come into force on the first day of July, 1879.

2. On and from that day the Acts mentioned in the schedule hereto annexed shall be repealed to the extent specified in the third column thereof.

3. In this Act, "district" means the area comprised in the local limits of the jurisdiction of the District Judge.

CHAPTER II.

CONSTITUTION OF COURTS.

4. Besides the Courts established under any other enactment for the time being in force, there shall be four grades of Civil Courts in Oudh (namely):—

- (1) the Court of the Munsif;
- (2) the Court of the Subordinate Judge;
- (3) the Court of the District Judge;
- (4) the Court of the Judicial Commissioner.

5. The number of District Judges, Subordinate Judges and Munsifs to be appointed under this Act shall be fixed, and may from time to time be altered, by the Local Government.

6. The Governor General in Council may appoint such person as he thinks fit to be Judicial Commissioner.

The District Judges, Subordinate Judges and Munsifs shall be appointed by the Local Government.

7. When the business pending before any District Judge requires the aid of Additional Judges for its speedy disposal, the Local Government may, upon the recommendation of the Judicial Commissioner, and with the previous sanction of the Governor General in Council, appoint such Additional Judges as may be requisite.

Such Additional Judges shall perform any of the duties of a Judge under chapter III of this Act that the District Judge may, with the sanction of the Judicial Commissioner, assign to them; and in the performance of such duties they shall exercise the same powers as the District Judge.

8. In the event of the death of a District Judge, or of his being incapacitated by illness or otherwise for the performance of his duties, or of his absence from the station in which his Court is held, the Additional Judge, or, if there is no Additional Judge attached to such Court, the senior Subordinate Judge of the District, shall, without relinquishing his ordinary duties, assume charge of the Judge's office;

and shall discharge such of the current duties thereof as are connected with the filing of suits and appeals, the issue of processes and the like functions;

and shall continue in charge of the office until it is resumed by the District Judge, or assumed by an officer duly appointed thereto.

9. In the event of the death of a Subordinate Judge, or of his being incapacitated by illness or otherwise for the performance of his duties, or of his absence on leave, when no person is appointed to act for him, the District Judge may transfer all or any of the proceedings pending in the Court of such Subordinate Judge either to his own Court or to the Court of a Subordinate Judge (if any) under his control.

All proceedings transferred under this section shall be disposed of as if they had been instituted in the Court to which they are so transferred.

10. The Court of the District Judge shall be deemed to be the principal Civil Court of original jurisdiction in the district over which his jurisdiction extends.

The control over all the Civil Courts in such district is invested in the said District Judge, but subject to the general control of the Judicial Commissioner.

11. The Judicial Commissioner and the District Judges, and, subject to the approval of the District Judges to whose control they are respectively subject, the Subordinate Judges and Munsifs, shall appoint the ministerial officers of their Courts.

12. The Judicial Commissioner or any District Judge may transfer any ministerial officer from any Court under his control to any other Court under his control.

13. Every Court under this Act shall use a seal of such form and dimensions as are for the time being prescribed by the Local Government.

14. The Local Government may fix and from time to time alter the place or places at which any Court under this Act is to be held.

15. The Local Government may, from time to time, by notification in the official Gazette, invest such persons as it thinks fit with the powers of a Munsif, subject to such restrictions in respect of the value of the subject-matter of the suit as may be deemed proper, and withdraw such jurisdiction.

CHAPTER III.

GENERAL JURISDICTION.

16. The Local Government shall, by notification in the official Gazette, fix, and may by a like notification from time to time vary, the local limits of the jurisdiction of any Civil Court or person invested with the powers of a Civil Court under this Act.

17. Subject to the provisions of the Code of Civil Procedure, section 15,— the jurisdiction of a District Judge extends to all original suits cognizable by the Civil Courts.

Subject as aforesaid, the jurisdiction of a Subordinate Judge extends to all suits in which the amount or value of the subject-matter in dispute does not exceed ten thousand rupees, and the jurisdiction of a Munsif to all suits in which such amount or value does not exceed one thousand rupees.

18. Appeals from the decrees and orders of Munsifs and Subordinate Judges in original suits and proceedings shall, when such appeals are allowed by law, lie to the District Judge:

Provided that the Judicial Commissioner may, from time to time, subject to such restrictions as he may deem fit, order that all or any of the appeals from the decrees and orders of a Munsif shall be preferred to such Subordinate Judge as may be mentioned in the order; and such appeals shall thereupon be preferred accordingly.

19. Every District Judge may, from time to time, subject to the orders of the Judicial Commissioner, refer to any Subordinate Judge under his control any appeals pending before him from the decrees and orders of Munsifs; and such Subordinate Judge shall hear and dispose of such appeals accordingly.

The District Judge may withdraw any appeals so referred, and hear and dispose of appeals so withdrawn.

20. Appeals from the decrees and orders of District Judges and Additional Judges in original suits and proceedings shall, when such appeals are allowed by law, lie to the Judicial Commissioner.

21. When the decision of a Subordinate Judge, District Judge or Additional Judge passed in appeal confirms the decree or order of the Court of first instance, such decision shall be final; but when such decision reverses or modifies such decree or order and is not declared by any law for the time being in force to be final, the Judicial Commissioner may receive a second appeal if, on a perusal of the grounds of appeal and of copies of the judgments of the lower Courts, he is of opinion that a further consideration of the case is requisite for the ends of justice.

22. No presiding officer of any Court having jurisdiction under this Act shall try any suit or appeal in which he is a party or personally interested, or any appeal against a decree or order passed by himself, or shall adjudicate upon any proceeding connected with or arising out of such suit or appeal.

When any such suit, appeal or proceeding comes before any such presiding officer, he shall forthwith transmit the record of the case to the Court to which he is immediately subordinate, with a report of the circumstances attending the reference.

The superior Court shall thereupon dispose of the case in the manner prescribed by section 25 of Act X of 1877.

In the event of an appeal being preferred to a Judicial Commissioner from a judgment or order passed by him in any other capacity, or in which he has any personal interest, he shall report the fact to the Local Government, which may transfer the case to the High Court of the North-Western Provinces for disposal, or appoint an officer to be an Additional Judicial Commissioner for the disposal of the case.

(2). Applications for permission to sue or appeal as a pauper.

(3). Applications for certificates under Act XXVII of 1860 (for facilitating the collection of debts on successions, and for the security of parties paying debts to the representatives of deceased persons).

SCHEDULE.ACTS REPEALED.

(See section 3.) •

Number and year.	Title of Act.	Extent of repeal.
Act X of 1870 ...	The Land Acquisition Act, 1870 ...	So much of section 3 as declares the Commissioner of a Division to be a principal Civil Court of original jurisdiction in Oudh.
Act XXXII of 1871 ...	The Oudh Civil Courts Act, 1871	The whole, except section 40.
Act XVIII of 1876 ...	The Oudh Laws Act, 1876 ...	Sections 21, 28 and 43.
Act XIV of 1878 ...	An Act to assimilate certain powers of the Local Governments of the North-Western Provinces and Oudh.	Section 3.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

THE object of this Bill is to bring the law in Oudh with regard to the constitution and jurisdiction of the Civil Courts into harmony with the new state of things which will result from the separation of the judicial and executive branches of the Administration in that Province. The law at present regulating the Civil Courts in Oudh is Act XXXII of 1871 (the Oudh Civil Courts Act, 1871). It was found that, in order to fit that Act to the altered circumstances of Oudh, it would have to be practically reconstructed; and it was therefore determined to adopt the simpler and more convenient course of repealing it altogether, and of embodying such of its provisions as it might be desirable to retain in a new Act.

2. This Bill is in the main an extension to Oudh of the law regulating the Civil Courts in Bengal and the North-Western Provinces, namely, Act VI of 1871 (the Bengal Civil Courts Act, 1871), with certain modifications, which the circumstances of Oudh seem to require.

3. The chief points of variance between the Bill and the Bengal Civil Courts Act are—

1st.—The limitation of the original jurisdiction of Sub-Judges to suits in which the value of the subject-matter in dispute does not exceed 10,000 rupees.

2ndly.—The declaration of the finality of decisions or orders passed in appeal where the appellate order is in concurrence with that of the Court of first instance.

3rdly.—The allowance of a second appeal on the facts as well as on a point of law where the effect of the order or decision of the Appellate Court is to reverse or substantially modify the order or decision of the Court of first instance.

4thly.—The alteration of the course of first appeal where the value of the subject-matter of the suit exceeds 5,000 rupees, but does not exceed 10,000 rupees.

4. The reason for the first of these changes is the expediency of suits of great value and importance, and in regard to which an appeal lies as a matter of right to the Privy Council, being tried by the principal Court of original civil jurisdiction.

The second and third points of divergence from the provisions of the Bengal Courts Act comprise simply the maintenance of the principle of the existing law in Oudh in regard to appeals, which has not only worked well hitherto, but has been thought worthy of adoption to some extent for other Provinces.

The fourth change is the natural accompaniment of the first, as its effect is to bring all suits either in the original or appellate stage, where they reach the appellate stage, before the District Court.

5. Sections 23 to 25 of Act XXXII of 1871, giving the Judicial Commissioner power to refer cases to the High Court of the North-Western Provinces, and section 27 of that Act, conferring power to appoint an Additional Judicial Commissioner, have been omitted from the Bill; the former because it does not appear to be used; the latter because it is no longer necessary.

6. Section 21 of the Oudh Laws Act (XVIII of 1876), relating to the management of land attached by the Civil Courts, and section 28 of the same Act, which gives the Judicial Commissioner a power of revising the decisions of the Subordinate Courts, are repealed, because it is considered that these matters are sufficiently provided for by the Code of Civil Procedure.

[Third publication.]

The following Bill was introduced into the Council of the Governor General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 21st May, 1879, and was referred to a Select Committee:—

No. 7 of 1879.

A Bill to provide for the revision of proceedings in trials held under the Military Cantonments Act, 1864, section 20.

WHEREAS it is expedient to provide for the revision of the proceedings in trials held under the twentieth section of Act No. XXII of 1864 (to make provision for the Administration of Military Cantonments); It is hereby enacted as follows:—

1. For the last clause of the said section, the following shall be substituted (that is to say):—
New clause substituted in Act XXII of 1864, sec. 20.

“There shall be no appeal in any case tried under this section; but every person trying any such case shall, for the purposes of chapter XXII of the Code of Criminal Procedure, be deemed to be subordinate to the High Court, the Court of Session and the Magistrate of the District.”

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

IN a case tried some months ago by an officer specially invested, under section 20 of Act XXII of 1864, with power to try breaches of Cantonment rules, the Judges of the Chief Court of the Panjáb, to whom the officer's order was submitted for revision, expressed a doubt as to whether the twenty-second chapter of the Code of Criminal Procedure gave them any power of revision in such a case. They, at the same time, expressed an opinion to the effect that such a power ought to be provided. The Governor General in Council concurs as to the need of such a power, and the present Bill has been drafted to provide it.

GENERAL REMARKS.—In Madras rain has fallen in all the districts reported on; it has been excessive in the Malabar district, where the existing cultivation has been slightly injured, and sowing operations impeded; prospects are improving. Slight showers have fallen in Mysore, and heavy rain is reported in Coorg; the raikah paddy crop is being harvested in places; agricultural prospects are favourable. In the Bombay Presidency there has been moderate rain throughout the Deccan and the Southern Mahratta Country; ploughing operations are proceeding in all districts; cholera continues in Sind, Guzerat and Kattywar. Rain has fallen in almost all the districts of the Central Provinces; it has been very heavy in Nagpur and Seoni; prices are rising; preparations for khari sowings are going on. No rain fell in Rajputana. In Bengal the rain has been general; it was very heavy and rather excessive in Northern and Eastern Bengal, and especially at Jalpaiguri and Chittagong; the prospects of the standing crops have been generally improved, and rice cultivation is now going on. Very heavy rain has fallen in Assam, and injury to the aman paddy on low lands in Sibsagar is feared. In British Burma, public health remains generally good; cattle disease continues, and is bad in the Bassein district. On 30th May the monsoon was reported to have set in at Akab and apparently also at Rangoon. In the North-Western Provinces and Oudh there has been slight rain in all the districts, except at Agra where the heat is said to be intense; cholera is still prevalent in Kumaun, and is again on the increase in Agra and Meerut; ploughing for khari sowings has begun. No rain fell in the Punjab districts comprised in the return; prospects continue fair, and prices generally have a downward tendency. Cholera is reported from six districts. The general feature of the week is the prevalence of rain over the Central Provinces and Southern and North-Eastern India, especially in Bengal and Assam, the zone of rainfall extending also to the North-Western Provinces, but not to Rajputana or as yet to the Punjab.

The following Rules are to come into effect as Rules of the High Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal in its Original Civil Jurisdiction from the 16th day of June 1879:—

1. Unless otherwise ordered, suits and proceedings shall be entered in the proper cause list as follows:—

Suits instituted in this Court in its Ordinary Original Civil Jurisdiction, in its Testamentary and Intestate Jurisdiction, and its Matrimonial Jurisdiction, or in which a claim has been stated under Section 527 of Act X of 1877, after service of the summons to appear and answer; suits instituted in this Court in its Admiralty or Vice-Admiralty Jurisdiction, if in personam, after service of the citation to appear and defend, or, if in rem, after execution of the warrant of arrest; suits transferred to this Court under Section 13 of the Letters Patent, on the arrival of the record; suits in which a case has been stated under Section 517 of Act X of 1877, or in which a claim has been made under Section 332 or Section 335, or which stands for judgment upon an award, after the usual notice has been issued; suits which stand for further directions upon the report of a Judge, or an Officer, or other referee, on the requisition in writing of the Attorney for any party, or of any party acting in person; applications under Section 403, or Section 523, or Section 525, of Act X of 1877, after the usual notice has been issued; rules or alternative orders under Section 46 of the " Specific Relief Act, 1877," on the production of such rules or orders.

2 Two general cause lists shall be kept in the Registrar's Office, one headed " General list of causes," the other headed " General list of suits for liquidated claims."

3. Any suit in which the claim is only for a debt or liquidated demand in money may, on the requisition in writing of the Attorney of any party, or of any party acting in person, be entered in the list of suits for liquidated claims.

4. Any suit which has already been entered in the General list of causes, whether before or after these Rules come into operation, may, on like application, be transferred to the General list of suits for liquidated claims.

5. Suits entered in the General list of causes on or before the 23rd of June 1879, and on or after that day transferred to the General list of suits for liquidated claims, shall have priority over suits subsequently entered, and shall be entered in the order in which they stand in the General list of causes. In all other cases suits entered in or transferred to the General list of suits for liquidated claims shall be placed at the bottom of the list.

6. If a suit not being a suit only for a debt or liquidated demand in money be entered in the General list of suits for liquidated claims, the Judge may, in the application of any a Judge may, in Chambers, or the Judge party by summons, whether applied to by any at the trial may, for the purpose or not, order the suit party for the purpose or not, order the suit to be transferred to the General list of causes, and in either case may make such order as to costs and proceedings, other than those mentioned in Rules 3 and 4, shall be entered in the General list of causes.

7. All suits in Rules 3 and 4, shall be entered in the General list of causes.

8. When two Courts shall sit concurrently in the exercise of Ordinary Original Civil Jurisdiction, two peremptory lists of defended causes shall be prepared for every working day, and, unless otherwise ordered, one of the lists shall be supplied with cases from the General list of causes; the other with cases from the General list of suits for liquidated claims, and also, when necessary, from the General list of causes.

When only one Court shall sit in the exercise of Ordinary Original Civil Jurisdiction, one peremptory list of defended causes shall be prepared for every working day, and shall, unless otherwise ordered by a Judge, be supplied, first with cases from the General list of suits for liquidated claims and next with cases from the General list of causes.

10. From the supply of cases to be obtained for each of the peremptory lists under the last two preceding Rules, shall, unless otherwise ordered by a Judge, be excluded every case required by the 20th or 21st of these Rules to be placed in other lists.

11. Unless otherwise ordered by a Judge, every peremptory list of defended causes shall contain for each day not less than six cases from the General list of causes, or not less than twelve cases from the General list of suits for liquidated claims, or, if supplied partly from one list and partly from the other, not less than twelve cases.

12. Every rule or alternative order granted or made under Section 64 of the Specific Relief Act, 1877, shall be placed on the peremptory list of defended causes for the day mentioned in such rule or order.

13. Unless otherwise ordered, a commission to examine witnesses issued in a suit or proceeding shall, until the return or expiration of the time for such return, be placed on the peremptory list of such suit or proceeding.

14. No suit or proceeding, the hearing of which is stayed (a) by an injunction, or (b) until the performance of some act, or (c) by reason of a commission to examine witnesses having been issued, shall be placed on a peremptory list until after the dissolution of such injunction, or the performance of such act, or the return or expiration of the time for the return of such commission; unless in case (b) otherwise ordered by a Judge, or in case (c) otherwise ordered by a Judge or consented to by the parties.

15. Any suit or proceeding may, on the requisition in writing of the Attorneys for all the parties, or of the parties if acting in person, be omitted from the peremptory list: but in that case such suit or proceeding shall be transferred to the bottom of the general list on which it stands.

16. Except as provided in the last two preceding Rules, no suit or proceeding shall, unless otherwise ordered, be omitted from the peremptory list on which it ought to be placed.

17. When a case is ordered to be placed on a peremptory list out of its turn, it shall, unless otherwise ordered, be placed at the bottom of such peremptory list.

18. When a day is specially fixed for the hearing of a case, the day so fixed shall be noted in the margin of the general list in which it stands, and the case shall, unless otherwise specially ordered, be placed on the peremptory list for the day fixed for the hearing thereof, next after any part heard case in such list.

19. On motion day, two peremptory lists shall, unless otherwise ordered by a Judge, be prepared for each of those days, in addition to the daily peremptory lists of defended causes, one of which shall be numbered 1 and headed " Peremptory list of undefended causes," and the other of which shall be numbered 2 and headed " Special peremptory list."

20. Except as provided in Rule 21, every suit in the General list of causes, or in the General list of suits for liquidated claims, in which no appearance shall have been entered, and every application under Section 403 standing in either of such lists, shall, as regards such suit, be placed in the peremptory list of undefended causes for the first motion day after the expiration of the time allowed to the defendant for his appearance in Court, and shall, as regards such application, be placed in the peremptory list of undefended causes for the motion day mentioned in the notice issued by the Court.

21. Every suit in rem in the Admiralty or Vice-Admiralty Jurisdiction of the Court in which a first default shall have been pronounced, shall be placed on the top of the peremptory list of undefended causes for the day next after the expiration of two months from the return of the warrant of arrest, i.e., if such day shall be a motion day, otherwise on the top of the peremptory list of defended causes for the day.
 22. Every suit either in the General list of causes or in the Special peremptory list of causes, which stands for the settlement of issues, or in which a case has been stated under Section 517 or 527 of Act X of 1877, or in which a claim has been made under Section 332 or Section 335, or which stands for judgment upon an award, or for further directions on a report, and every application under Section 523 or Section 525 which stands in either of such general cause lists, shall be placed on the Special peremptory list.
 23. There shall also be kept in the Registrar's Office two general lists of appeals, one headed "List of appeals to the High Court," the other headed "List of appeals to the Privy Council."
 24. Every appeal from the Original Side of the Court, and every reference from the Calcutta Court of Small Causes, shall be entered in the General list of appeals to this Court.
 25. When a Bench is formed for the hearing of appeals from the Original Side, a peremptory list shall be prepared in which shall be entered, first such appeals from the Original Side as are ready for hearing, and next the references from the Calcutta Court of Small Causes in which the usual notice has been given to or waived by the parties.
 26. Unless otherwise ordered, such appeals from the Original Side as were not ready for hearing when the peremptory list of appeals was prepared, or were subsequently preferred, shall, when ready for hearing, either by the removal of any restriction to the hearing thereof or otherwise, be added to the cases on such peremptory list, at any time during the sitting of the Appellate Bench for the hearing of appeals from the Original Side.
 27. Every appeal to the Privy Council from a decision of the High Court in respect of a case on its Original Side shall, on the admission thereof, be entered in the list of appeals to the Privy Council. In such list shall be noted each stage of progress towards and up to the transmission of the record to England, as also the date on which the case is finally disposed of.

	...	strikers	985
Implements, action	...	40 to be supplied instead of	...

5. "Actions, parts of;—bodies," will not be issued with materials for repairing Martini-Henry carbines or rifles. The proportion of mainsprings and strikers issued with materials for repairing will be continued in addition to those mentioned in paragraphs 2 and 3.

6. The necessary alterations will be made in the Details of Equipment for Regiments of Cavalry and Infantry, War Establishment, issued with Army Circulars, dated respectively 1st January and 1st March 1878.

7. The object of the additions specified above is that in order to meet possible requirements for repairs to arms in the field when Armourer-Sergeants are not with their regiments, each Sergeant of Infantry and Cavalry should carry an "implement, action," a mainspring, and a spare striker, and that each Infantry soldier should carry a spare striker.

Clause 73.—Instructions for replacing in the field, mainsprings and strikers of Martini-Henry Carbines and Rifles.

1. The following instructions for replacing, in the field, in the absence of armourer's tools, strikers and mainsprings of Martini-Henry carbines and rifles, using for the purpose the bayonet, sword bayonet, or sword, and the implement, action, will be strictly adhered to.

For the Rifle.

2. Place the muzzle on the ground, and the butt underneath the right arm. With the drift of the implement knock out the block axis-pin by striking the top of the former with the inside flat face of the bayonet-blade, between the end of the groove and the socket.

For the Carbine.

6. These instructions will be considered as an addition to the Instructions for Armourers, issued with Clause 39, Army Circulars, 1878.

PROBATE AND ADMINISTRATION BILL.

The Hon'ble MR. STOKES moved for leave to introduce a Bill to provide for the grant of probates of wills and letters of administration to the estates of certain deceased persons. He said that, as the law of British India at this moment stood, there was, speaking generally, no means of conferring upon any one a complete and conclusive title as representative of the estate of a deceased Hindú, Muhammadan or Buddhist or other person exempt from the operation of the Indian Succession Act.

The Hindú Wills Act was at present limited in its operation to the Presidency-towns and Lower Bengal; and, even if the proposal to extend it to other parts of British India, now under consideration of the Local Governments, was carried out, it would still only apply to cases of testamentary succession among Hindús; and outside the Presidency-towns there would be no clear power to grant letters of administration in the case of Hindús, Muhammadans and Buddhists dying intestate.

The grant of a certificate under Act XXVII of 1860 made the person who had obtained it a representative only for certain very limited purposes; that was to say, for the recovery of debts, the receipt of interest and dividends on Government securities, bank-shares and shares in Public Companies, and the 'negotiation' of such securities and shares. And, though in the Bombay Presidency a certificate purporting to confer larger powers might be obtained under Regulation VIII of 1827, it was by no means clear what the status of the holder of such a certificate precisely was.

In the Presidency-towns probates of the wills and letters of administration to the estates of deceased Natives could be granted under the Supreme Court Charters in cases to which the Succession Act and the Hindú Wills Act did not apply; but the representative status conferred by such grants fell far short of that conferred by similar grants in the case of deceased European British subjects. Thus, in 1867, in Sharo Bibi v. Baldeo Dás, (1 Beng. Law Reports, Or. Jur. 24), the late Mr. Justice Norman held that a Hindú executor took nothing from any grant of the Court. "His title," said that learned Judge, "is founded solely and simply on the will of the testator, considered as an instrument of gift. Except for the purposes of evidence, the will of a Hindú does not require probate. . . . As against those who get the probate or oppose the grant of it, [it] is no doubt binding; as against parties cited it is evidence; but it has no greater effect than the ordinary decree in a Civil Court against persons who have no means of appearing in the suit or right to dispute the grant."

From this state of things much trouble and litigation at times resulted. The heirs might be very numerous; their interests might differ in degree; some of them might be minors or otherwise incapacitated; others might be residing at a distance; the titles of some might be disputed; the settlement of claims against the estate might thus be a matter of endless complication; the making of a satisfactory title to any portion of it which it might be necessary to sell might be impossible. Furthermore, a Native's will, not requiring to be proved, need not be deposited for safe custody. The resulting opportunities for forgery and fraudulent alteration were obvious. Nor could a Native executor be compelled to exhibit an inventory or account of his testator's estate except by the tedious, expensive and hazardous process of a lawsuit. The consequence (as Mr. Montrieu had observed in his note to In the goods of Bibi Muttra, Morton's Decisions, second edition, p. 262), was that, when the estate was too small to bear the costs of the suit, women, children and absentees had no adequate check on the executor, and at any distance of time it was difficult to fix him with the possession of moveable, and sometimes even of immoveable, property.

The necessity of devising some means of removing these difficulties was brought to the notice of the Government of India some time ago by Mr. Broughton, then Administrator General of Bengal, and now a Judge of the Calcutta High Court; and a Bill drafted by him was circulated for the opinions of local authorities. That Bill, while guarding against any interference with the succession laws of the Hindús, Muhammadans and Buddhists, went in effect to apply to them the provisions of the Indian Succession Act relating to probate and administration, and, amongst others, those provisions which make the grant of probate or letters of administration a condition precedent to the establishment of any right derived by succession from a deceased person.

The reports of the local authorities had now been received, and their purport might be briefly described by saying that, while there was a considerable body of opinion in favour of providing the means of obtaining probate of the will or letters of administration to the estate of any deceased person when those interested desired to do so, the proposal to insist on probate or letters of administration as essential in all cases had been generally condemned, as tending to impose upon a multitude of poor and ignorant people in cases where there was no difficulty or dispute an unnecessary amount of trouble and expense.

The Bill had been drawn on the lines thus indicated. It applied to the estates of all persons not at present governed by the Indian Succession Act the portions of that Act relating to the grant of probate and administration and the powers, duties and procedure of executors and administrators, omitting, however, those sections (187 and 190) which made it compulsory to obtain probate or administration. He (Mr. Stokes) believed that as soon as the Bill was understood by the people, its necessary effect in quieting titles and obviating litigation as to the ownership of property would induce them to avail themselves largely of its provisions. One result of this would be that they would voluntarily tax themselves to the same extent that all persons whose property was dealt with under the Succession Act or Hindú Wills Act were now taxed; that was to say, property covered by the grant and exceeding 1,000 rupees in amount or value would pay a Court-fee of two per cent., but property not exceeding that sum in amount or value would be exempt. People would thus voluntarily and usefully pay to the public treasury a part of the money which they now voluntarily and often uselessly spent in litigation, and the problem of levying a tax on successions to wealthy Natives' estates would thus, to some extent, be solved without hardship to the tax-payer or trouble to the Government.

The Motion was put and agreed to.

DISTRICT DELEGATES BILL.

The Hon'ble Mr. Stokes moved for leave to introduce a Bill to make further provision for the grant of probates of wills and letters of administration in non-contentious cases.

He said this was a sister measure to that which the Council had just given him leave to introduce. The Indian Succession Act as originally framed by the Law Commissioners empowered the District Judge to appoint judicial officers to act for him as delegates to grant probates and letters of administration in non-contentious cases, much in the same way as the District Registrars appointed under the Court of Probate Act, 1857, did in England; but the provisions relating to this matter were struck out of the Bill by the Select Committee, partly because they were thought unnecessary, and partly because it was feared that the power which was to be conferred on District Judges would give rise to abuse.

If, however, the Bill to provide for granting probate of the wills and administration to the estates of persons now exempted from the operation of the Indian Succession Act should become law, it was probable that the business of granting probate and administration would increase to such an extent that the District Judges would be unable to dispose of it without assistance.

The present Bill had accordingly been framed with a view to replacing in the Succession Act, with some slight modifications in point of form, the sections removed from it by the Select Committee; but, in order to avoid as far as possible the danger of abuse apprehended by the Select Committee, the power of appointing the delegates had been vested not in the District Judges, but in the High Courts, and its exercise had in the case of High Courts not established by Royal Charter been made subject to the previous sanction of the Local Government.

The Motion was put and agreed to.

BOMBAY INDEBTED AGRICULTURISTS RELIEF BILL.

The Hon'ble Mr. HOPE moved for leave to introduce a Bill for the relief of indebted agriculturists in certain parts of the Presidency of Bombay. He said:—"The Council are already aware that during the monsoon of 1875 agrarian outrages of a serious nature took place in certain districts of the Dekkhan forming a part of the Bombay Presidency; that a Commission, appointed by Government, reported very fully upon the causes of these outrages, and the remedial measures they thought desirable; that the Government of Bombay in April, 1877, before Sir Philip Wodehouse's departure, submitted their general views upon the question to the Government of India; and finally, that Sir Richard Temple's Government sent up in January 1878 the first definite proposals for meeting the case by legislation. The origin, nature and causes of the difficulty, and the various proposals for its removal, were explained so fully and clearly by my hon'ble friend Mr. Cockerell in his speech of the 20th June last, that it is not necessary for me to go over any part of the ground again, at least on the present occasion.

"The course of procedure at that time considered desirable was that some of the Bombay Government's proposals should be dealt with in this Council and others in that of Bombay. Leave to introduce Bills was accordingly granted by this Council to Mr. Cockerell on the date already mentioned, and by the Bombay Legislative Council to Mr. Ashburner on September 13th, 1878. It happened, however, that, during the discussion of the details of the measures thus decided on, a telegram from the Secretary of State was received on December 3rd, requesting that further definite action might be postponed pending the arrival of a despatch he was about to send. The despatch arrived towards the end of January last, and showed that the Secretary of State, while approving of the proposals of the Bombay Government, considered that they should be supplemented by further provisions for increasing the efficiency of the Courts of justice, and also that the subject could be better dealt with by one 'comprehensive measure' than by two passed in different legislatures.

"The Government of India, concurring in these views, and finding that, owing to various Acts passed in the Governor General's Council being affected, that Council alone was competent to enact one measure disposing of the whole subject, entrusted to me the duty of conferring with the Government of Bombay as to the provisions which such a measure should embrace, and of introducing into this Council the Bill as finally determined upon. I accordingly visited Bombay in April last, and the result was that a Bill was framed in full consultation with me, and proposed by the Government of Bombay to the Government of India for adoption. The Government of India have, I am glad to say, entirely accepted, in their executive capacity, the main principles and policy of this Bill, which are also, I believe, in conformity with the views of the Secretary of State. The two Bills for which leave has been already granted need not now, therefore, be proceeded with; and it remains for me to ask of this Council leave to introduce the new Bill, reserving all detailed explanations for the occasion of its introduction."

The Motion was passed and agreed to.

BENARES FAMILY DOMAINS BILL.

The Hon'ble MR. COLVIN moved for leave to introduce a Bill to amend Bengal Regulation VII of 1828. He said that the object of the Bill which he desired to introduce could be explained in a few words. A short time after the transfer of the sovereignty of Benares from the Nawáb of Oudh to the East India Company, an agreement was made with the Rájá of that time for the purpose of introducing into the Province of Benares the same system of judicial and revenue administration as had been established in 1793 in the Provinces of Bengal, Bihár and Orissa. By that agreement the entire administration of the Province of Benares was transferred, upon certain conditions, to the British Government, with the exception of a reservation which was made in favour of the Rájá in respect of one portion of it. The portion so excepted comprised the territories which were generally known as the Benares Family Domains. These Family Domains, which were the Mahárájá's private and personal property, consisted of three parganas—that of Kaswá Rájá in the District of Benares, held at ordinary or full zamíndári rates, and of two parganas, Bhadohi and Khera Mángror, in the District of Mirzapur, the first of which was held at half-revenue rates, and the second free of all revenue. Their total area was, in round figures, 1,000 square miles; the population about 400,000, and the revenue paid for them nearly three lákhs of rupees. When the administration of the rest of the Province was transferred, the decision of causes relating to the revenue and of certain other claims arising out of land in these parganas was reserved to the Rájá, subject to the supervision and control of the Collector. The special stipulation contained in the agreement on this subject ran as follows:—

"In case of complaints relative to revenue causes or charity ground, &c., being preferred to the Huzoor (i. e., the English Government) by any parties residing within the jagheer and altungah, &c., the personal or private lands of Rajah Muheep Narain Singh, the inquiry thereinto shall be made in like manner as such cases were amicably conducted between Mr. Duncan and the Rajah; that is, that since the gentleman holding the station of Collector will have more concern with such matters than the other gentlemen, the rule shall be that, with the privity and ascertainment of the said Collector (who is to have regard to the honour and dignity of the said Rajah), such causes are to be settled through the channel of the said Rajah, or of the officers of the said Rajah's cutcherry; it being at the same time understood and provided that, as it is a duty incumbent on the Hon'ble Company's Government to distribute and ensure the attainment of justice to all the inhabitants of Benares, should it so happen that, after referring such complaints to the Rajah or to his officers in the cutcherry, the contentment of the parties complaining and aggrieved shall not be obtained, the Rajah shall relative to the adjustment of such causes listen to and approve of the suggestions and advice of the Collector, in like manner as hath been practised in the time of Mr. Duncan. And it is also incumbent on the said Collector, in all proper and just cases, to show the utmost attention possible to the Rajah's accommodation, and to hold in view the maintenance of his honour and dignity, such being entirely consistent with the wishes of Government; and if (which God forbid!) any such subject should arise as cannot be settled between the said Collector and the Rajah aforesaid, the decision in such case shall depend on the Governor General in Council."

It was evident that the success of such an agreement as this depended largely upon the mutual good-will and forbearance of the parties who carried it out. It was possible—in the commencement of our rule, and with Agents like Mr. Duncan, who possessed great influence and popularity—that such a plan may for a time have worked successfully; but it was easy to predict that powers and duties which were so vaguely defined must either soon fall into disuse and be neglected, or, if the attempt to maintain them in force were prolonged, that the first serious difference of opinion would bring their working to a dead lock. It appears, from the history of the experiment, that it was the first of these two probable causes of failure which was fatal to it. It was found, after a very short experience, that the conditions of the agreement were quite insufficient to protect the subjects of the Rájá from oppression. Some time elapsed before any effective measures were taken for their protection; but the complaints of this oppression became at last so loud and numerous, that in 1826 the Governor General appointed Mr. Wilberforce Bird as a Special Commissioner to enquire into the causes of the great and general dissatisfaction. The result of that enquiry was to show that many gross acts of injustice had been committed, that the supposed Courts of justice were mere engines of extortion and oppression, and that the power of appeal to the Collector and the Governor General had been of no effect whatever in checking these evils.

In order to remedy the state of affairs thus disclosed, a law was passed. That law was Regulation VII of 1828, which it was now proposed to amend. The Regulation did not differ in substance from the agreement made in 1794; but it laid down more precise and definite rules for giving effect to that agreement. It directed a settlement and record of rights to be made in the Benares Family Domains. Further, within those territories, it conferred on the Rájá the powers of a Collector in respect of certain revenue matters; it provided for the appointment of Native Commissioners to determine suits relating to land or the proceeds of land; and it placed both these Commissioners and the Rájá in the exercise of his powers as Collector under the control of an officer styled the Superintendent, who was himself made directly subordinate to the Governor General in Council.

The Regulation of which he had just given an outline was still in force, and during the last fifty years no change had been made in it. During that time, however, great changes had taken place in the general administration of the country. The law had become more full and exact, and its operation more certain; procedure had been far more minutely and carefully regulated, and superior authorities had been multiplied. The attention of these higher authorities had also, of necessity, been more and more withdrawn from matters of detail and directed to matters of greater importance. In order to adapt the revenue system of the Family Domains to the changes which were thus going on in other branches of the administration, various alterations had from time to time been made in the manner of complying with the provisions of Regulation VII of 1828. In all such alterations the intentions of the Regulation and the terms of the agreement of 1794 had been scrupulously respected. On this point he believed there had never been any just ground of complaint. It might be, however, that the precise letter of the law had not always been strictly observed. It was necessary now to bring the law and the existing practice into accordance. But, as any such deviations from the letter of the law (if they had occurred) had been compelled by circumstances, it had been thought better to alter the law so as to adapt it to existing requirements than to attempt to make the facts comply with the obsolete provisions of the law.

Besides this, there was another reason for the proposed legislation regarding the Benares Family Domains to which it was necessary to advert. About five years ago the two Acts known as the Scheduled Districts Act and the Laws Local Extent Act were passed. Their object, as the Council were aware, was to define precisely and declare the laws which applied to certain parts of British India which were known as Non-Regulation Districts. Now, the Benares Family Domains had come under the operation of those Acts on account of the special nature of their revenue administration, which excluded from them a great deal of the Revenue law that was generally applicable to the North-Western Provinces, and caused a distinction between them and the districts by which they were surrounded. His Highness the present Maharájá, however, was very anxious that his Family Domains should be withdrawn from their operation. He was apprehensive apparently that some day, under the powers conferred by those Acts, the Revenue law which was generally in force in the North-Western Provinces might be extended to his estate. /

Nothing of the sort had been done, and he felt sure that nothing of the sort had ever been intended. But the possibility of such a thing was a cause of uneasiness to His Highness; and it had been suggested that any such apprehensions might be removed, without sacrificing the objects which the two Acts that he had mentioned were intended to accomplish, if opportunity were taken, when amending Regulation VII of 1828, to declare in the amending Act what laws were applicable to the Benares Family Domains.

These, then, were the two main objects of the Bill. First, to alter the provisions of Regulation VII of 1828 so as to adapt it to the present state of affairs without making any important change in the practice of the last fifty years. Secondly, to ascertain and declare the laws which were applicable to the Maharájá's private estate.

MR. COLVIN hoped that this explanation would be sufficient to show the general grounds upon which further legislation in respect to Regulation VII of 1828 was required. If the leave to introduce a Bill which he was then asking for were given by the Council, he would, on a future occasion, notice more particularly the points on which it was proposed to amend the present law.

The Motion was put and agreed to.

RELIGIOUS CONGREGATIONS BILL.

The Hon'ble MR. STOKES moved for leave to introduce a Bill to provide for the holding of property by certain Religious Congregations. He said that Mr. Chapman and other members of the Simla Union Church, so far back as the year 1873, drew the attention of Government to the hardship under which they laboured in being unable, without constantly recurring trouble and expense, to keep up a permanent and effective body of trustees to whom to commit the property of the Church. The Secretary to the Calcutta Missionary Conference about the same time made a similar representation to Government; and there were probably other bodies associated for religious purposes in India who experienced like difficulties.

The present Bill was drawn on the lines of 13 & 14 Vic., c. 28 (commonly known as Peto's Act), which was passed to meet a similar difficulty felt by Religious Societies in England. It differed from that Statute, however, first in applying only to Religious Congregations and not to Societies formed for purposes of education (which seemed sufficiently provided for by our Act XXI of 1860); and secondly, in providing for the case of moveable as well as immoveable property.

The Bill simply declared that, if property of certain specified descriptions was conveyed to trustees in trust for any Religious Congregation, and no special provision was made for the appointment of new trustees, new trustees might be appointed in such manner as that Congregation might determine; and further, that on the appointment of new trustees, whether in exercise of the powers thus conferred or otherwise, the property should vest in them without any further conveyance.

Hindús, Muhammadans and Buddhists were excepted from the provisions of the Bill, as it was thought undesirable to interfere with the laws regulating their religious endowments.

The Motion was put and agreed to.

LEGAL PRACTITIONERS BILL.

The Hon'ble MR. STOKES moved that the Hon'ble Sir Alexander Arbuthnot be added to the Select Committee on the Bill to consolidate and amend the law relating to legal practitioners.

The Motion was put and agreed to.

The Council adjourned to Thursday, the 26th June, 1879.

SIMLA;

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

REPORTS ON THE STATE OF THE SEASON AND PROSPECTS OF THE CROPS FOR THE WEEK ENDING THE 10th JUNE 1879.

GENERAL REMARKS—In Madras general prospects are fair except in the north-east part of Tinnevely, where the crops have failed. Rain has fallen throughout the province of Mysore and the outlook is hopeful; the later crops of paddy are being harvested and ploughing operations continue; prices have risen slightly. In the Bombay Presidency there have been showers in the Deccan and Southern Mahratta Country, but the monsoon is not yet established; agricultural operations are progressing; cholera prevails to a great extent in Sind and slightly in Guzerat. In the Central Provinces good rain has fallen in the districts of Raipur, Balaghat, Mandla, Betul and Chanda and there have been light showers in five other districts; ploughing for the khari sowings is going on and rice and cotton sowings have commenced in places; prices are rising. Cotton sowing has begun in Berar. With the exception of 3 stations more or less rain has fallen throughout Central India. Rain fell in parts of Rajputana and there were said to be signs of the approach of the monsoon. In Bengal rain has fallen in most districts; in Eastern and Central Bengal it is generally adequate for present agricultural purposes, but in Orissa, Western Bengal, Chota Nagpore and Behar it is still insufficient; some damage has been caused by floods in Dacca and Furreedpore and in parts of Northern Bengal the fall of rain has been somewhat excessive and a break is needed. Rain continues to fall in Assam, and the asu crop on low lands has been slightly injured by inundation. In British Burma no rain is shewn as having fallen during the week but other reports indicate continued showers at Akyab and Rangoon; ploughing has commenced and public health is generally good; cattle-disease prevails in four districts. In the North-Western Provinces and Oudh light rain fell over the whole of the Province in the early part of the week, but westerly winds have again set in; cholera continues in Kumaun, Meerut and Agra, and a few cases are reported from Lucknow; ploughing has followed the rain that fell in Bareilly. In the Punjab rain has fallen in 9 of the 11 districts mentioned in the report; prospects generally are favourable.

The 31st May 1879.

Hitherto it has been the practice to affix postage stamps to parcels which the sender desires to prepay, but serious inconvenience has been found to arise from the stamps so affixed adhering imperfectly to the cloth, wax-cloth, tin, or other materials commonly used by the public for covering parcels. Fraud has also been found to result from the re-use of stamps which have become detached from the parcels to which they were affixed.

With effect from the 1st July 1879, prepayment of parcel postage may be made only in cash tendered with the parcel at the Post Office window within the prescribed hours.

Receipts will be given to the senders for all parcels tendered at the window during the prescribed hours, whether prepaid in cash or unpaid, the amount of prepayment, if any, being specified on the receipt.

This order applies to all parcels (inland, overland, insured, or value-payable), except those sent on the public service, which, if prepaid, must as heretofore be prepaid with service stamps.

A. M. MONTEATH,
Dir. Genl. of the Post Office of India.

The 29th May 1879.

The public are informed that, with effect from the 1st July 1879, the rules appertaining to value-payable parcels (see Postal Guide of 1st April 1879, page 14), will be applicable to registered book packets: that is, the sender of a registered book packet may, at the time of posting it, declare the value of the contents for realization from the addressee and payment to him.

E. R. DOUGLAS,
Asst. Dir. Genl. of the Post Office of India.

ADMINISTRATION REPORT OF THE INDO-EUROPEAN TELEGRAPH DEPARTMENT FOR THE YEAR 1877-78.

Nos. 138-45 T, dated Simla, May 5th, 1879.

Read—

Letter from the Director-in-Chief, Indo-European Telegraph Department, No. 1279, dated 1st September 1878, submitting the above report and enclosures.

OBSERVATIONS.—The year 1877-78 appears to have been one of remarkable commercial depression, and consequent diminution of telegraphic traffic. The Russo-Turkish war, and especially the long-continued interruption caused by the Turkish raid on Sookhoom Kaleh, materially affected the prosperity of the lines worked by this Department.

2. The interruption at Sookhoom Kaleh was overcome by the erection of an alternative line between Ekaterinodar and Tiflis. The break occurred beyond the limits of the Indo-European Telegraph Department's lines; but that Department shared in the cost incurred in renewing communication.

3. Capital.—The capital account at the close of the year is stated to stand approximately at £1,153,751-15.

4. Revenue.—The earnings have fallen off by £25,000, and amount to £40,196-18-3; while the working expenses amounted to £80,379-14-3; showing a net loss of £40,182-16.

5. The working expenses of the year were swelled by the debit of £3,600 on account of three annual royalties due to the Government of Persia, which have been placed to the credit of a suspense account. The claims of the Telegraph Department against the Government of Persia will be referred to the Foreign Department for consideration.

6. Line maintenance and repairs.—The lines worked by the Department consisted at the close of the year of 1,716 nautical miles of cable, and 1,468 statute miles of land-line, carrying 2,936 miles of wire; the maintenance and repairs have been efficiently carried on.

7. Interruptions.—The interruptions causing stoppage in traffic amounted on the Persian Section to a total interval of 3 days 5 hours and 55 minutes, and on the Persian Gulf Section to 4 hours; in the previous year the total interruptions on the Persian Section lasted only for 20 hours. The large increase now shown is partly attributable to the severity of the winter. The interruptions on the Company's lines in connection with this system amounted to 129 days 19 hours and 30 minutes, but of this 126 days 9 hours and 35 minutes were due to the stoppage at Sookhoun Kaleh mentioned above.

8. Traffic.—This has naturally fallen off considerably under the adverse circumstances detailed; but owing to the increased employment of the Turkish route, the diminution in traffic was less than it otherwise would have been. The improvement shown in speed and accuracy of transmission of messages is noted with satisfaction by the Government of India.

9. Inspections, Buildings and Stores.—The condition of the Telegraph buildings along the Mekran coast and at Karachee, as described in paragraphs 55, 57, 59 and 60, will be brought to the notice of the Government of Bombay for consideration.

10. The Government of India notices with satisfaction the cordial relations subsisting between Major Smith and the Persian authorities, and is pleased to record its appreciation of the services of the officers brought to notice in the 81st paragraph of the report.

11. The exceptionally heavy loss (£40,000 + interest on capital) at which these Telegraph lines have been worked during the year under review is to be regretted, but they are maintained quite as much for political and administrative as for commercial purposes: and there are indications that future reports will show a far more satisfactory balance sheet.

12. The figures given in this report differ considerably from those entered in the annual accounts received from the Examiner of Telegraph Accounts. The discrepancies are due to the report including all outstanding assets and liabilities relating to the year under review, while the statements from the Examiner of Accounts deal only with actual cash receipts and disbursements. An explanation of the differences has been called for and furnished; but the delay in obtaining it has prevented the publication of the report in time to be of practical value; and for the future, to obviate such delays, the requisite explanation should be submitted with the report.

ORDER.—Ordered, that a copy of this Resolution be forwarded to the Director-in-Chief, Indo-European Telegraph Department, for information and guidance.

Also, that copies of the Report and Resolution be forwarded to the Financial, Marine, and Revenue, Agriculture and Commerce Departments for information.

To the Government of Bombay, in the Public Works Department, for information and with special reference to paragraph 9 of the Resolution.

To the Foreign Department, with reference to paragraphs 5 and 10 of the Resolution, and paragraphs 14, 15 and 50 to 52 of the Report.

To the Home Department for information.

To the Director General of Telegraphs for information.

To the Publisher of the Gazette of India for publication in the Supplement to the Gazette.

Ordered further, that the Report and Resolution be forwarded to Secretary of State for the information of Her Majesty's Government.

G. F. L. MARSHALL, Captain, R.E.,
Asst. Secretary to the Government of India.

No. 1279, dated 1st September 1878.

From—Major J. U. BATEMAN-CHAMPAIN, R.E., Director-in-Chief, Indo-European Government Telegraph Dept.,

To—The Secretary to the Government of India, Public Works Department.

I have the honor to lay before the Government of India the following statement of the administration of this Department for the year ending the 31st March 1878, a year of remarkable commercial depression and consequent diminution of telegraphic traffic generally.

2. The effect of the Russo-Turkish war, which may be said to have continued throughout the 12 months under report, was peculiarly felt by the Indo-European Company and by this Department; not only because of the actual interruption of the wire during the Turkish raid on Soukhoum Kaleh, but also on account of the natural disinclination of the public to direct their messages across Russia, at a time when the relations between that empire and our own appeared so strained and unsatisfactory. In the summer of 1877 such was the falling off of the traffic that the bankruptcy of the Indo-European Company seemed imminent, and it was only averted by extraordinary measures which I will briefly mention here, but which will be touched on more circumstantially further on. One was the consent of the Most Hon'ble the Secretary of State to aid in the construction of an alternative line near Soukhoum Kaleh by handing over to the Company half of our international cable receipts for the first two months after the re-establishment of communication. The other was the coalition of the Indo-European Company and the Eastern Company on the system now known 'as the joint purse'. The causes of the almost overwhelming embarrassments of the Company's finances were quite as seriously felt by this Department, and necessitated our taking a very important step which places us on a new footing offering greatly improved financial prospects. I refer to our having accepted the invitation to join the Companies' joint purse from the 1st April 1878. The negotiations leading up to this arrangement were carried on under the authority of the Most Hon'ble the Secretary of State towards the end of the official year 1877-78, and have no doubt been fully reported to the Government of India. I hope I may say with truth that, under the very trying and difficult circumstances of the past year, I have done all that lay in my power to combat the effects of exceptional disasters entirely beyond our control, and to diminish the consequences of similar events in the future.

3. On the 18th September 1877, I informed you that the Eastern and Indo-European Companies had arranged between them a joint purse on a plan which, by leaving out my Department, appeared to threaten our interests in an alarming degree, and soon afterwards I obtained leave from the India Office to proceed to Constantinople to concert, if possible, some arrangement for protecting ourselves by bringing into more general use the Turkish wires to Fao. The Managers of the Eastern Company had also turned their attention to this line, and I was fearful that should the concession to work it fall into their hands, our Gulf cables would be completely at the mercy of the coalition. I was, in fact, followed to Constantinople by some of these gentlemen, but by the time they arrived I had secured a promise that the concession should on no account be given to a private Company, and I had drawn up an agreement having for its object the better working of the through line from London to Vienna, Constantinople and Fao. My offer to take over the through Turkish line on behalf of the Indian Government was politely declined by the Turkish Director General of Telegraphs, who asserted his own ability to re-organize and improve the working. From time to time I submitted many circumstantial reports to the India Office explaining my action at Constantinople and at Vienna, whither I proceeded before returning to London. The subsequent advance of the Russians towards Constantinople put an end to our efforts to ameliorate the defective correspondence between London and Constantinople; and indeed for some time the latter city was completely cut off from Europe, the telegrams passing of necessity via Fao to Bombay and westward again by the Red Sea. The state of South Eastern Europe is still extremely unsettled, but the Turkish line to India will doubtless claim our attention again before long.

4. Some time after my return, I received the invitation (to which I referred above) from the two Companies—the Eastern and the Indo-European—that this Department should take part in the joint purse. I laid the case before the Secretary of State, and I also submitted a preliminary report explanatory of the matter to the Government of India. The latter is numbered 1034, and dated the 25th January 1878. Eventually I received authority from the India Office to accept the invitation, and after many meetings with Sir James Anderson and Mr. Andrews, I signed on behalf of the Government, Indo-European Department, an agreement which ensures to us for the future a share of the total traffic, at least equal to anything we have enjoyed in past years and with a reasonable prospect of a steady increase. A spare copy of the agreement is attached to this report, together with an explanatory confidential memorandum prepared with great care and ability by Mr. Brasher, who rendered me most indefatigable and valuable assistance throughout these rather intricate transactions. Writing as I now am some months after the establishment of the new system, I am able to report that our receipts have again reached their normal figure, and should peace be secured and mercantile confidence restored, the Departmental returns of future years will surely present a bright contrast to those of 1877-78.

5. The observations which I have to submit will be arranged as in last year's report in the following order :—

CAPITAL AND REVENUE.

6. The preliminary departmental accounts prepared by Mr. Brasher are attached as Appendices A and B.

CAPITAL.

7. At the commencement of 1877-78, the finally adjusted Capital Account stood at £1,158,188-1-10; the figures given in last year's report were, as has been explained, necessarily only approximate. Subsequent corrections alter the amount there entered (as £1,154,493-7-6) to that now given. Similarly the £1,153,751-15-0 below will no doubt be susceptible of modification.

8. The expenditure during the year was £751-11-4, and the receipts with sundry book adjustments, amounted to £ 5,187-18-2.

9. The Capital Account therefore at the close of the year, subject to final adjustment, stood at £1,153,751-15-0, or at rather less than at the commencement.

10. The small amount expended consisted of credits to the Public Works Department. The receipts were composed of an instalment from the Indo-European Company towards the liquidation of the Persian debt for telegraph material. Two recoveries from the Persian Government under Article I of the Anglo-Persian treaty of 1872, and various credits to the Department from suspense accounts.

REVENUE.

11. The following is a summary of the preliminary Revenue Account :—

Dr.	£	s.	d.		£	s.	d.	Cr.
Traffic earnings ...	39,196	5	10	Ordinary expenditure ...	71,543	5	7
Miscellaneous receipts ...	1,000	12	5	Extraordinary ...	2,334	10	11
Excess of total expenditure over receipts	40,182	16	0	Debits on account of previous years ...	6,501	17	9
	80,379	14	3					80,379 14 3

12. The earnings compared with those of the previous year show a falling off of about £25,000 chiefly due to the interruption of the Indo-European line for more than three months, owing to the destruction of the Company's Soukhoum Kaleh Section in the course of the Russo-Turkish war. Allusion has already been made to this interruption and to other causes which contributed to diminish our receipts. They will be again treated of under the head 'Traffic.'

13. The total amount brought to debit under the head of Expenditure in 1877-78 is £80,379-14-3, showing an increase of about £8,000 when compared with the expenditure of 1876-77.

14. The increase, however, will be found when analysed to be more apparent than real, the bulk of it being outlay or liabilities incurred in previous years, and brought to debit for the first time in 1877-78. Thus it includes £3,600 made up of three annual royalties of £1,200 payable to Persia under the 1868 treaty, in 1875, 1876 and 1877 for right of way for Gwadar-Jask line, but withheld by our minister at Teheran as a partial set off to our claims against the Persian Government for message money collected for us but not paid to us.

15. The royalties thus withheld and brought to the debit of the Persian Gulf line in a lump sum in 1877-78 have been placed to the credit of a suspense account, pending the sanction of Government to definitely appropriate them in part liquidation of our traffic claims.

16. The increase also includes £1,549 for advertising and agency charges incurred in 1875-76 and 1876-77, the account for which, though often applied for, was not submitted by the Indo-European Telegraph Company in time to be included in the reports for the years to which the sums relate.

17. Finally, the increase comprises the extraordinary item of £2,334 paid to the Indo-European Company under the authority of the Secretary of State as mentioned in paragraph 11 of this report. This sum represents half the earnings of the Kurrachee-Bushire cable during the two months immediately following the completion of the loop line near Soukhoum Kaleh. Our Persian and Gulf Sections were paralysed by the disaster to the main feeder of our system. The Company was in a well nigh desperate condition, and although most anxious to erect the required alternative link between Tiflis and Ekaterinodar had great difficulty in finding the means. Under the peculiar circumstances, the Secretary of State consented to the earnest request of the Company that a part of the estimated outlay of about £10,000 should be borne under certain conditions by this Department. The alternative link was consequently completed and open for traffic by the 23rd August 1877, while the original Soukhoum Kaleh Section could not be repaired until the 16th January 1878.

LINE'S MAINTENANCE AND REPAIRS.

Persia.

18. The line of three wires having been completed with iron standards for some time, and the full number of control stations having been established, no new works were undertaken during 1877-78.

PERSIAN GULF.

19. The transfer in November of the Telegraph Station from the Town of Bushire to a site 6 miles distant from the city walls, necessitated a corresponding removal of the heavy shore ends of cable to Reshire in the neighbourhood of the new Offices. In this removal about 40 miles of cable were expended and 55 miles picked up; the alteration had thus the effect of shortening the line by between 15 and 16 miles. The following table exhibits the reduction in the length of the different sections:—

SECTION.				Present length, 1877-78.	Length in 1876-77.
Gutta-percha cables—
Kurrachee-Manora 3 cables	18	18
Manora-Gwadur	271	271
Gwadur-Jask	272	272
Jask-Henjam	143	143
Henjam-Bushire	361	369
Bushire-Fao	153	156
				1,218	1,229
India-rubber cable—
Jask-Bushire	498	503
				1,716	1,732

20. The Mckran land lines were also somewhat reduced in length by a change in their direction near Charbar, and by a correction in the measurement of several of the sections. Actual survey shows that the distances hitherto recorded were somewhat inexact. The corrected length of the line from Kurrachee to Jask is, line 676, wire 1,352.

21. At the end of 1877-78 the lines worked by the Department were therefore as follows:—

				Cable.	Land-line.	Wire.
				Nautical miles.	Statute miles.
Persian Gulf Telegraph—
Submarine line	1,716		1,716
Land line	676	1,352
Persian Telegraphs	792	1,584

22. Appendices C, C1, C2 and D show the renewals of the shore ends of the different sections, the total cable expended during the year, and the state of the insulation of the submarine lines at the close of the year.

23. The state of the insulation at the close of the year was not materially different from that recorded in 1876-77 and may be considered as on the whole satisfactory. The faults which exist in the different sections do not interfere with the working of the line, and considering the age of the cable we cannot anticipate that it will ever again be quite free from leakage.

24. The iron-guards which give the mechanical strength to the cable have been found during the past year to have been much weakened in some places, while in others they are quite good. This is only what may be fairly expected after a submersion of 14 years. It may be anticipated that in a few years' time extensive renewals of the iron covering will be necessary in certain localities, but it is possible that a small addition to our covering machine lately erected at Kurrachee will enable us to execute the requisite repairs at not very great cost. I am not however able to speak with certainty on this matter as yet, but I intend to institute enquiries shortly.

25. The experiment was tried during the year of connecting the cable ends at Bushire, Henjam and Gwadur with the Telegraph Offices by means of short lengths of land line insulated by Johnson and Phillips' fluid insulators. The results obtained were so far satisfactory.

26. An improved arrangement for increasing the clearness and speed of Morse signals, proposed and carried out by Mr. Trimmer of the Persian Gulf Establishment, was also adopted on the cables with success.

INTERRUPTIONS.

Persia.

27. The interruptions on the Teheran-Bushire Section were as follows:—

Partial.				Total.
Not stopping traffic.				Stopping traffic.
1 wire broken, or		2 wires broken or		3 wires broken.
2 in contact.		3 wires in contact.
H.	M.	H.	M.	H.	M.
535	37	75	36	77	55

28. In the previous year, which was an exceptionally good one, the total interruptions amounted to 20 hours only. The higher aggregate in 1877-78 is attributed by Major Smith chiefly to the unusual severity of the winter, but also to some extent to the cracking of many of the cast-iron sockets of the standards, the cause of which he is still somewhat at a loss to explain. He is, however, inclined to think that it may be due to rapid violent changes of temperature accompanied by strong vibrations during high winds acting on minute flaws in the casting. As a remedial measure whenever the slightest crack is discovered, wrought-iron clamps are immediately applied to the throats of the sockets.

29. Cases of wilful damage which in my previous report I had the satisfaction to state were diminishing in number showed, I am happy to say, a further decrease in 1877-78. Twenty-five posts only were perforated during the year as compared with 45 in 1876-77 and 88 in 1875-76. The decrease is to be ascribed to the precautions taken in various ways by ourselves and to the stronger measures of repression adopted by the Persian authorities owing to our frequent remonstrances.

30. Appendices E and EI give the details of the interruptions of every description which occurred in Persia in 1877-78.

PERSIAN GULF.

31. The following is a summary of the interruptions between Fão and Kurrachee, Appendices C I, D and F :—

	PARTIAL.		TOTAL.
	Of either cable or land line separately, not stopping traffic.		Of both cable and land line simultaneously, stopping traffic.
	II.	M.	II.
Total on cables	928 48	...
Total on the Mekran Coast line	375 30	4
	1,304	18	4

32. Of the foregoing interruptions, those on the cables between Kurrachee and Bushire were not quite so numerous as in 1876-77, and their aggregate duration was somewhat less. They were almost entirely caused by the decay of the iron guards outside the cable, leaving the core unprotected. The interruptions on the Fão-Bushire Section were due to two faults consisting of a bad joint and a small hole in the gutta-percha; the first occurred on the 30th July, but did not stop the traffic until the occurrence of the second on 21st October. The section was then interrupted until 26th October, when the faults or one of them partially sealed up until the 2nd November, on which date it again declared itself, and communication was interrupted from the latter date to the 17th November, when both faults were repaired. Full details respecting the faults and their repairs are given in Appendices C I and D.

33. The ordinary interruptions on the Mekran Coast land line were of somewhat greater aggregate duration than those of the previous year. Mr. Finch reports that they were due to hurricanes and unusually heavy rains. He is giving his best attention to the strengthening of the line wherever necessary or desirable and to the improvement of the insulation.

INDO-EUROPEAN COMPANY'S SECTION.

34. The interruptions hitherto spoken of in this division of the report were due to ordinary wear and tear, storms, rains, &c. But in addition to these, as mentioned in paras. 2, 12, and 17, there was the disastrous interruption of the Company's Black Sea Coast Section caused by the Turkish attack on Soukhouna Kaleh Station. This was of incomparably greater magnitude than all the others taken together. It occurred on the 10th May 1877, when the line at Soukhouna Kaleh and in its neighbourhood was completely destroyed. The break continued till the 23rd August, the date of the opening of the alternative link between Ekaterinodar and Tiflis. This lamentable interruption lasted therefore upwards of 3½ months. The length of the new Ekaterinodar-Tiflis Section is 513 miles, and its erection in so short a space of time is very creditable to the Company, especially when it is considered that the whole of the materials had to be obtained from England and conveyed across the entire length of the Russian railway system, at that time heavily encumbered with materials of war.

35. The sum of the total interruptions to traffic on the Indo-European route in 1877-78 therefore amounted to—

D. H. M.
126 9 35	on Indo-European Company's Section.
3 6 55	on the Teheran-Bushire Section.
0 4 0	on the Persian Gulf Section.

Total ... 129 19 30 See Appendix F 1.

36. On the Turkish route the total interruptions of traffic amounted to 13 days, 21 hours, 51 minutes, Appendix F 2.

TRAFFIC.

37. With our principal route interrupted upwards of one-third of the working year, mainly from circumstances beyond our control, a heavy loss in our earnings was inevitable. It is true that the Russians placed their crown wires at the service of the Company for one or more hours every night after the Soukhoum-Kaleh Section had been destroyed, and that the Company so far availed itself of the offer as to use the wires for the transmission of the weekly "Times" messages, so that our contract with that paper was preserved, but the communication was obviously of too limited and precarious a nature to be made use of for private traffic. Accordingly with the exception of an occasional message at first none were directed by this route.

38. Besides the direct loss of revenue caused by the war, there was the further indirect loss occasioned by the slowness with which our former customers returned to us after communication with India had been re-established by the Ekaterinodar loop. Their confidence in the Teheran route had been seriously shaken, not only by the long interruption but by the continuance of the war, and they saw that the new loop line was subject to more frequent breaks than the old section. They had moreover become so accustomed to employ the route via Suez that, previous to the close of the financial year, scarcely more than one-half of our usual supporters had restored to us their business.

39. In addition to this, the common purse arrangement was concluded between the Eastern and Indo-European Companies in the summer, and came into force on the 1st September, and it had, it may be presumed, some effect in diminishing our revenue, as by the agreement the greater the proportion of messages transmitted via Suez the greater became the contents of the common purse which the Associated Companies had to divide.

40. These causes, viz., the war, the slow return of our customers, and the Companies' common purse in which the Department had no share, and finally the general depression of trade from which a telegraph line depending for its revenue chiefly upon commercial messages is one of the first enterprises to suffer, I think fully explain the serious loss of earnings shown in the Revenue Account.

41. The war which diminished our receipts so much via Teheran gave us on the other hand a small amount of revenue via Fão. The line from Constantinople to Fão, Kurrachee, Bombay and Suez was during the months of February and March if not the only means of telegraphic communication between Turkey and Europe, certainly the most rapid and reliable, and was employed freely during the time to which I refer by Her Majesty's Government. The Persian Gulf revenue from these exceptional messages thus transmitted was about £ 1,198.

42. The following is a synopsis of the traffic conveyed by the Persian Gulf cables during the year:—

MESSAGES.			Words.
Commercial and private.	Government.	Total.
28,048	1,315	29,363	601,523
Paid press messages for the "Times"	53	43,448
Unpaid Government news messages for Bushire	569	40,772

43. The corresponding statistics for 1876-77 are—

MESSAGES.			Words.
Commercial and private.	Government.	Total.
43,709	1,496	42,205	883,913
Paid press messages for "Times"	51	36,056
Unpaid Government news messages for Bushire	432	26,668

44. The traffic transmitted by the Department was conveyed in the proportion of 79·97 per cent. by the Teheran route and 20·03 by the Turkish route.

45. The average rate of transmission for the year from England to Calcutta via Teheran was 3·19 per message, but if the months of May, June, July and August which contained traffic delayed by the Russian crown lines be excluded, the average would be 1·10 per message as compared with 1·19 via Suez.

46. The co-operation of the section under my charge towards this unprecedented average was as follows:—

Section, Teheran-Bushire	7 minutes per message.
" Bushire-Kurrachee	15 " " "
Appendices G and Q.

47. The accuracy attained was also of a high standard, the Teheran-Bushire Section having transmitted 99·855 per cent. of its words free from error, and the Bushire-Kurrachee Section having transmitted 99·231 per cent. with similar correctness—Appendices H and S.

48. I think therefore that the speed and accuracy of the Indo-European route during the months of its working may be said to have been decidedly satisfactory, and it was evidently from no fault on this score that traffic was lost to us.

49. The usual statistics prepared by Mr. Herbage and containing a great deal of usual information regarding the traffic are attached as Appendices I to S. Further statistics relating to the Persian traffic are also attached. The rules and tariffs of the St. Petersburg Convention were in force during the year.

INSPECTIONS, BUILDINGS AND STORES. Persia.

50. During the months of March and April, Major Smith, R.E., made a complete tour of inspection of the line and offices under his charge, and was well pleased with their general condition. Instead of making the double journey from Teheran to Bushire and back, Major Smith, with my approval, travelled along the old line between Teheran and Baghdad, the control of which was abandoned by us years ago.

He went from Teheran via Hamadan and Kermanshah to Baghdad travelling along the route of the old line which he found in a very dilapidated condition. He reports that "when we withdrew from the maintenance and working of that line in 1868, it was in as good a state as a wooden line in this country can be, with two wires thoroughly well insulated throughout. One of the two wires and almost all the insulators have now disappeared, and very few of the old poles have been renewed. For use as an international line, it would practically have to be re-constructed. During last year the Persian Government has set up a single wire wooden pole line from Hamadan to Selma in Kurdistan and another from Hamadan to Shuster in Arabistan. All three lines (to Khanikin, Selma, and Shuster) depend consequently on the single wire line from Teheran to Hamadan. In the event therefore of its ever becoming advisable for us to resume charge of the Khanikin line, it would be necessary to add a second wire to the line from Teheran to Hamadan besides re-insulating and thoroughly repairing the whole line to Khanikin."

51. "From Khanikin, two Turkish lines now join the main line from Constantinople to Fao, viz., a single wire iron pole one to Baghdad and a single wire wooden pole one to Kifri. Formerly, as you are aware, the connection between Khanikin and the main line was formed by one line of two wires on iron poles from Khanikin to Baghdad. The present single iron pole line from Khanikin to Baghdad appears to be in good order. It is used for local traffic and in connection with the Kifri Branch as an alternative to the portion of the main line between Baghdad and Kifri."

And in speaking of the Teheran-Bushire Section, he states "from Bushire to Teheran I found the line and offices in excellent order, and a marked absence of any disagreement and difficulties with the Persian authorities. Everywhere their relations with the members of our staff appeared to be of the most amicable nature."

52. "At no previous period of my experience have I seen the country so peaceable and free of robbers. From Teheran to the Turkish Frontier and from Bushire to Teheran I found there was perfect security for the persons and property of travellers. This improved state of affairs is doubtless owing to the vigorous government of His Royal Highness Hissam-es-Sultaneh at Kermanshah and of his brother His Royal Highness Meetemed-ed-dowleh at Shiraz. Personally I met everywhere with an amount of kindness and attention at the hands of the Persian authorities that was almost embarrassing."

PERSIAN GULF.

53. Mr. Finch thoroughly inspected his division between the months of November and February last, and while expressing his satisfaction with the state of the offices, writes as follows on the condition of the buildings:—

Cable Houses.—"The cable houses between Kurrachee and Manora, inclusive, are in good order, and have only required slight repairs during the year."

54. Manora Buildings, &c.—"The buildings, tanks, boats, &c., at Manora, are, in good order. New lines of stone work were built for some of the native establishment during the year, taking the place of mat huts, and it is hoped that funds will permit of this necessary work being completed during the current year."

55. Manora Jetty.—"The jetty still remains next to useless; but in consequence of objections raised by the Port Department to our moving it forward, because it would render their boat-sheds useless, nothing has as yet been done. A correspondence on the subject is still going on, and I trust the difficulties will be overcome."

56. Kurrachee.—"The buildings at Kurrachee are all in good order, and call for no remark."

57. Ormara.—"At Ormara the buildings have been repaired by the Public Works Department, but some of these repairs have been carelessly executed, and Lieutenant Spilsbury of that Department who inspected them with me stated he would bring the subject to the Executive Engineer's notice."

58. Gwadar.—"Extensive repairs have also been carried out to the buildings at Gwadar, and they are now in good order.

59. Charbar.—"No repairs have been executed to the Charbar buildings which are badly in want of them, more especially the roof. The Executive Engineer promises to have these carried out after the monsoon season.

60. Jask.—"At Jask, although large sums of money have been spent on the repairs of the station buildings, still their state is not satisfactory, and the Executive Engineer purposes submitting a further estimate for some Rs. 8,000; the plaster continues to peel off the walls, the Portland cement flooring to crack and the roofs to leak.

"Two new latrines for the natives have lately been built and are a decided success.

61. Henjam.—"The wooden building at Henjam is in good order, but requires painting and oiling, for these materials have been provided. The glare on the south side being very trying, a mat verandah has also been erected on that side.

62. Fão.—"The repairs of the Fão building were completed early in the year, and the building is now in a satisfactory state.

63. "The old mud godown being in a very insecure state has been pulled down, and a new one erected in its place. A new mud cook-house and latrine have also been built, and the ground round the office building has been raised.

64. Sonmeance.—"The building at Sonmeance is in need of repairs which, at the request of the Agent, Governor General for Beloochistan, I have applied to have carried out; they are estimated by the Public Works Department to cost Rs. 411.

65. Pusnee.—"The Pusnee building is in fair order."

STORES.

Persia.

66. The expenditure for stores amounted to only £323-6-1 compared with £2,918-11-2 in the previous year. As pointed out in para. 41 of my report for 1876-77, the line having now been strengthened by the full number of iron standards required, the yearly outlay for stores in Persia will henceforth be very moderate.

Persian Gulf.

67. The cost of stores according to the India Office account and the Examiner's returns is given below, compared with that for 1876-77.

68. It includes two special items of cable recovered from the sea and placed in stock...	...	£	s.	d.

and purchases of furniture for use of staff £376 and £234	...	881	12	0

69. The comparative statement is—

70. The issues from stock during the same two years were—

1876-77.			1877-78.
7,148	10	5	7,765	0	10

71. During 1877-78 the cable expended in repairs and alterations was—

		Knots.
Gutta-percha	...	8	05
India-rubber	...	3	11

72. The following remained in stock at the close of the year:—

		Knots.	Remarks
Gutta-percha	...	92 98	13 95 of this is in short pieces.
India-rubber	...	33 89	2 11 ditto ditto.

73. I have specially drawn Mr. Finch's attention to the absolute necessity of insisting on the most rigid economy in the matter of stores and supplies. He reports that this will be carefully attended to, and he anticipates a great reduction in the value of stores purchased during the current official year.

74. The value of stores in hand at Kurrachee on the 31st March 1878 was Rs. 3,86,053 against Rs. 3,53,169 last year.

The balance on the 31st March 1878 was as follows:—

					Rs.	A	P.
Miscellaneous stores	48,878	1	3
Cable	2,59,509	0	0
Other construction stores and tools	62,983	10	4

Forms and books	1,991	7	9

ESTABLISHMENTS.

75. No changes of special importance have been made during the past year in the distribution of the staff either in Persia or the Gulf. As the Examiner of Telegraph Accounts now periodically prints a Classified List of the entire establishment, I need not repeat the tables given in paras. 49 and 52 of my last annual report, but I attach instead one of the printed returns.

76. Mr. E. J. D. Walker, a very active and zealous officer holding the appointment of Superintendent in the Persian Division, died suddenly on his way to England on the 1st December 1877. This melancholy event was reported by me in my letter of the 18th December 1877. One civil signaller in Persia resigned his post.

77. In the Gulf the appointment of the Assistant Accountant at Kurrachee was abolished. One of our Mechanicians, Mr. S. Fearn, died. Six clerks resigned the service, and two deserted. The general conduct of the staff has been good.

78. The duties performed by the S. S. Amberwitch are shown in the subjoined table. This vessel is now about to be replaced, but in the mean time it has been found necessary to repair her boilers which, for some time past, have been in an unsafe state.

79. The new steam cutter provided as one of the Amberwitch's life boats was received at Kurrachee in December 1877. She is admirably suited to the requirements of the Department. She was built by Mr. J. S. White of Cowes, and her total cost when landed in Kurrachee was Rs. 4,190. For the launch which she replaced we received credit from the Public Works Department to the amount of Rs. 3,500, and as that launch had been in use by us for nearly 4 years, the exchange was effected on good terms.

80. The libraries are reported to be in good order; the Gulf Recreation Fund continues in a prosperous state; the principal purchases out of it during the year have been articles required for lawn tennis and for the maintenance of the station gardens. A large fishing net was bought for use at Jask, and a miniature billiard table for Fao, &c., &c.

81. Finally, I beg leave to express my sense of the good services rendered as heretofore by Major Smith and his staff in Persia and by Mr. Finch, Lieutenant Stiffe, and the Officers of the Persian Gulf Division, as well as by Mr. Brasher, the Superintendent of this Office.

APPENDIX D. OFFICIAL YEAR, 1877-78.

Abstract showing insulation of cables at beginning and end of year with interruptions (occasioned by faults and also by diversions).

SECTIONS.	INSULATION FOR MARCH			Number of faults and interruptions.	Total number of days interrupted.	REMARKS.
	Length.	1877. Megohms per knot.	1878. Megohms per knot.
Fao-Bushire	156 153	421	745	2	22.6	Two faults in this section, the second, 177, which caused interruption, happened at the same time as a fault in another section. Insulation now very high owing to a cold season in Gulf. The second interruption for diversion to Rishir.
Bushire-Henjam	360 361	180	128	2	6.2	Small intermittent fault still exists without detriment to working. one interruption for diversion to Rishir.
Henjam-Jask	143	292	321	3	5.1	This section has given much trouble, having had three different faults owing to local decay of iron wires; it now tests higher than for many years.
Bushire-Jask, I. R.	503 498	66	116	1	1.3	There is still a minute defect in this cable. In February 1878, I endeavoured to break this down and localise it without success, so it is not likely to cause inconvenience. Cable interrupted only for diversion to Rishir.
Jask-Gwadar	272	234	201	2	3.5	There has been a fault this year in deep water, 30 fathoms; until last year this section was singularly free from defect. A short interruption also for renewing the shore end at Jask.
Gwadar-Manora	271	191	181	The sea part alone, tested on 25th March, 220 megohms, the apparently low figures being due to imperfect shore ends.
No. 1 Harbour	6	7	13	3	...	No interruptions; faults repaired as convenient. The use of the third cable has now been abundantly demonstrated. The faults are so easily and exactly localised by loop tests that repairs are quickly completed.

The above receipts are due $\frac{2}{3}$ to the Persian and $\frac{1}{3}$ to the Indian Government under Art. VIII of Anglo-Persian Treaty of 2nd December 1872, as modified in 1877. But there are two amounts of 1,000 tons payable by Persia annually under Arts. I and X of the same Treaty, and the sum of these is treated as a first charge against the $\frac{2}{3}$ due to Persia. Further, the $\frac{2}{3}$ for the year ended 31st March 1877 having fallen short of the amount of the claims above referred to, the deficiency is brought forward as an additional first charge in this year's account, and the adjustment of the whole is shown below—

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE, AGRICULTURE AND COMMERCE.

REPORTS ON THE STATE OF THE SEASON AND PROSPECTS OF THE CROPS FOR THE WEEK ENDING THE 17th JUNE 1879.

GENERAL REMARKS.—In Madras general prospects remain fair. Rain continues to fall throughout the Province of Mysore and cultivation is in active progress. In the Bombay Presidency good general rain has fallen in the Deccan districts, Konkan and the Southern Mahratta Country, and there has also been heavy rain in Bombay; the outlook is promising; cholera prevails extensively in Sind and slightly in Guzerat and Tanna. Very slight rain fell in only a few districts of the Central Provinces and the weather was hot and oppressive; ploughing for the khariif sowings is in progress, but rice and cotton sowings have been suspended in several districts in consequence of the want of rain; prices are steady. Sowings continue in Berar. There has been more or less rain in six stations in Central India and sowing has begun in Malwa. Some rain fell in parts of Rajputana and ploughing has commenced in places. Rain has fallen in nearly all the districts of Bengal; in Bengal proper matters have greatly improved but more rain is required in the Burdwan and Presidency Divisions; in Jalpáiguri and Cooch Behar the rain has somewhat injured the early rice and jute, and in Pubna, Dacca, Furreedpore and Mymensingh the crops on low lands are suffering from inundations; in Behar, Orissa and Chota Nagpore there has been insufficient rain and cultivation is backward; a simultaneous outbreak of cholera is reported from a block of five districts. Rain continues in Assam; in Sylhet it has been heavy, and it is feared that the low-lying rice crops, which were sown late, will suffer from inundation. The rainfall in British Burma is not stated, but other reports shew that it continues in Rangoon and Akyab; ploughing is going on in places and the general health of the province is good; cattle-disease still exists. Slight rain has fallen in several districts of the North-Western Provinces and Oudh and there were indications of more; ploughing has begun in Jhansi and khariif sowings in the canal tracts in Agra; sickness is decreasing. In the Punjab rain is wanted in Umballa and Ferozepore and preparations for the khariif have commenced in Lahore and Mooltan; the condition of the province generally is favourable.

The principal feature of the week was the prospect of the early establishment of the monsoon throughout the greater part of India; a prospect which was not however fully realised, although later reports show that there is no present cause for any anxiety.

RAILWAY.

RETURNS OF ACCIDENTS ON INDIAN RAILWAYS FOR THE THIRD QUARTER OF 1878.

Circular No. 15 R., dated Simla, 29th May 1879.

RESOLUTION.

Read again—

Public Works Department Circular No. 4R. of 6th February 1879.

” ” ” ” ” 10R. of 12th March 1879.

Read also—

Returns of Accidents to trains, &c., on Railways open for traffic in India for the third quarter of 1878.

OBSERVATIONS.—Part I.—Accidents to Trains, Rolling-stock, Permanent-way, &c.—The total casualties resulting from accidents to trains, &c., during the third quarter of 1878, were among passengers—1 killed and 6 injured, and among Railway servants 7 injured. The casualties to passengers were caused by a bank on the Indus Valley State Railway, which had been undermined by flood water, sinking under the weight of the engine of a mixed train. Of the 7 servants injured, 5 received injuries from a lorry running against an engine standing at the reversing station, Bhore Ghat, through failure of the brake of the lorry.

There were 3 collisions between passenger trains or parts of passenger trains by which 1 servant was injured; 3 collisions between passenger trains and goods or mineral trains, engines and vehicles standing foul of the line, causing injury to 1 servant; 5 collisions between goods trains or parts of goods trains; 4 collisions between light engines; 4 cases of passenger trains or parts of passenger trains leaving the rails; 76 cases of goods trains or parts of goods trains, engines, &c., leaving the rails; 1 case of engine travelling in the wrong direction through points; 1 case of train running into stations or sidings at too high a speed; 151 cases of trains running over cattle; 21 cases of trains running over obstructions on the line; 7 cases of trains running through level-crossing gates; and 1 case of bursting of the gauge glass of the engine. There were 22 failures of engine machinery, 1 of wheels, 1 of tyres, 14 of axles, 1 of lorry brake apparatus, causing injury to 5 Railway servants, already referred to, 11 of couplings and 1 of a bridge.

Of the 14 cases of failures of axles, 8 took place on the Great Indian Peninsula Railway, and of the 44 cases of failures of couplings, 15 were on the East Indian, 10 on the Punjab Northern, and 10 on the Rajputana.

There were also reported 9 cases of broken rails; 34 cases of flooding of portions of permanent-way, in one of which 1 passenger was killed and 6 injured as above noted; 27 cases of slips in cuttings or embankments; 11 cases of fire in trains; and 159 miscellaneous accidents.

The number of miscellaneous accidents is, as previously, the largest on the East Indian Railway, being 142 out of a total of 159. This is due to the inclusion of many accidents of a minor character which, it is presumed, are omitted from the returns of other Railways. Under the ruling laid down in Public Works Department Circular No. 4R. of 6th February 1879, certain minor accidents should be excluded in future.

The total number of accidents to trains, &c., was 601, against 733 in the first quarter and 752 in the second, there being a decrease of 18 and 20 per cent, respectively. The casualties resulting from these accidents were, 1 killed and 13 injured, against 3 killed and 4 injured in the first quarter, and 5 killed and 16 injured in the second quarter.

The number of cattle accidents shows a large decrease, being 151 against 224 in the previous quarter. This is chiefly due to the number on the Rajputana Railway falling off from 55 to 10. The accidents from fire also decreased considerably, viz., from 151 in the first quarter and 79 in the second quarter to 11 in the quarter under review. The decrease is most prominent on the Great Indian Peninsula Railway, there being only 1 accident against 55 in the first quarter.

In returning the cases of trains running over cattle on some of the Railways, nothing is said as to the state of the fencing. It is desirable that this should be done in future.

It is observed that the case in which a wagon had to be detached from a train on the East Indian Railway on 1st July, on account of broken spring, is classified under heading 25 of the key to Part 1. This should have been shown under heading 13. Similarly, the derailments of wagons which took place on this line during shunting operations should have been classified under heading 6 instead of 25. It is not clear why the damage caused to two wagons through bad iron on the 29th September is classified under heading 18.

The derailment of a pilot engine on the Madras Railway on the 30th September, caused by the fracture of a switch handle, should have been shown under heading 13, and not heading 6. Whenever an accident appears to come under more than one heading, i.e., when one accident leads to another, such as derailments of wagons or damages caused by the failure of axles or wheels, the classification should always be made with reference to the primary cause.

In the return of the Rangoon and Irrawaddy Valley State Railway, the breaking down of 3 ballast wagons on 6th September in Menghladoon quarry, through coolies hand-shunting them without order, is classified under "collisions between goods trains or parts of goods train." It is not unlikely that a collision took place, but the facts should have been more clearly stated.

It appears that 1 rail and 1 chair were broken on the Great Indian Peninsula Railway by the slip of rock which took place on the 17th September. This accident should have been repeated in the general return as directed in paragraph 3 of Public Works Department Circular No. 27 R. of 16th September 1878.

Part II.—Accidents to Passengers from causes other than accidents to trains, &c., persons passing over level-crossings, trespassers, and others.—There were 3 passengers killed and 9 injured, of whom 2 were killed and 1 injured by falling between carriages and platforms; 1 injured by the closing of a carriage door; 6 injured by falling out of carriages during the travelling of trains; and 1 killed and 1 injured through other causes. Of other persons included in this part of the return, 2 were killed and 1 injured whilst passing over railways at level-crossings; 44 killed and 10 injured while trespassing on the line; 17 were suicides; and 10 killed and 1 injured from miscellaneous causes.

The numbers of passengers killed and injured during the first three quarters were as follows:—

				Killed.	Injured.
1st	quarter of 1878	5	9
2nd	" "	1	14
3rd	" "	3	9

In the case of a boy who was killed by wolves, and whose body was found on the pathway at the side of the line near Jhinhak, East Indian Railway, the entry is made under "Other persons—Miscellaneous" in this part of the return. This accident should have been shown in Part IV, and all cases of dead bodies found within the boundaries of a Railway, not run over by trains, should, in future, be similarly dealt with.

Part III.—Accidents to servants in the employ of railways or of contractors whilst performing duties connected directly with the transit of passengers and goods.—Out of a total of 39 killed and 53 injured, 2 were killed and 7 injured during shunting operations; 6 injured by falling off engines, &c.; 1 killed by coming in contact with overbridge, &c., during the travelling of trains; 2 injured by coming in contact, while shunting, with vehicles, &c., standing in adjoining lines; 5 killed and 6 injured while getting on or off trains, engines, &c.; 6 injured whilst loading, unloading or shunting; 1 injured whilst breaking, spragging, or chocking wheels; 2 killed whilst working at cranes or capstans; 2 killed and 2 injured whilst working on the permanent-way or in sidings; 4 killed whilst walking along the lines on the way home or to work; 11 killed and 3 injured whilst walking, crossing or standing on the line; 1 killed and 1 injured whilst passing between vehicles; 2 injured whilst attending to the machinery of engines, cleaning them, &c.; 5 killed and 2 injured whilst attending to gates at level-crossings; 1 killed and 1 injured by falling or being caught between vehicles and platforms; 2 injured by falling off ladders, scaffolds, platforms, &c.; 1 killed and 3 injured by the falling of lamps, wagon-doors, timber weights, &c.; 2 killed and 3 injured whilst coupling or uncoupling wagons; and 2 killed and 6 injured from miscellaneous causes.

On the Rangoon and Irrawaddy Valley State Railway, 1 fireman fell off the foot-plate of an engine and another fell off the tender of the engine of a mixed train, but both fortunately escaped injury.

As compared with the first quarter of 1878, the number killed shows an increase of 5 and the number injured a decrease of 12; and as compared with the second quarter of 1878, the number killed shows an increase of 3 and the number injured a decrease of 24.

The following table exhibits the total numbers of persons killed and injured from causes connected with the working of trains on all Railways:—

				Killed.	Injured.
Passengers—
From causes beyond their own control		1	7
" misconduct or want of caution		3	8
Servants—
From causes beyond their own control		10	21
" misconduct or want of caution		29	39
Persons passing at level-crossings		2	1
Trespassers (including suicides)		61	10
Other persons		10	1
				116	87

In addition to the above, 9 persons are reported to have been killed, 46 injured in yards, workshops, &c., and 72 passengers to have met with death in carriages and at stations owing largely to their undertaking journeys when not in a fit state of health to travel.

On the Indus Valley State Railway, a Guard is said to have died from heat apoplexy while travelling in charge of a train on 2nd July. This casualty should have been entered in Part III, and not in Part V, which is only intended to show deaths of passengers.

Owing to the late submission of the returns of some of the Railways the compilation of the General Returns under review has been considerably delayed.

The following particulars have been omitted from the General Returns owing to their having been received too late:—

Indus Valley State Railway.

The 31st May 1879.

Hitherto it has been the practice to affix postage stamps to parcels which the sender desires to prepay, but serious inconvenience has been found to arise from the stamps so affixed adhering imperfectly to the cloth, wax-cloth, tin, or other materials commonly used by the public for covering parcels. Fraud has also been found to result from the re-use of stamps which have become detached from the parcels to which they were affixed.

With effect from the 1st July 1879, prepayment of parcel postage may be made only in cash tendered with the parcel at the Post Office window within the prescribed hours.

Receipts will be given to the senders for all parcels tendered at the window during the prescribed hours, whether prepaid in cash or unpaid, the amount of prepayment, if any, being specified on the receipt.

This order applies to all parcels (inland, overland, insured, or value-payable), except those sent on the public service, which, if prepaid, must as heretofore be prepaid with service stamps.

The 9th June 1879.

It is expected that Foreign Postcards bearing stamps of the value of 1½ anna each for correspondence with Great Britain and other countries of the Universal Postal Union, as well as Inland Postcards bearing stamps of the value of ½ anna each for correspondence within the limits of British India, will be available for purchase on and after the 1st July 1879.

2. The Postcards will be purchasable by the public under the same conditions as embossed envelopes, those sold by the Post Office being sold either in bundles of sixteen or singly at the value of the stamps borne by them.

3. Particular attention is drawn to the rule printed on each Postcard to the effect that the address only is to be written on the front or stamp side of the Postcard.

4. Any Foreign Postcards intended for transmission via Brindisi to Great Britain, or a country served through it, must have a ½ anna adhesive postage label affixed to it near the embossed stamp, in payment of the additional postage prescribed for that route.

5. Inland Postcards may not be sent to foreign countries except under the ordinary conditions applicable to letters.

A. M. MONTEATH,

Dir. Genl. of the Post Office of India.

The 29th May 1879.

The public are informed that, with effect from the 1st July 1879, the rules appertaining to value-payable parcels (see Postal Guide of 1st April 1879, page 14), will be applicable to registered book packets: that is, the sender of a registered book packet may, at the time of posting it, declare the value of the contents for realization from the addressee and payment to him.

ADMINISTRATION REPORT OF THE TELEGRAPH DEPARTMENT FOR THE YEAR 1877-78.

Nos. 193-208 T, dated Simla, June 5, 1879.

Read—

Letter No. 533T, dated 28th December 1878, together with its enclosure, the Administration Report of the Telegraph Department for 1877-78.

RESOLUTION.—For the first time since the establishment of the Telegraph System in India, the receipts have more than covered the working expenses, exclusive of the interest charges. The Government of India views with great satisfaction this evidence of the care and ability with which the administration of the department has been conducted.

2. The net capital expenditure during the year was Rs.9,01,455, and the

* There is a discrepancy, amounting to Rs.36,478, between this amount shown in the report and the amount entered in the Finance and Revenue Accounts, which should be cleared up.

3. The working expenses amounted to Rs.31,40,124, while the earnings aggregated Rs.33,22,252, leaving a surplus of Rs.1,82,128 after providing for the loss of Rs.29,524 sustained in working the Ceylon System of Telegraphs.

4. The expenditure per mile of line has also decreased from Rs.162.12 in 1872-73 to Rs.147.08 during the year under review; while the receipts per mile of line have risen in the same period from Rs.117.09 to Rs.155.61.

5. The main increase of revenue is under the head "message revenue earned" (Rs.5,29,963), while there is a falling-off of Rs.16,190 in the news-free and other "pro forma message revenue."

6. There has been a large increase in the business of the department under every head, State and private, inland and foreign. The increase in inland messages, both State and private, is largely attributable to the famine in Southern India, and to the activity of the grain trade.

7. The average value of State messages shows a slight increase, while that of private messages has decreased. The attention of all officers authorised to issue telegrams on the public service to places out of India has recently been drawn by circular to the necessity for care in the compression of foreign State messages, and the report under review shows that this point requires careful attention with reference to inland State messages also, though on administrative subjects clearness should never be sacrificed to mere condensation.

8. During the year, an important benefit has been conferred on the public in the exemption of inland messages from forwarding charges.

9. There is a marked increase in the number and value of private foreign messages. The impetus to which this increase is due was probably afforded by the introduction of ~~the~~ ^{an} ~~the~~ word tariff. The "word tariff" system has been extended during the year to Japan and to Cuba.

10. The percentage of complaints on matters for which the department is responsible shows a considerable reduction, as compared with the figures for the previous year.

11. There ~~has~~ been great improvement in the average speed of transmission of messages between Karachi and Calcutta, Bombay and Karachi, and Calcutta and Rangoon; while on the main lines converging on Madras there has been a falling-off in average speed of transmission owing to the abnormal pressure of traffic.

12. The decrease which has taken place in the length of "news-free" messages is satisfactory.

13. A marked decrease is shown in the number and duration of interruptions on departmental lines.

14. With reference to paragraph 66 of the report, the Government of India concur with the Director General in thinking that considerable economy has resulted from the use of one set of posts for the carriage of wires both for Railway and Government use, and also by the combination of the outdoor supervising establishments; but the arrangement has not worked without some friction and complaints (on the part of, at all events, the Guaranteed Railway Companies), which it should be the object of the Telegraph Department to reduce to a minimum.

15. The appendices attached to the report have been modified in accordance with the instructions of the Right Hon'ble the Secretary of State, conveyed in His Lordship's despatch No. 22T. of the 4th July 1878, and the modifications meet with the approval of the Government of India.

16. No alterations in the form of exhibiting the accounts of the department in the direction indicated by the Secretary of State's despatch No. 27 of the 15th June 1876, have been introduced, owing to practical difficulties in carrying out the changes suggested. This point is still under consideration by the Government of India, and will be dealt with separately.

17. The Government of India records its appreciation of the services rendered by Colonel Murray and Mr. C. J. Pel (who officiated as Director General for half the year under review), and the officers of the department generally, in bringing about the high state of efficiency exhibited in this report, and also notes with satisfaction the good service rendered by Mr. J. A. Briggs, Assistant Superintendent, as indicated in the 18th paragraph of the Report.

ORDER.—Ordered, that copies of this Resolution and of the Report be forwarded to the Secretary of State and the Local Governments and Administrations noted on the margin, to the Government of Ceylon and to the Commissioner in Sind.

Also, that a copy of this Resolution be forwarded to the Director General of Telegraphs for information.

Also, that a copy of this Resolution and of the Report and Appendices A, B and F be forwarded to the Home Department of the Government of India for information, and to the Publisher of the Gazette of India for publication in the Supplement to the Gazette.

ALEX. FRASER, Major-Genl., R. E.,
Secretary to the Government of India.

ADMINISTRATION REPORT OF THE INDIAN TELEGRAPH DEPARTMENT FOR 1877-78.

THE results of the operations of the department for the year 1877-78 have more than realized the anticipations of progressive improvement held out in the opening paragraphs of the Annual Administration Report for 1876-77, and, for the first time since the establishment of the Telegraph in India, the receipts have more than covered the working expenses.

The total working expenses amounted to Rs.31,40,124, and the earnings to Rs.33,22,252, shewing a surplus of Rs.1,82,128,* as compared with a deficit of Rs.401 during the preceding year.

The number of paid telegrams increased from 1,357,014 in 1876-77 to 1,357,014 in 1877-78, of which 1,169,954 were inland and 187,060 foreign.

The miles of lines and wires (including cables) increased respectively from 17,840 and 39,780 to 18,210 and 42,796, and, in addition, 10,749 miles of wire, not the property of Government, were maintained by the department for the service of Railway Companies.

The number of departmental offices rose from 234 to 239, and, at the close of the year, 484 Railway Telegraph offices were technically supervised by the department.

Notwithstanding the large increase of traffic, the speed of transmission was well maintained; the percentage of complaints by the public was much less than during the previous year; the proportion of undelivered telegrams was 15 per cent. less than in 1876-77, and interruptions to communication caused by accidents to the lines were considerably fewer, not only for each unit of length of line, but absolutely both in number and duration, as compared with the previous year.

2. A clear idea of the progress that has been made year by year will be readily obtained from the following table and from the diagrams which are annexed to this report :—

REVENUE AND EXPENDITURE.

3. The net Capital Expenditure of the Department during the year amounted to Rs.9,01,155, of which Rs.14,024, on Capital Expenditure. account of telegraph lines in Kashmir, will be recovered from the Maharajah. The actual departmental expenditure on lines representing the amount of work done was Rs.9,71,429, from which must be deducted Rs.2,44,833 on account of suspense recoveries and value of stores used out of stock and not replaced within the year. Particulars of the various capital works executed in each division will be found further on. A sum of Rs.1,36,832 was spent on Telegraph buildings by the Department of Public Works and Rs.38,027 is the amount of Capital Expenditure incurred on our behalf by the Stationery and Press Departments.

The Capital account of the Department (excluding Ceylon)* at the end of the year stood at Rs.3,30,13,602, including Rs.55,26,222, the value of abandoned lines, buildings and stores.

4. The following is a brief statement of Receipts and Expenditure on Revenue account of the whole department, including India and Ceylon:—

6. It has been explained in previous reports that the receipts (excluding Reconciliation of Revenue and Finance Accounts. "pro forma") shewn in the Revenue Account and in the Finance or Budget Accounts must, from the very nature of these two accounts, differ, as, independently of mere book details and differences of classification, in the one case we shew earnings and in the other realizations. As the reconciliation of the two accounts is not a matter of general interest, and the details have been submitted to Government in the usual course, their repetition here does not appear necessary, it being merely noted to prevent misunderstanding that the difference between the receipts as exhibited in the two accounts is Rs.1,19,758.

* Particulars of the Capital account of Ceylon are shown separately in Appendix A.

8. The net increase of expenditure over the previous year amounts to Rs. 3,50,647, which includes the following principal Causes of increased expenditure. items :—Repairs to lines Rs. 99,347, Signalling Rs. 38,134, Tools and Plant Rs. 79,524, Absentee allowances paid in England Rs. 79,084. The increase in cost of repairs is due partly to the increase of wire mileage maintained, amounting to nearly 10,000 miles, and partly to the fact that repair expenditure in the previous year was exceptionally low. The rate per mile of wire was Rs. 5.31 against Rs. 4.2 in 1876-77, and against Rs. 5.29, the average of the preceding three years. The increase in signalling is due to the increments of salary earned by the establishment, to increase in the number of offices, and to general increase of work in all branches.

9. The increase under Tools and Plant is partly due to the extension of our operations in connection with Railways, but in the present instance much of the excess expenditure is nominal only, being due to the value balance of stationery in hand, Rs. 51,980, having been charged off at once to admit of simplification in the method of keeping the accounts. As regards absentee allowances, it was stated in the report for 1876-77 that the expenditure for 1875-76 was unavoidably included in the accounts for 1876-77, and that it appeared likely that these payments made in England would always appear in the accounts of the succeeding year to that to which they properly belong. The item Rs. 1,43,475, under this head, charged in the accounts for 1877-78, includes, however, two years' payments, viz., Rs. 93,866 belonging to 1876-77, and Rs. 49,609 to 1877-78, so that instead of an increase there is really a decrease. Expenditure on the famine lines and offices amounted to Rs. 17,620, and the revenue realized by them was Rs. 12,195 only, causing a loss of Rs. 5,425.

10. On the requisite adjustments being made in the furlough payments, the excess expenditure of 1877-78 over 1876-77 is reduced to Rs. 2,27,306, of which, as shewn above, Rs. 51,980 is nominal, and the remainder is principally due to the great expansion that has taken place in the operations of the Department.

11. The message revenue earned, excluding Ceylon, has increased by Rs. 5,29,903 against a similar increase of Rs. 3,25,981 in 1876-77. Particulars of these increases and comparisons with the figures of previous years are given in detail further on. The receipts from Railways shew an increase of Rs. 29,182, notwithstanding that the claims for this year are only made up for the nine months ending 31st December

The increase in Inland private telegrams is also abnormal, and chiefly due to activity in the grain trade throughout India during the greater portion of the year. The revenue under this head has increased 38·35 per cent. during the last two years, while the corresponding numerical increase in Inland private messages has been no less than 43·28 per cent.

15. The average amount paid by the sender for an Inland message during the period which has elapsed since the last change in the tariff has been as follows :—

YEAR.						State.	Private.
						Rs.	Rs.
1872-73	3·33	1·82
1873-74	3·46	1·72
1874-75	3·33	1·63
1875-76	3·07	1·58
1876-77	3·21	1·56
1877-78	3·86	1·51

The tendency to compression in private messages is thus steadily progressive, while the average length of official telegrams is, on the contrary, increasing.

16. The following is a complete return of the number and value of Inland State and Private messages sent during the same period, shewing also the percentage of increase and decrease year by year:—

CHANGES IN INLAND TARIFF, &c.

17. The only change effected during the year in the rules or rates for Inland messages was the exemption, with effect from the 1st November 1877, of re-addressed telegrams from a forwarding charge.

FOREIGN TRAFFIC

18. An increase of 315 in number, and of Rs.6,960-3-0 in value, is observable under Foreign State Messages: this appears due to a more general use of the wires, and not to any special causes.

19. In Foreign Private Traffic the increase during the year is very marked, as will be seen from the following figures:—

YEAR	PERCENTAGE OF INCREASE COMPARED WITH PREVIOUS YEAR.
	No.	Value.
1873-74	12.72	7.33
1874-75	15.75	6.21
1875-76	8.87	8.21
1876-77	22.11	5.34
1877-78	38.14	27.25

In the two years which have succeeded the introduction of the "word tariff" foreign private messages have increased 60.53 per cent. in number, and 32.62 per cent. in value.

20. Appendix C shews the percentage of number of messages between India and places to the westward by each route for the past seven years. The comparative results of the period under review and of the previous year are as follows:—

	1876-77	1877-78
By Suez	60.22	79.10
„ Thierian	37.57	17.72
„ Turkey	2.21	3.15
TOTAL	100.00	100.00

Details of the number and value of messages to, from, and through India by each route will be found in the abstract of Foreign Traffic attached to Appendix B.

21. The average Indian share of the charge on a foreign telegram for the past six years has been as follows:—

YEAR	State	Private
	Rs.	Rs.
1872-73	10.07	6.56
1873-74 ..	9.35	6.24
1874-75	8.47	5.74
1875-76	9.10	5.69
1876-77	15.08	4.90
1877-78	15.50	4.31

22. Here also, as in the case of Inland messages, the Private Foreign message becomes year by year shorter, while the Foreign State telegram averages in length over 50 per cent. more than was the case previous to 1876-77.

CHANGES IN FOREIGN TARIFF.

24. The laying of the cable between Elephant Point and Penang having necessitated the raising of the transit charge for foreign messages passing over the Indian lines by this route (a distance of 2,750 miles, as against 901 miles between Kurrachee or Bombay and Madras), a mean rate of 75 centimes per word was adopted for the two routes instead of having differential charges for them. This change took effect from the 27th May 1877.

25. To provide for the case of an interruption on the land line connecting Arakan and Burmah with India, a tariff was, with effect from the 1st July 1877, arranged with the Eastern Extension Telegraph Company for messages passing over their cables between Elephant Point and Madras via Penang.

26. The "word tariff" system was extended to all places in Japan from March, and to Cuba from February 1878.

EXTENSIONS OF INTERNATIONAL LINES.

27. A new cable, connecting Elephant Point with Penang, was laid by the Eastern Extension Telegraph Company and opened for traffic on the 27th May 1877.

In the Mediterranean a new cable was laid between Syra and Candia in March 1878.

Telegraphic communication was extended by land line between Southern and Western Australia in December 1877.

PRINCIPAL INTERRUPTIONS ON INTERNATIONAL LINES.

28. The cables of the Eastern Telegraph Company were uninterrupted during the year, with the following exceptions:—

From Lisbon to Falmouth, from 2nd February to 5th September, and from 13th November to 19th December 1877.

From Lisbon to Vigo, from the 8th December 1877 to the end of the period under report.

29. On the cables of the Eastern Extension Telegraph Company the following interruptions occurred:—

Between Elephant Point and Penang, from the 10th September 1877 to the 15th January, and from the 23rd March to the 8th April.

Between Penang and Singapore, from the 13th to 22nd July, from the 19th to the 31st October, and from the 4th to 7th November 1877.

Between Singapore and Batavia, from the 28th September to the 17th October, from the 9th to 17th November 1877, and from the 22nd January to the 3rd February 1878.

Between Java and Australia, from the 8th November to the 15th December 1878.

30. The Great Northern Company's China cables were interrupted to the following extent—

Between Amoy and Shanghai, from the 5th to the 15th May and from the 7th to the 15th September 1877.

Between Shanghai and Nagasaki, from the 30th October to the 5th November 1877 and from the 4th to the 12th February 1878.

Between Nagasaki and Wladiwostok, from the 29th December 1877 to the 13th January 1878, and from the 28th March to the 5th April 1878.

31. The cable connecting Australia with Tasmania was interrupted from the 25th May to the 15th June, and from the 8th to the 20th August 1877.

32. On the land line through Asiatic Russia to China 16 interruptions were reported, ranging from one to three days.

33. On the 12th May 1877 the Teheran route between India and Europe was interrupted consequent on the bombardment by the Turks of Soukhom Kale on the north-east coast of the Black Sea. A diversion from Tiflis through Stavropol and Ekaterinodor to Kertch was opened on the 22nd August. Five other interruptions occurred on this route but none of them lasted more than one day.

34. On the Turkish route 8 interruptions were reported lasting from one to two days each. The Fao-Bushire cable was also interrupted from the 21st to the 26th October 1877.

SIGNAL OFFICES.

35. Appendix D is a classified abstract of signal offices according to the amount of traffic originating at each for the past six years.

36. Appendix E shows the number of offices in each Division open at the close of the year. The following stations were opened and closed during the year:—

Opened.	Date.	Closed.	Date.
Benwar (re-opened)	3rd February	Ahmednuggur	16th March.

COMPLAINTS.

37. In Appendix F will be found particulars of all the complaints received from the public during the year, those in which this department was concerned being separated from those chargeable to Railway or Foreign Telegraph lines. It will be seen that the percentage of those for which the department is responsible is considerably less than during the previous year.

SPEED OF TRANSMISSION.

38. The average periods occupied in the transmission of messages on the long main routes connecting Calcutta, Bombay, Madras, Kurrachee, Galle and Rangoon during the year under review and that preceding it were as follows:—

	1876-77.		1877-78.
	H.	M.	H.	M.
Calcutta to Kurrachee	0	47	0	41
Kurrachee to Calcutta	0	44	0	26
Calcutta to Bombay	1	13	1	14
Bombay to Calcutta	1	13	1	15
Calcutta to Madras	1	51	2	28
Madras to Calcutta	1	56	2	20
Bombay to Kurrachee	0	47	0	43
Kurrachee to Bombay	0	47	0	28
Bombay to Madras	0	46	1	16
Madras to Bombay	0	48	1	8
Galle to Madras	3	8	5	6
Rangoon to Calcutta	11	49	7	41

The great improvement on the Calcutta-Rangoon line was obtained prior to the completion of the second wire which now greatly expedites the traffic, and which will enable a much better result to be shown for 1878-79. The lines converging on Madras during the famine in Southern India were very heavily worked, and a falling off in average speed was unavoidable; on the wires connecting Calcutta with Bombay, notwithstanding increased traffic, the speed has been practically maintained, while the working of the lines from Kurrachee to Calcutta and to Bombay exhibit a considerable improvement.

NEWS-FREE MESSAGES.

39. Reports of the state of the weather, of the arrivals of mail steamers, &c., shew a slight increase in number, but a considerable decrease in length, viz. :—

TRAFFIC WITH RAILWAY TELEGRAPHS.

40. Appendix G shews the number and value of messages transferred to and received from State and Guaranteed Railways during the years. A comparison of the figures of the period under report with those of the preceding year shews the following result :—

PARTICULARS.	1876-77.		1877-78.
	No.	Value.	No.	Value.

PRESS MESSAGES.

41. The number and value of Press messages sent at reduced rates by Reuter's Telegraph Co. and by other associations or individuals, are shewn in Appendix H. As compared with the previous year, the following increase has occurred :—

	No.	Value. Rs.
Messages sent by Reuter's Co.	881	1,040
Ditto do. by others	916	16,566
TOTAL INCREASE	1,830	17,606

UNDELIVERED MESSAGES.

42. The number of undelivered messages was 4,064, an increase of 270, or 7 per cent. over the previous year: as traffic increased 22 per cent. during the same period, this result is not unsatisfactory. The causes of non-delivery are here given :—

Not found at address given	1,189
Address changed in transmission	118

INTERRUPTIONS ON DEPARTMENTAL LINES.

43. There were 386 interruptions during the year, against 458 in 1876-77; their aggregate duration 5,790 hours against 8,841 hours; their average duration 15.00 against 19.08 hours, and the proportion of interruptions per 100 miles of wire 0.92 against 1.18.

SIGNALLING ESTABLISHMENT.

44. There were 815 departmental and 66 Military Telegraph Masters and Signallers on the strength of the establishment at the close of the year, as compared with 818 and 43, respectively, on the 31st March, 1877. The following statement shews the average amount of traffic disposed of by each Telegraph Master and Signaller during the past five years :—

YEAR.	Total number of messages paid and free.	NUMBER OF TELEGRAPH MASTERS AND SIGNALLERS.			Average number of messages disposed of by each man.
		Departmental.	Military.	Total.
1873-74	788,572	852	28	880	896
1874-75	883,727	852	42	894	980
1875-76	958,408	838	44	882	1,087
1876-77	1,166,833	818	43	861	1,355
1877-78	1,131,452	815	66	881	1,625

By improved traffic arrangements it has thus been possible to meet the doubled amount of work without increase of establishment, while speed and accuracy have been materially enhanced.

45. The number of casualties has been 27, as per margin, against 30 during the preceding year, a percentage of 3.30
 Deaths 6 | Pensioned 1
 Dismissals 14 | Resignations 6 against 3.67

16. The number of military signallers trained by the department during the year to whom certificates of proficiency were given was 21. There were employed in departmental offices 41, and in purely military offices 25 men.

ELECTRICAL.

17. Mr. R. S. Brough ably officiated as departmental electrician throughout the year. The regular line-testing stations now number 20, Cuttack and Bankipore having been added to the list during the year; nearly all the testing Telegraph Masters have now become so conversant with the use of their instruments, that they localize the positions of faults with most creditable accuracy.

48. After 3 years' practical experience of Mr. Schwendler's double balance duplex system it was found advisable to definitely abandon it in favor of another, differing from the ordinary differential duplex, in that the battery, and not the receiving instrument, is differentiated. A very similar method was described by Mr. O. Heaviside in 1873, but it had never been reduced to practice until Mr. J. A. Briggs, an Assistant Superintendent in this department, worked it out and brought it to the notice of the Director General.

EXTENSIONS OF LINES AND WIRES, AND LINE MAINTENANCE.

19. Appendix J. is a classified list of all telegraph lines, the property of this department in India, Burmah and Ceylon on the 31st March 1878. The following are the totals of line, wire and cable, contrasted with those existing on the same date in 1877 :—

	Line.	Wire.	Cable.
1876-77	17839.67	3970.18	79.92
1877-78	18269.53	42687.33	108.43

In addition to the above, the department maintained 3,225 miles of line and 10,749 miles of wire, the property of Railway Companies, particulars of which are given in Appendix I.

The principal works executed in each division are enumerated below :—

ARAKAN.

50. The suspension of the second wire, Calcutta to Rangoon and Elephant Point, was in active progress throughout the division during the whole working season, and was nearly completed by the end of the official year. The work included strengthening and improving the existing line, heavy jungle-clearing, and making numerous minor alterations in route. In connection with the additional wire, cables, aggregating 12,000 yards in length, were laid across the Mayu, Kurudi and Koladan rivers.

ASSAM.

51. From Bhukwamarri (on the left bank of the Brahmaputra opposite Dhubri) to Gauhati, a distance of about 137 miles, the telegraph line was shifted from its former route to the side of the recently-completed Assam Grand Trunk Road. The line was originally carried nearer the river than the new road, along the best route then available, but the difficulties of the country traversed were very great, and in the rainy season the line could only be followed for the purposes of inspection or repair on elephants. The change of route to the Trunk Road, which is bridged throughout, will much facilitate the work of the district officers and render telegraphic communication with Assam more reliable.

BENGAL.

52. No new departmental works of any importance were carried out in this division, but 20 miles of the East Indian Railway line between Addiah and Kanu were re-constructed, and very extensive repairs effected over 937 miles more of the Company's telegraph system. Repairs of the Railway line were still in progress at the close of the year.

BOMBAY.

53. A line of two wires was erected for the use of the Railway along the Dhond-Munmad State Railway, a distance of 150 miles, and the old road line, 71 miles in length, between Poona and Ahmednuggur, dismantled. An additional wire was also suspended between Bombay and Poona, 119 miles.

BRITISH BURMAH.

54. The telegraph line from Bassein to Diamond Island was completed in December by the submersion of cables across the Bassein river, and from the main land near Pagoda Point to Diamond Island, the latter distance being about 10 miles. The cable used was manufactured in our workshops in Calcutta, and is of the strongest description, having been specially designed for the shallow, rocky sea in which it was to be laid. We have no special vessel for transporting and laying cables, and it was a work of no small difficulty to convey, with the necessary precautions, this massive cable, weighing over $5\frac{1}{2}$ tons per statute mile, from Calcutta to Diamond Island in a passenger steamer, and lay it from an ordinary cargo boat. Thanks to the assistance of Messrs. Mackinnon, Mackenzie and Co., of Captain James of the British India Steamer Madras, of Captain O'Brien of the Bassein Pilot Service, and to the excellent arrangements of Messrs. Hill and Luke of the Department, the work was carried through most successfully, and the important ship-signalling and meteorological station of Diamond Island thereby placed in telegraphic communication with the rest of India.

55. The second wire from Calcutta to Rangoon and Elephant Point was completed throughout this Division by the 16th March, and a number of private wires were erected in the vicinity of Rangoon to connect the offices with the rice mills of the principal firms. By the end of the year no less than $33\frac{1}{2}$ miles of wire were in use for this purpose, and the demand for more wires still continues. A survey was commenced of the route of the proposed line of telegraph from Maulmain to Tavoy and Mergui, but owing to the setting in of the rains it was not carried on further than Tavoy.

DACCA.

56. The suspension of the second wire, Calcutta to Rangoon, completed last year as far as the Fenny River near Comillah, was continued and completed by the end of the year for a further distance of about 220 miles to the southernmost limit of the division. Cables for the circuit of the second wire were laid across the Pudda, Dhullesuri, Borrigunga, Megna and Katalia Ganj (Srimutti) Rivers, and the latter river was also spanned with steel wire. The following works were executed in connection with the telegraph lines on the Northern Bengal State Railway:—erection of a three-wire line from Parodha on the Eastern Bengal Railway to the Ganges, 14 miles; the submersion of a cable across the Ganges at Sara; construction of a line of two wires from Parbuttipore to Rungpore, 23 miles, and the extension of the main line for the joint use of this Department and the Railway from Julpigorie to Silligorie, 22 miles.

GANJAM.

57. The line from Cuttack to False Point, 64 miles in length, was completed and opened for traffic on the 22nd August. In June, two new gutta-percha cables, each three miles in length, were laid across the Godavery River near Rajamundry, to replace the previously existing India-rubber cables which had become defective.

MADRAS.

58. A wire, about 444 miles in length, was erected for departmental purposes along the South Indian Railway from Madras to Tinnevely via Tanjore, Trichinopoly and Madura. In circuit on this wire are short-looped branches to Pondicherry and Tuticorin, and from Madura branches off a new two-wire line to Ramnad, 69 miles in length, constructed during the year for the Ceylon traffic. These additions have been made chiefly to supersede 200 miles of the coast line from Negapatnam to Tuticorin, which was expensive and difficult to maintain and much exposed to the corrosive action of the sea air. In connection with famine operations, 58 miles of wire were suspended on the posts of the Madras Railway Company from Salem to Erode and Coimbatore to Metapollium, to enable the Government of Madras to communicate with the Collectors of Salem and Coimbatore at any time, when, owing to the great pressure of grain traffic, the Madras Railway Offices were obliged to restrict themselves to the despatch of Railway service messages only.

ODH AND ROHILCUND.

59. A hill line, 18.5 miles in length, between Naini Tal and Ranikhet, required for military purposes, was completed in January. An extra wire was also erected from Bareilly to Chandausi, 45 miles, and one wire dismantled between Chandausi and Moradabad; by this arrangement Bareilly was made the junction station for Naini Tal, and it became possible to make considerable reduction in the cost of working the Moradabad Office.

PUNJAB.

60. Flying lines from Kohat and Peshawar, aggregating about 35 miles in length, were erected in connection with the military operations against the Jowakis, and 15 miles of the permanent line between Rawal Pindi and Kohat required entire re-construction when order had been restored in the district. An extra wire was erected from Lahore to Wazirabad, 62 miles, for the Sialkot traffic, and the hill line from Mussouri to Chakrata was completed early in the year. The construction of a three-wire line between Lahore and Jhelum, for the joint use of the Punjab Northern State Railway and of this department, was in progress, its completion near stations being delayed by the unfinished state of the Railway buildings.

RAJPUTANA.

61. A line of three wires was erected for the joint use of the department and the Sindia State Railway from Agra to the Chumbul River, a distance of about 40 miles; the departmental road line of two wires between Ajmere and Beawur, 32 miles, was moved on to the Western Rajputana State Railway, and two wires added for the use of the Railway.

SIND.

62. The fourth wire between Mooltan and Kotri, 508 miles, was completed and brought into use before the close of the year.

BELUCHISTAN.

63. At the commencement of the year the telegraph line had been erected from Jacobabad to Dadur, a distance of 103 miles. The line was completed to Quetta, 83 miles further, by the 17th May, and an office opened at that station the same day. At the close of the year, arrangements were in progress for extending the line from Quetta to Khelat.

KASHMIR.

64. His Highness the Maharajah of Kashmir having intimated to the Government of India his desire to establish a telegraph line from Jummoo to Srinuggur and thence to Gilghit, it was arranged that all the material, except posts, should be supplied by this department, and that the services of an officer and construction-party should be placed at the disposal of the Maharajah for the execution of the work. Mr. Duthy, the officer nominated for the duty, commenced the line from Srinuggur towards Gilghit in August, and had completed 94 miles as far as Das by the 14th October, when further progress was stopped by the snow. On the 14th November, the section from Srinuggur towards Jummoo was commenced, and posts were erected as far as the northern foot of the Banihal Pass, when work on this section also was stopped by the snow. A commencement was then made from the Jummoo end and a short section of line completed by the end of the year. Progress was checked by the scarcity prevailing in Kashmir, and by regular and sufficient supplies of posts not being always available. Mr. Duthy and the men under his orders have been compelled to undergo much privation and exposure at high altitudes, and have deservedly earned the approbation of the Maharajah and of their own superior officers for the success so far achieved.

STATE AND GUARANTEED RAILWAY TELEGRAPHS.

65. Appendix I is a return shewing the number of Telegraph Offices and extent of line and wire maintained for State and Guaranteed railways, together with the capital expended by the Telegraph Department on behalf of each railway. The return has been included in this report in accordance with the orders contained in paragraphs 33 and 34 of the orders of Government on the reports of 1875-76 and 1876-77. Care has been taken to distinguish between lines the property of the Telegraph Department and of Railway Companies, and between lines wholly used by railways and those in joint use of the Department and the railways.

66. On behalf of Guaranteed Railways we supervise 288 Telegraph Offices and maintain 5,512 miles of line and 14,378 miles of wire, of which, 3,216 miles are the property of the Companies. On behalf of State railways (excluding Ceylon), we supervise 196 Telegraph Offices and maintain 2,151 miles of line and 4,293 miles of wire. Of the miles of line, 2,269 on Guaranteed and 1,700 on State railways are "joint," that is, the posts carry both Railway and Government wires. The very considerable economy which has resulted from these joint lines both to the Government and the railways is self-evident. The grand totals of miles of line and wire in India and Ceylon maintained by the Department in connection with railways on the 31st March last amounted to 7,791 and 18,778, respectively.

67. Some omissions will be noticed in the column of Appendix I, shewing the capital spent on behalf of the various railways. Owing to the unfinished state of the lines and other causes, it has not yet been found possible to make up to date the telegraph capital accounts of certain railways, and the figures given merely represent the progress made by the end of the year.

68. The transfer to this department of the maintenance of the lines and offices of the East Indian, and Sind, Punjab and Delhi Railways took effect early in the year.

STORES AND WORKSHOPS.

69. The following are the principal items of expenditure under this head during the year:—

	Rs.
Purchase of stores in India	1,69,931
London stores, including freight and landing charges ...	3,77,175
Workshop and Press	1,72,513
Store-keeping	91,101
Stationery received from the Superintendent of Stationery without charge, and value of printing done by the Superintendent of Government Printing	38,927
TOTAL	8,52,317

70. Under the head of "Purchase of Stores in India" is included a sum of Rs.74,311 for stores received from the East Indian Railway, and Rs.31,680 from the Sind, Punjab and Delhi Railway.

71. The value of the outturn from the workshops was Rs.3,63,146, and from the Press Rs.40,362 against Rs.2,69,516 and Rs.30,369, respectively, during the previous year.

72. The total value of stores received and issued amounted to Rs.17,96,199, and the store-keeping charges amounted to Rs.91,101, or 5.2 per cent.

CEYLON.

73. Appendix A contains the usual summary of financial results of the Ceylon Telegraphs from the 1st January 1869, the date of their transfer to the Indian Government, up to the end of the year 1877-78.

74. There has been no capital outlay by the Indian Government during the year, and after taking credit for certain small recoveries on capital account, the total of the account as regards the Indian Government now stands at Rs.67,578. Under present arrangements, the Ceylon Government furnishes the funds for all capital works. The net loss on working for the year amounts to Rs.29,524, and from the transfer up to the end of the year to Rs.2,03,906, exclusive of all interest charges.

75. The following is an abstract of the Revenue Account compared with the figures of the previous year.

EXPENDITURE.	1876-77.	1877-78.	RECEIPTS.	1876-77.	1877-78.

NET REVENUE & EXPENDITURE	1,13,870	1,30,894

76. The excess expenditure has been caused chiefly in the items "Repairs of Lines" and "Signalling." The posts used in the Island are almost entirely of wood, and as many of the lines are comparatively old, a large number of posts have to be renewed annually. The heavy expenditure that has been incurred on this account for some years past is, however, now beginning to tell, and the general stability of the lines is much improved. The increase in "Signalling" is mainly due to increments of salary earned by the establishment, including some arrears on this account.

77. Message revenue shews an increase of Rs.7,213 over the previous year. The receipts under this head during the last four years have been as follows, shewing a steady but slower growth than the message revenue of India :—

	1875-76	81,264
	1876-77	92,522
	1877-78	99,735

78. The line between the office of the Breakwater Engineer at Colombo and the Mahari Quarry, which was in progress at the end of last year, was completed on the 15th April, and an additional wire, 13 miles in length, was added for the use of the Ceylon Railway between Rambukkana and Kaduganawa.

79. One new office was opened during the year at Panaduri between Colombo and Galle.

80. On the 31st March 1878, the Ceylon Telegraph system, including the Railway line consisted of 619 miles of line, 787 miles of wire, and 13 Departmental and 13 Railway offices.

PERSONAL.

81. The loss that the Department and the Government sustained by the death of the late lamented Major-General D. G. Robinson, R. E., received due acknowledgment in the following Resolution of Government, dated 3rd August 1877, which was published in the Gazette of India :—

"The Governor General in Council has received, with deep regret, intelligence of the death at sea, near Aden, on the 27th ultimo, of Colonel Daniel George Robinson, R.E., Director General of Telegraphs in India.

"By the untimely death of this officer, the State has lost an able and zealous public servant. Colonel Robinson earned early distinction in the Punjab campaigns, and after a lengthened period of valuable service in the Survey Department, he directed, with marked success, during the last twelve years, the constantly expanding operations of the Telegraph Department—a department which he was mainly instrumental in reorganizing and raising to its present state of high efficiency."

82. Expressions of regret and esteem were also received from the heads of the Telegraph Administrations of Germany and Italy, and from the Director of the International Telegraph Bureau at Berne, with all of whom the late Major-General Robinson had been associated in the International Telegraph Conferences at Berne, Rome and St. Petersburg.

83. Mr. Cappel officiated as Director General from the 9th July 1877, the date of Major-General Robinson's departure on leave, until the 5th January 1878, when he was relieved by the undersigned on his return from furlough.

SIMLA,

STATE AND GUARANTEED RAILWAY TELEGRAPHS.

65. Appendix I is a return shewing the number of Telegraph Offices and extent of line and wire maintained for State and Guaranteed railways, together with the capital expended by the Telegraph Department on behalf of each railway. The return has been included in this report in accordance with the orders contained in paragraphs 33 and 34 of the orders of Government on the reports of 1875-76 and 1876-77. Care has been taken to distinguish between lines the property of the Telegraph Department and of Railway Companies, and between lines wholly used by railways and those in joint use of the Department and the railways.

66. On behalf of Guaranteed Railways we supervise 288 Telegraph Offices and maintain 5,512 miles of line and 18,778 miles of wire, of which, 3,216 miles are the property of the Guaranteed railways (excluding Ceylon), we supervise 196 Telegraph Offices, 2,151 miles of line and 4,293 miles of wire. Of the miles of line, 9,266 on Guaranteed and 1,700 on State railways are "joint," that is, the posts carry both Railway and Government wires. The very considerable economy which has resulted from these joint lines both to the Government and the railways is self-evident. The grand totals of miles of line and wire in India and Ceylon maintained by the Department in connection with railways on the 31st March last amounted to 7,791 and 18,778, respectively.

67. Some omissions will be noticed in the column of Appendix I, shewing the capital spent on behalf of the various railways. Owing to the unfinished state of the lines and other causes, it has not yet been found possible to make up to date the telegraph capital accounts of certain railways, and the figures given merely represent the progress made by the end of the year.

68. The transfer to this department of the maintenance of the lines and offices of the East Indian, and Sind, Punjab and Delhi Railways took effect early in the year.

STORES AND WORKSHOPS.

Stores and workshops.

69. The following are the principal items of expenditure under this head during the year:—

	Rs.
Purchase of stores in India	1,69,931
London stores, including freight and landing charges	3,77,175
Workshop and Press	1,72,513
Store-keeping	91,101
Stationery received from the Superintendent of Stationery without charge, and value of printing done by the Superintendent of Government Printing	38,027
TOTAL	8,52,347

70. Under the head of "Purchase of Stores in India" is included a sum of Rs.74,311 for stores received from the East Indian Railway, and Rs.34,680 from the Sind, Punjab and Delhi Railway.

71. The value of the outturn from the Workshops was Rs.3,63,146, and from the Press Rs.40,362 against Rs.2,69,546 and Rs.30,369, respectively, during the previous year.

72. The total value of stores received and issued amounted to Rs.17,96,199, and the store-keeping charges amounted to Rs.94,401, or 5·2 per cent.

CEYLON.

73. Appendix A contains the usual summary of financial results of the Ceylon Telegraphs from the 1st January 1869, the date of their transfer to the Indian Government, up to the end of the year 1877-78.

74. There has been no capital outlay by the Indian Government during the year, and after taking credit for certain small recoveries on capital account, the total of the account as regards the Indian Government now stands at Rs.67,578. Under present arrangements, the Ceylon Government furnishes the funds for all capital works. The net loss on working for the year amounts to Rs.29,524, and from the transfer up to the end of the year to Rs.2,03,906, exclusive of all interest charges.

75. The following is an abstract of the Revenue Account compared with the figures of the previous year.

NET REVENUE EXPENDITURE	113,870	1,30,894

76. The excess expenditure has been caused chiefly in the items "Repairs of Lines" and "Signalling." The posts used in the Island are almost entirely of wood, and as many of the lines are comparatively old, a large number of posts have to be renewed annually. The heavy expenditure that has been incurred on this account for some years past is, however, now beginning to tell, and the general stability of the lines is much improved. The increase in "Signalling" is mainly due to increments of salary earned by the establishment, including some arrears on this account.

77. Message revenue shows an increase of Rs. 7,213 over the previous year. The receipts under this head during the last four years have been as follows, shewing a steady but slower growth than the message revenue of India:—

1871-75	71,830
1875-76	81,261
1876-77	92,522
1877-78	99,735

78. The line between the office of the Breakwater Engineer at Colombo and the Mahai Quarry, which was in progress at the end of last year, was completed on the 15th April, and an additional wire, 13 miles in length, was added for the use of the Ceylon Railway between Rambukkuna and Kuduganawa.

79. One new office was opened during the year at Panaduri between Colombo and Galle.

80. On the 31st March 1878, the Ceylon Telegraph system, including the Railway line, consisted of 619 miles of line, 787 miles of wire, and 13 Departmental and 13 Railway offices.

PERSONAL

81. The loss that the Department and the Government sustained by the death of the late lamented Major-General D. G. Robinson, R. L., received due acknowledgment in the following Resolution of Government, dated 3rd August 1877, which was published in the Gazette of India:—

"The Governor General in Council has received, with deep regret, intelligence of the death at sea, near Aden, on the 27th ultimo, of Colonel Daniel George Robinson, R. L., Director General of Telegraphs in India.

"By the untimely death of this officer, the State has lost an able and zealous public servant. Colonel Robinson earned early distinction in the Punjab campaigns and after a lengthened period of valuable service in the Survey Department, he directed, with marked success, during the last twelve years, the constantly expanding operations of the Telegraph Department—a department which he was mainly instrumental in reorganizing and raising to its present state of high efficiency."

82. Expressions of regret and esteem were also received from the heads of the Telegraph Administrations of Germany and Italy, and from the Director of the International Telegraph Bureau at Berne, with all of whom the late Major-General Robinson had been associated in the International Telegraph Conferences at Berne, Rome and St. Petersburg.

83. Mr. Cappel officiated as Director General from the 9th July 1877, the date of Major-General Robinson's departure on leave, until the 5th January 1878, when he was relieved by the undersigned on his return from furlough.

SIMLA,
The 1st November 1878.

R. MURRAY, Colonel,
Offg. Director General of Telegraphs in India.

* This item is an addition caused by recoveries having been made on capital account.

The 31st May 1879.

Hitherto it has been the practice to affix postage stamps to parcels which the sender desires to prepay, but serious inconvenience has been found to arise from the stamps so affixed adhering imperfectly to the cloth, wax-cloth, tin, or other materials commonly used by the public for covering parcels. Fraud has also been found to result from the re-use of stamps which have become detached from the parcels to which they were affixed.

With effect from the 1st July 1879, prepayment of parcel postage may be made only in cash tendered with the parcel at the Post Office window within the prescribed hours.

Receipts will be given to the senders for all parcels tendered at the window during the prescribed hours, whether prepaid in cash or unpaid, the amount of prepayment, if any, being specified on the receipt.

This order applies to all parcels (inland, overland, insured, or value-payable), except those sent on the public service, which, if prepaid, must as heretofore be prepaid with service stamps.

The 9th June 1879.

It is expected that Foreign Postcards bearing stamps of the value of 1 1/2 anna each for correspondence with Great Britain and other countries of the Universal Postal Union, as well as Inland Postcards bearing stamps of the value of 1/2 anna each for correspondence within the limits of British India, will be available for purchase on and after the 1st July 1879.

2. The Postcards will be purchasable by the public under the same conditions as embossed envelopes, those sold by the Post Office being sold either in bundles of sixteen or singly at the value of the stamps borne by them.

3. Particular attention is drawn to the rule printed on each Postcard to the effect that the address only is to be written on the front or stamp side of the Postcard.

4. Any Foreign Postcards intended for transmission via Brindisi to Great Britain, or a country served through it, must have a 1/2 anna adhesive postage stamp affixed to it near the embossed stamp, in payment of the additional postage prescribed for that rate.

5. Inland Postcards may not be sent to foreign countries except under the ordinary conditions applicable to letters.

The work of Dead Letter Offices in this country has two characters: viz., firstly, endeavouring to find out the addressees (Directories, Lists, and other available sources of information being supplied for this purpose); and, secondly (when the above fails), finding out the senders in view to returning to them the communications which cannot be delivered. The percentage of articles undisposable in either of these ways has again fallen, and this is an indication of increased success in the work assigned to them. Dead Letter Office work involves not merely intelligence and care but responsibility in regard to valuable enclosures. As an instance of this responsibility, it may be mentioned that in the year under report a cover containing notes for Rs. 2,500, without any address on it, and with a torn end through which the notes were visible, passed through the Bombay General Post Office to the Dead Letter Office, the valuable contents being safely returned by the latter to the sender.

39. There is nothing in the results exhibited above which calls for special remark, except the continued rapid growth of the sale of half-anna embossed envelopes. The sale of these envelopes is limited by the supply, and although the supply has for some years been increased as fast as it is possible to do so under the present contract with the English manufacturers, it has never yet been fully equal to the demand. The experience of former years showed that when embossed envelopes were offered for sale with a charge upon them over and above the value of the stamps so as to cover the cost of paper and manufacture, they had little or no attraction for the Indian public; and as it was considered very desirable to induce natives of the country to use envelopes of a proper size, shape, and texture, it was determined to offer the inducement of envelopes purchasable at the value of the stamps borne by them. This inducement has proved to be so great that the Department has never been able as yet to offer a supply fully equal to the demand. The object which the measure had in view is being fully realized by the gradual disappearance from among native correspondence of the thin rolls of paper, about the size of a finger, which gave so much trouble to the sorting offices and caused so much miscarriage from illegibility of address. Although the supply of embossed envelopes without any charge for the envelopes themselves is a practical reduction of the postage rate from six pie to about five pie, I am sure that the concession is a proper one, and that it is good policy to maintain it.

40. The proportion of revenue derived from the sale of ordinary postage stamps continues to increase slowly but steadily, as will be seen from the figures given below.—

SECTION IV.—DISTRICT POSTS.

41. The district posts of the three districts of Ganjam, Vizagapatam and Cuddapah, in the Madras Presidency, were transferred during the year under report to the management of the Imperial post, thus completing the transfer as regards the Madras Presidency, and (speaking generally) throughout India. As explained in previous reports, the district posts have for their primary object the conveyance of official correspondence between police and revenue stations in the interior of districts where the general wants of the locality are not such as to call for the provision of postal facilities by the Imperial post. The cost of such arrangements is defrayed in some cases by local cesses and in others by Imperial grants; the administration being in every case under the Local Government. Since 1861, endeavours have been made to introduce the local officers of the Imperial post as managers of the district posts under the orders of the Local Governments, and this object has now been attained throughout India. The administration of these district posts remains as heretofore under the control of the Local Governments, but the officers employed by them in the administration are the local officers of the Imperial post. It has taken about 14 years to bring about this change, for at first objections were raised in many quarters; but gradually the objections have disappeared in the face of the manifest improvement which took place wherever the change was introduced. The interest which the Imperial post has in these district posts is a great one, for when made available for private correspondence, they do the work of pioneers of the Imperial post. The chief demands for new Imperial offices occur in places where the correspondence has been first developed by the district posts. Wherever there is such development, the Imperial post steps in and undertakes the cost of the office, leaving the district post funds free for extension elsewhere. This has been the practical working hitherto; but difficulties are beginning to appear in some quarters in getting leave from Local Governments to spend the funds thus set free; however, I hope that proper representations will result in the avoidance of serious difficulty of this kind. The following figures respecting district posts have been compiled in the same form as in previous reports; but the information is always more or less incomplete, owing to the accounts, &c., being under so many different authorities unconnected with this department:—

NAMES OF POSTAL CIRCLES	Number of district post offices and receiving houses	Number of village postmen and letter-boxes	Distance in miles of district post lines	Local cess. (e). Exclusive of Rs. 4,125-9-6 on account of famine batta.

(f). Including Rs. 720 contributed from the District Improvement Fund in Assam.

(g). Including the annual subsidy paid from the District Dak Fund for the maintenance of the Dera Ismail Khan and Chichawatni Hill Cart line in the Punjab.

(h). Including contributions from Provincial and Local Funds in the Central Provinces and Berar.

(i). The distance in rainy season amounted to 761 miles.

(j). Excluding Rs. 21,000 paid from the Imperial revenues on account of pay of village postmen and postmen attached to district post offices.

42. Postal arrangements in Native States are for the most part very bad; and I am not for the present to anticipate any considerable improvement in places where the extension of the Imperial Post is not encouraged. The subject is no doubt important, and will, I think, become more and more important as time goes on.

The Fund is supported by subscriptions from officials of the pensionable (a) class at the rate of one rupee half-yearly, and from officials of the non-pensionable (b) class at half that rate. As has been explained on former occasions, the subscriptions of the former (pensionable class) are returnable on resignation or death in the proportion borne for each year by the surplus income to the total income, while those of the latter (non-pensionable class) are not returnable at all. The balance in hand divided into returnable and non-returnable is shown below:—

44. This Fund was commenced in April 1873 to meet a great want. Private Guarantee Associations demanded rates of premiums which the subordinates of the Department found it difficult to pay; and when the European Assurance Guarantee Society, from which numerous Postal officers had obtained security, collapsed, the opportunity was taken of establishing a departmental system. The relief to Postal subordinates in the reduced amount of subscriptions was immense, and even with the low rates the balance of the Fund has gone on steadily increasing from year to year.

45. In the year under report an important class of liabilities commenced, owing to the introduction of the insurance system. It was owing to the prospect of a greater measure of liability on this account that the Fund has been maintained at the present rates of subscription; and it may perhaps be able to bear the liabilities so accruing without any large amount of help from the insurance income. There were no payments from the Fund on account of insured articles in the year under review, although there were three cases of the loss of insured parcels, aggregating Rs. 2,189 in value, which were made the subject of compensation in the next year. It will be convenient to restrict the yearly remarks under this head to compensation payments made in the year under review; and I shall not therefore refer to these cases at greater length on this occasion.

46. Complaints from the public.—There were 5,339 complaints made by the public in the year under review, as compared with 5,407 in the previous year. Of these, 1,316 were acknowledged to be well founded, as compared with 1,203 in the previous year. The following analysis of complaints relating to articles of value in the two last years shows that, though the aggregate number in the year under report was smaller, the number proved against the officials of the department was larger :—

One of the most important complaint related to the abstraction of the contents of a registered letter posted in Bombay containing notes of the value of Rs. 15,000. It was proved, however, that the abstraction was effected (and that in a very ingenious way) by the servant of the sender before the letter was registered. The servant was tried and convicted.

17. Convictions and departmental punishments.—An abstract of the number of legal convictions and departmental punishments (detailed in Appendix VIII) is given below :—

	1876-77.	1877-78.
Number of legal convictions	139	171
Number of cases punished departmentally	81	95
TOTAL	220	266

Perhaps the most important conviction was that relating to a theft of a parcel mail-bag containing property of the value of Rs. 9,558, shortly after leaving the Bangalore office. The Post Master General of Madras gives the following description of it :—“ It was effected by collusion between the banghy clerk and one of the runners. As the runner left the office on his way to the railway station, distant one mile, he pitched the bag containing the banghy into a vehicle previously stationed in a convenient corner, and ran on. It was a dark evening, and he ran for half a mile, and then, lagging behind, called out that he was being attacked. When the other runners got back, he asserted that the robbers had knocked him down, and had gone off with the bag. The Bangalore police gave great attention to this case, and it was through their unremitting efforts that it was brought to light and punished.”

18. Highway robberies.—An abstract of highway robberies is given on the margin. The very large increase in the number of such robberies is due mainly to the prevalence of famine. The increase in number as compared with the previous year is 36, of which half belongs to Madras and Bombay, where the scarcity was most severely felt. There had been a gradual, but marked, decrease of crime of this sort in the previous five years, as will be seen from the figures given below :—

50. Of the 8 cases of robbery in Bengal, there were none involving loss of life. Convictions were obtained in 4; and in every case the greater part of the plundered property was recovered. The Madras cases (13 robberies and 2 attacks) were not very serious. In only one instance (one of those in the Mysore territory) was life lost, the runner who was attacked dying subsequently of his wound. Convictions were obtained in 5 cases; and of the whole property stolen, the greater part was recovered. In the Bombay cases (12 robberies and 2 attacks) there was only 1 in Kattywar involving loss of life. In only 2 instances were convictions obtained; but none of them were serious as regards the amount plundered, the mails being in most cases left by the robbers after searching for valuables, of which but little was found. In the cases in the North-Western Provinces (9 robberies and 4 attacks) there was no loss of life. Convictions were obtained in 6 cases; and in only 3 cases was the plundered property of appreciable value. The only other Postal Circle at all prominent in respect of highway robberies is Rajputana; and considering the great distress which prevailed among a population containing so many lawless characters, the Political authorities are of opinion that the smallness of the number (4 robberies and 4 attacks) is very satisfactory. In none of the Rajputana cases was a conviction obtained.

SECTION VI.—NON-POSTAL BRANCHES OF THE DEPARTMENT.

52. The number of Government Carrying Agency offices for goods (36) remained the same as in the preceding year, one office (Bahawalpur) having been closed, and another (Dholpur) opened. The road transit by means of carts gave place to railway transit between Agra and Dholpur, consequent upon the opening of the Railway between those places; and the road line between Mooltan and Bahawalpur was abolished for a like cause. The Government Carrying Agency service at the close of the year under review consisted of a line from Calcutta to Jhelum by railway and onwards by bullock train to Peshawar; with principal branches to Fatehgarh (bullock train), Gwalior (partly rail and partly bullock train), Moradabad (rail), Landour (bullock train), Simla (bullock train), Ferozepore (bullock train), Mooltan (rail), Sialkot (bullock train), and Murree (bullock train).

53. The passenger services on mail cart lines were reduced by the abolition of the Darjeeling line and Bahawalpur line, consequent upon the extension of the Railway system in those directions. They comprised at the close of the year under review the Van Dāk lines from Jhelum to Peshawar (with branches to Murree, Sialkot, and Kohat), and from Amritsar to Pathankot; also lines from Umballa to Kalka and Bareilly to Ranibagh. The last-mentioned line has, however, no special provision for passengers, the accommodation offered being merely a seat on the mail cart, when available.

54. The financial results of these Non-Postal branches will be found under the next section.

SECTION VII.—FINANCIAL RESULTS.

55. There is a further improvement of financial results this year, as will be seen from the figures given below:—

TOTAL	10,92,384	13,56,337

56. But, in order to get a full view of the financial results, other items of charge have to be taken into account; and I have again endeavoured to make this estimate still more accurate than formerly. The change to which I refer consists in a more accurate calculation of the cost of the "Railway free service." This matter has recently been made the subject of careful examination with the view of settling the basis of actual payment to be made for postal services in the case of State Railways; and I am now for the first time in a position to offer an estimate having the character of approximate accuracy. The calculation is based on the railway statistics showing the actual cost per vehicle for each mile run; and from this is deducted the amount actually paid, the remainder being shown as the estimated cost of the service rendered free. The statistics of actual mileage run by postal vehicles in the year under review are imperfect, owing to the absence of any exact record on the subject; and in this and some other minor respects the present estimate is faulty, but I give it as an undoubtedly better estimate than the former one.

57. The list of items so chargeable against the Post Office, with the estimate under each head as made out in last report for the preceding year and in the report for the year under review, is given on the margin.

profit of Rs. 2,19,713 for the year under review.

58. In reviewing the corresponding portion of my last report, the Government noticed the absence of information about the basis on which the departmental share of the liability for Local Marine subsidies was estimated; and I take this opportunity of explaining it. The lines served by the contract vessels of the British India Steam Navigation Company are divided for the purpose of this estimate into those in which the Post Office has a predominating interest and those in which it has merely a subordinate interest. The whole cost of the former lines (having a predominating Postal interest) is set down as a Postal charge, and the cost of the latter lines (having only a subordinate Postal interest) is thrown entirely out of

For all the contract lines	955,168
For lines in which the Post Office has a predominating interest, viz:—
Calcutta to Akyab and back	231,624
" " Rangoon	"
" " Moulmein	"
Madras to Rangoon	"
955,168 - 231,624 = Rs. 7,23,000 (whole subsidy)	178,086
(Postal share)

the departmental estimate. On this principle the sum chargeable to the Post Office is calculated as shown in the margin. When the Bombay and Karachi line first commenced to carry a portion of the heavy mails, a reduction was made in the cost of the land line to the extent of Rs. 25,768; and this saving was accordingly added to the sum before calculated, making a total of Rs. 2,03,851. The complete abolition of the land line in the year following that now under report will result in a further alteration of the estimated Postal share by transferring the Karachi and Bombay lines to the list of lines in which the Post Office has a predominating interest.

Column 2.—These figures represent the net proceeds of the sale of ordinary postage stamps after deducting the sale discount.
 Column 3.—The great difference observable in this column are due mainly to changes of system in the treatment of official correspondence, which was charged at full letter rates up to 1865-66, at the same rates as ordinary correspondence (letters, and newspapers, &c.) from that year on to 1872-73, after which a low privileged rate of 1 anna for each letter not exceeding 10 talahs (about 4 ozs.) was conceded, thus reducing immensely the postage income.
 Column 4.—The figures in this column are useful as showing the revenue undisturbed by the changes of system in respect of official correspondence explained in the note referring to column 3.

Column 12.—The figures in this column show the proportion of the cash collections in column 1 to the total postal revenue of columns 2, 3 and 4. The comparison commences with the year 1872-73, when the official postage rate was reduced (see note on Column 3) and the whole collected in stamps. Columns 26 and 27.—These figures, not yet given prior to 1873-74, owing to a deficiency in the system of statistical record. Column 28.—The registration of new papers only commenced in the year 1871-72. Columns 29 to 31.—Three digits are omitted from the figures in these columns. (a). INDIA—WEST COAST;

RATNAGIRI, RAJAPUR BAY, AND VIZIADURG.*

The following information, resulting from recent surveys on the west coast of India, has been furnished by Navigating Lieutenant F. W. Jarrad, R.N., Deputy Superintendent in charge of the Surveys.

[All bearings are Magnetic. Variation in 1879, $1^{\circ} 0' E.$]

RATNAGIRI.

RATNAGIRI.—The old Mahratta fortress of Ratnagiri which bears about N. $\frac{1}{2}$ W. 6 miles from Paos point, covers a large high headland of laterite rock connected by a narrow sandy neck with the main land. When viewed from a distance seaward this bold and conspicuous headland appears insulated, and its summit nearly level; the south end (300 feet in height) is, however, the highest part of the headland. The northern part (separated from the southern and highest part by a valley) has a perfectly flat top 200 feet above the sea; the whole being enclosed within massive stone walls forming a separate inner fortress. The whole of the eastern side, which is very steep, is surmounted by a stone line of fortifications with bastions of great strength and solidity. The sea-face of the headland is composed of perpendicular cliffs of considerable height at the north and south points, but of less elevation between. On both these sides the fortress is apparently inaccessible. The north side forms a small Bay (Kila-ka-Bunder), evidently once the landing place. Strong fortifications extend round the head of this bay and join the upper defences completely enclosing the whole headland. Native craft (pattimars) engaged in the coasting trade during the fine season anchor here, but the water is too shallow to admit of even small vessels finding shelter during the south-west monsoon.

Light—On the south bastion of the fort in latitude $16^{\circ} 59' 10'' N.$, longitude $73^{\circ} 15' 50'' E.$, 308 feet above high water, is a small white masonry tower 22 feet in height, from which is exhibited a fixed red light of the 6th order visible (from N. by W. $\frac{1}{2}$ W. round through north and east to S. $\frac{1}{4}$ W.) in clear weather from a distance of from 8 to 10 miles.

RATNAGIRI BAY, on the south side of Ratnagiri headland, is about 2 miles long and 1 mile deep. About a mile to the eastward of the fort is a river capable of receiving small vessels over its bar at high water, but though extending some distance inland it is shallow, and is only navigable for very small native craft at high water. At about a mile up the river are banks of sand and silt, from which an apparently inexhaustible supply of dead shells is obtained and made into lime. The shore of Ratnagiri bay between the fort and the river is low and is fringed with cocoanut palms, behind which are fields and gardens adjoining the native town. The European station is on the north side of the entrance, on the brow of a flat ridge of hills elevated about 150 feet above the sea; it consists of the Adalat, or court-house, Collector's kutcherry, hospital, police lines and jail, leper hospital, and the residences and offices of the various officials belonging to the Ratnagiri taluka. The native town or bazar is immediately below the brow of the same hill, and contains a considerable number of houses. The population of Ratnagiri was about 10,660 in 1877, of whom 46 were Europeans. The shore south of the river for half a mile consists of a low sandy flat, on which are a few patches of palms. The southern shore of the bay is steep and rocky, and the coast thence southward forms in low flat ridges of nearly equal height, terminating in cliffs and huge boulders.

The principal export is grain, the value of the exports for the year 1877-78 amounting to Rs. 1,32,225, and of imports to Rs. 6,05,675. During the fine season (N. E. monsoon) vessels of the British India Steam Navigation Company call weekly, and there is also at that time daily communication with the coast ports by small steamers. During the S. W. monsoon the mail steamers call at Kalbadavi bay to land passengers and goods. There is a good road (under construction) from Kalbadavi bay to Ratnagiri, and other improvements are being carried out in connection with the new road to the Deccan via the Amba Ghaut, which will shortly be opened.

* This information supersedes that given at pages 115 to 119 of the West Coast of Hindostan Pilot, and affects Taylor's Sailing Directory, vol. i, pp. 388 to 390, and the following Indian Marine Survey charts, Ratnagiri, including Rajapuri and Kalbadavi bays, No. 1190, and Rajapur bay and Vizadurg with adjacent coast, No. 1191;—also British Admiralty charts Nos. 739, 2736 and 2737.

The landing place in Ratnagiri bay during the N. E. monsoon is at the custom house, about half a mile from a small round tower at the foot of the headland, under the fort, but when landing a vessel must be kept for rocks, as extensive reefs project from the shore in a westerly direction, and patches nearly a fath at low water lie scattered about: as these are nearly all covered with kelp and long seaweed, the sea does not always break on them. During the westerly breezes,—which sometimes set in during the fine season, and occasionally last three days,—a heavy swell rolls up to this landing place, and landing there becomes hazardous. In the S. W. monsoon there is a very heavy surf in the bay, and landing here is then generally impossible. It is not safe to enter the river in a boat except at high water, when, if the sea on the bar does not break, large native craft can enter the river.

Reef.—At the south extremity of the bay is a reef of rocks (Bram Mudle) above water, about half a mile from the shore, with a shoal bank of from 2 to 3 fathoms rocky ground extending to the westward, the outer edge of which (5 fathoms) bears south from the light-house. A vessel coming from the southward should give this foul ground a wide berth, as there is a depth of 7 fathoms close to it.

Tides.—It is high water at full and change of the moon at Ratnagiri at 10h. 52m.; ordinary mean springs rise 6 feet, neaps 4½ feet *

It is said that, when the south-west monsoon is in full force, there is at low water, in the day-time, half a fathom more water than during the fine season in all the bays along this part of the coast.†

Mirya Donghur is a high headland of bare laterite rock lighter in colour than the surrounding land, and appearing like an island when seen from northward or southward. Its sea-face, which is very steep, is covered with large boulders of laterite and terminates near the water's edge in cliffs of varying height. Its highest part (Mirya peak), on which there is an old flag-staff, is 475 feet above the sea.

MIRYA BAY is formed between Miyet point (the south-west point of this headland) and the headland on which Ratnagiri fort is situated; it is 1½ miles long and 1 mile deep, and has depths over it of from 4 to 5 fathoms to within a quarter of a mile of the beach.

The shore of Mirya bay is composed of a narrow sandy strip of land in no part more than 2½ cables across. It is covered with cocoanut palms and fronted by a ridge of sandhills from 20 to 30 feet above high water. It connects the headland of Mirya with the mainland, and behind it is an extensive flat of mud and sand, thickly overgrown in many places with mangroves and covered at high-water spring-tides, through which a narrow creek (Sirgaum creek) winds up to the native part of the town of Ratnagiri. The entrance to this creek is on the north side of Mirya headland, where it joins a large inlet (Kalbadavi river), which extends some considerable distance inland, and at the entrance to which, on the north side, are the village and temples of Kalbadavi. Large native craft come up the Sirgaum creek at high water, and lie off a bunder near the native part of the town of Ratnagiri, where they unload or load their cargoes.

Mudle Shoal—In the northern part of the bay 7 cables S E ½ E from Miyet point (the south-west point of Mirya headland) is a rock on which at low water, when the sea breaks heavily on it, there is only a depth of 5 feet; shoal water extends for 1½ cables from the rock in all directions, but there is a depth of 6 fathoms at 2 cables distance.

The bay on the south side of Mirya Donghur affords shelter for small vessels from north-west winds, in 3 or 4 fathoms mud and sand; but the above sunken rock must be avoided, and there are other rocky patches lying close to the cliffs. There is no anchorage in this bay during the south-west monsoon, as a heavy sea rolls in and breaks in from 2 to 3 fathoms water.

KALBADAVI BAY.—On the north side of Mirya Donghur headland, between it and Kurni point, 2½ miles distant, is Kalbadavi bay, in the south-east corner of which there is sheltered anchorage from south-west winds, in 5 fathoms mud, off the entrance to Kalbadavi river, whence the Sirgaum creek before mentioned runs up to Ratnagiri. During the Indian Mutiny, 1857, advantage was taken of the shelter afforded here to land troops during the south-west monsoon, the water at that season being quite smooth and landing easy.

Winds.—During the north-east monsoon, from November to April (the fine season on this coast), land and sea breezes prevail throughout with more or less strength. In November the sea breeze, which sets in about 1 or 2 P.M., is well to the westward, and blows at times fresh, lasting until about sunset. The land breeze is also frequently strong, and blows strongest at about 2 A.M. The mornings are calm, and the sea smooth. The same weather is experienced in December, January, and February; but the sea breeze draws more to the north-west and sets in earlier. Towards the end of February, or beginning of March, strong winds from the north-west, known locally as "north-westers," set in with squalls and rain, and last sometimes for a week or ten days. The weather at that time is boisterous and the sea rough. April is an uncertain month, the prevailing wind being from the north-west, and it frequently blows hard from that quarter, with intervals of calm and occasional dust-storms from the eastward. May is often a fine but uncertain month, and the weather is generally calm. The rains commence about the middle of June, with the wind from the westward, and until the middle of July the wind is seldom to the south of west. After that date, it veers between S.W. and W.S.W., and sometimes west, and blows in violent gusts. The sea at this time is very high all along the coast, until the middle of August, when the weather moderates; but it still continues to blow hard at intervals, and there is frequently, after a short period of tolerably fine weather, recurrence of bad weather, continuing well into September. The rainfall is very uncertain, and varies between 50 and 150 inches. September and October are tolerably fine months, but the weather is uncertain. The average maximum temperature is about 88° and the minimum 74°.

* The diurnal inequality in the heights of high-water amounts to 2 feet, and in those of low-water to as much as 4 feet, with the moon's declination at its greatest. The rise at spring tides of a P.M. tide between September and March (not inclusive) and of an A.M. tide between March and September is 6 feet 4 inches, of an A.M. tide between September and March and of a P.M. tide between March and September the rise at springs is 7 feet 6 inches. In March and September the A.M. and P.M. tides are alike in height. The corresponding rise of neap-tides at these periods is respectively 4 feet 11 inches and 5 feet 3 inches above the datum to which the soundings on the chart are referred.

VIZIADURG.

VIZIADURG (Viziadroog) harbour is a bay $1\frac{1}{2}$ mile wide (north and south) and a little over 1 mile in depth (east and west) at the entrance to the Wagotna river; about 12 miles north of Deoghur and 25 miles south of Ratnagiri. On the west side of the entrance to the river is the old fort of Viziadroog, or Gerial, one of the strongest of the ancient fortresses strengthened by Sivaji and held by Angria, the celebrated pirate chief. The point or neck of rocky land, on which the fort is built, with the land to the west-ward, forms the south side of the bay, and is 100 feet above the sea; conspicuous in the fort is the old flag-staff 70 feet in height, and 170 feet above the sea. The land on the south and south-west hides the fort from vessels coming from the south.

The fortress, which is of considerable extent, consists of an inner and outer line of fortifications, protected by heavy bastions, and the walls have been of very great strength; but it has long been neglected and the work of decay is going on through the slow, but sure, agency of the trees and creepers which have taken root in the interstices of the walls, and the interior is overrun with jungle, though there are several large habitable buildings and good wells; the sea has made several breaches in the outer wall on the west side of the fort, near the wells.

THE WAGOTNA RIVER is navigable at high water as far as Wagotna (at the foot of the Phunda ghaut) by vessels drawing 7 feet; at Wagotna there is a stone jetty at which the native craft unload or load. Canoes can go up to Kariputtan more than 20 miles from the entrance.

The Wagotna river has no bar, and at its entrance between Viziadurg fort and the high cliffs to the north-east (on which is an old Mahratta battery)—where it is 6 cables wide—there are depths of from 20 to 24 feet at low water, but inside it rapidly shoals, and $2\frac{1}{2}$ cables further in the depth at low water is only from 12 to 13 feet.

A tongue of sand, on which the depths vary from 12 feet at its extreme, to 8 feet further in, extends from the middle of the river at its entrance, up as far as opposite an old dock, nearly 2 miles up the river on the western shore, where it joins the eastern shore in a shoal bank, on which is only a few feet at low water.

The deep channel, which is only $1\frac{1}{2}$ cable broad, lies close to the left bank (western shore), and there is not room for a large vessel to swing except at high water spring tides; the depths in the channel vary from 14 and 15 feet at the entrance to 22 and 29 feet further in.

The left bank of the river near the fort is steep, and the cliff slopes are bare of vegetation except near the fort, where there are a few large trees. The table-land south of the village of Viziadurg is of bare laterite rock without vegetation except in the rainy season. A good road runs from Viziadurg to Wagotna and into the Deccan, via the Phunda Ghaut, but is little used. The village of Viziadurg is very small and the houses poorly built; the inhabitants are principally engaged in fishing, and there is very little land in the immediate vicinity under cultivation.

The land on the right bank of the Wagotna, south of the fort, is of much less elevation, and there is more land under cultivation. The land immediately bordering on the river is covered with a low thorny scrub, which it is difficult to penetrate.

The old dock before mentioned was built by Angria. It is excavated out of the rock, and is said to have been capable of receiving vessels of 500 tons, but it is now nearly choked up with mud; the stone face and entrance, however, are still to be seen. The bottom is of clay and sand.

Anchorage.—In the fine season vessels may anchor anywhere in the harbour, the best position being in $3\frac{1}{2}$ fathoms, mud and clay, at low water, with the extremes of the fort bearing from W.S.W. to S.W. Further in than this position, the water shoals quickly, but vessels of less than 12 feet draught can enter the river at any time and lie in perfectly smooth water a cable from the shore abreast the landing place. A long ship should be moored head and stern, with the best bower to ebb, which in the freshets runs at the rate of nearly 4 knots an hour.

The harbour is accessible and capable of affording perfect shelter to vessels during the south-west monsoon, in the height of which steamers of the Indian navy conveyed troops there during the Indian Mutiny.

Tides.—It is high water, full and change, of the moon at 10 hours 37 minutes; mean springs rise 6 feet 9 inches, neaps 4 feet 10 inches.*

* There is a large diurnal inequality in the heights of both high and low waters; in the former it amounts to about 2 feet, and in the latter to 4 feet with the moon's declination at its greatest. Between September and March the P. M. tides at springs are the highest and the tide then rises (about 36 hours after full or change) to 8 feet 4 inches above the following low water (which is the lowest during the above period) or low water of ordinary spring tides. The A. M. high water at this time rises only to 7 feet 5 inches above this datum. (See note on Chart, No. 1191, Rajapur bay and Viziadurg, published by Marine Survey Department).

At neaps during the above period the A. M. low waters are the lowest and the rise of a P. M. tide is 6 feet 3 inches and of an A. M. tide 4 feet 11 inches.

From March to September the reverse occurs, that is, the high tides at springs are A. M. tides, &c.

RAJAPUR BAY.

RAJAPUR BAY, 3 miles north of Viziadurg, and about 22 miles south of Ratnagiri, is about three-quarters of a mile broad at its entrance between perpendicular cliffs of laterite, and a mile in depth (east and west). It is broken up into several small coves and inlets, the largest of which, Tulsunda cove, on the south side of this bay, is accessible to small vessels when overtaken by a south-west gale. The bay affords shelter from the "north-westers" which blow during the fine season, but with westerly winds there is a heavy short swell in the bay, which makes it a not very safe anchorage; at that time the north side of the bay should be resorted to. Rajapur river, which enters the bay in the north-east corner, flows past the town of Rajapur, a place of considerable importance, 15 miles from its mouth; coasting vessels, however, cannot go up so far. There is only 7 or 8 feet water on the bar at low water, but further in are depths of from 15 to 24 feet abreast the large village of Jaitapur, which is situated just inside on the left bank of the river. A short distance inside the entrance on the north side is the old fortress of Essent Ghur, now in ruins and overrun by trees and jungle. There is a small Mahomedan village on the east side of the fort.

In a small sandy cove on the north side of the bay is a well of good water and a rest-house not very good repair. The cove is resorted to by native craft requiring water. Immediately above, on the ridge, is a stone octagonal-shaped tower.

The coast between Viziadurg and Rajapur bay is composed of cliffs about 70 feet high, faced by huge masses of laterite, which have been dislodged by the continued action of the sea during the south-west monsoons; it is deeply indented in many places, and is quite clear of dangers at a quarter of a mile from it.

Light.—Close to the edge of the cliff on the south point of Rajapur bay (Wagapur point) there is a small white masonry tower 21 feet in height, from which is exhibited during the north-east monsoon only (10th September to 10th June) a fixed white light of the sixth order, 99 feet above sea, visible in clear weather from a distance of 9 miles. This is generally called Jaitapur light.

Holi, or three-tree hill, a round sloping mount 285 feet high, distant about 2 miles E.S.E. from Musargagi or north Rajapur point, is a conspicuous feature near Rajapur bay, for the table-land of the Konkan, faced with steep cliffs everywhere, presents almost the same appearance from seaward and of about an equal height.

Ambolghur bay is a shallow indentation in the coast immediately north of Rajapur bay. Both Ambolghur and Rajapur form really one large bay between Ambolghur point and Wagapur point (on which Jaitapur light-house stands), Musargagi point, which separates them, lying more than half a mile east of these points. At the head of Ambolghur bay is a large stretch of sandy beach, backed by low flat ridges of laterite. In the southern part of the bay is a valley where there are the remains of extensive salt works now abandoned. In the northern corner is the small village of Ambolghur.

Ambolghur reef, an extensive shoal patch, upon which the sea breaks generally, except at high water, and a part of which, composed of masses of rock, dries at low-water spring-tides, lies $1\frac{1}{2}$ mile north of Jaitapur light-house, and half a mile S.S.W. $\frac{3}{4}$ W. of Ambolghur point. Vessels should not shoal under 8 fathoms near this reef, although the neighbouring coast is safe to approach within 6 fathoms. The octagonal tower on Rajapur north point, in line with Holi hill, leads on to the shoalest part of Ambolghur reef, and the same hill, in line, or a little open south of the same point, leads to the southward of the reef in 7 fathoms.

Buoy.—A black buoy is placed (during the N.E. monsoon only) in 7 fathoms, low water, $1\frac{1}{2}$ cable from the south-west edge of the reef; and 1 cables from the patch which dries. From the buoy the light on Wagapur point bears S. by E. $\frac{1}{2}$ E., distant $1\frac{1}{2}$ mile.

Ambolghur point is a small table-land faced with cliffs, and joined to the main by a sandy isthmus. A sandy beach extends northward nearly 3 miles to the town and little backwater of Yetia; thence to Poranghur is rocky table-land, except at the mouth of Muchkundi river.

Tides.—It is high water, at full and change of the moon, in Rajapur bay at 10 hours 45 minutes; ordinary (mean) springs rise 6 feet 5 inches; neaps rise 4 feet 5 inches.

MARINE SURVEY DEPARTMENT;

Calcutta, 4th June 1879.

A. DUNDAS TAYLOR, Comdr. (late I.N.),

Supdt., Marine Survey of India.

REPORTS ON THE STATE OF THE SEASON AND PROSPECTS OF THE CROPS FOR THE WEEK ENDING THE 24th JUNE 1879.

GENERAL REMARKS.—In Madras general prospects are favourable. The rainfall in Mysore has been slight during the week; sowings are in active progress and the outlook is satisfactory. In the Bombay Presidency showers have fallen in Guzerat and there has been good general rain elsewhere; in Bombay heavy monsoon weather is reported; there is a great deal of cholera in Sind, and some in part of Guzerat, Tanna and Nasik. In the Central Provinces sufficient rain has fallen in seven districts and there have been slight showers in others; sowings are being pushed on in all districts except Bhandara, where the rainfall has been inadequate for their commencement; prices are steady. Sowings of cotton and tur are going on in Berar. The reports from Central India and Rajputana shew that more or less rain has fallen everywhere and that prospects are good. Rain continues to fall in nearly all the districts of Bengal; in Central and Eastern Bengal slight damage has been caused by excessive rain and floods, but otherwise the state of things is favourable; there has now been fair rain in Behar and matters have greatly improved; in parts of Mozufferpore the rain has been too heavy for ploughing and sowing, while in the Burdwan, Orissa and Chota Nagpore divisions and in places in the Patna and Presidency divisions more rain is still required; cholera continues to be severe in four districts. In Assam the reaping of osn has begun and land is being ploughed for sali ghan; the rain in Sylhet has again been heavy and the rice crops have been injured by floods. Good rain has fallen throughout British Burma and ploughing is general; cattle-disease continues and is reported to be rinderpest in Bassein. In the North-Western Provinces and Oudh there has been general rain and khurif sowings have commenced. Rain has also fallen in several districts of the Punjab but there has been none in Hissar where it is wanted; the agricultural condition of the province is favourable.

It is satisfactory to note that the prospect of good general rain referred to last week has now been realised almost everywhere and that there is reason to hope that the monsoon has been fairly established.

Simla, the 30th June 1879.

The Governor General in Council has received, with deep concern, the announcement of the death of LORD LAWRENCE, late Viceroy and Governor General of India.

No Statesman, since Warren Hastings, has administered the Government of India with a genius and an experience so exclusively trained and developed in her service as those of the illustrious man whose life, now closed in the fulness of fame, though not of age, bequeaths to his country a bright example of all that is noblest in the high qualities for which the Civil Service of India has justly been renowned; and in which, with such examples before it, it will never be deficient.

The eminent services rendered to India by LORD LAWRENCE, both as Ruler of the Punjab, in the heroic defence of British power, and as Viceroy, in the peaceful administration of a rescued Empire, cannot be fitly acknowledged in this sad record of the grief which she suffers by his death, and of the pride with which she cherishes his name.

The Viceroy and Governor General in Council, however, desiring to give some public expression to those feelings and to that national gratitude which is the best reward of national services, directs that the flag of Fort William shall, during to-morrow, the first of July, be lowered half mast high; that thirty-one minute guns shall be fired, at sunset, from the Fort; and that the last gun shall be fired, and the flag dropped, as the sun sets.

His Excellency in Council further directs that on this sorrowful occasion the same marks of national respect shall be simultaneously shewn at all of administration to the estate of any deceased Hindú, Muhammadan or Buddhist, or any person exempted by the Governor General in Council from the provisions of the Indian Succession Act, which may have been made since the first day of January, 1866, shall, whenever such grant would have been lawful if this Act had been in force, be deemed to have been made in accordance with law.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

As the law of British India at this moment stands, there is, speaking generally, no means of conferring upon any one a complete and conclusive title as representative of the estate of a deceased Hindú, Muhammadan or Buddhist or other person exempt from the operation of the Indian Succession Act.

The Hindú Wills Act is at present limited in its operation to the Presidency-towns and Lower Bengal; and, even if the proposal to extend it to other parts of British India, now under consideration, is carried out, it will still only apply to cases of testamentary succession among Hindús.

The grant of a certificate under Act XXVII of 1860 makes the person who has obtained it a representative only for certain very limited purposes; and, though in the Bombay Presidency a certificate purporting to confer larger powers may be obtained under Regulation VIII of 1827, it is by no means clear what the status of the holder of such a certificate precisely is.

In the Presidency-towns probates of the wills and letters of administration to the estates of deceased Natives can be granted under the Supreme Court Charters in cases to which the Succession Act and the Hindú Wills Act do not apply; but the representative status conferred by such grants falls far short of that conferred by similar grants in the case of deceased European British subjects.

2. From this state of things much trouble and litigation at times result. The heirs may be very numerous; their interests may differ in degree; some of them may be minors or otherwise incapacitated; others may be residing at a distance; the titles of some may be disputed; the settlement of claims against the estate may thus be a matter of endless complication; the making of a satisfactory title to any portion of it which it may be necessary to sell may be impossible.

3. The necessity of devising some means of removing these difficulties was brought to the notice of the Government of India some time ago by Mr. Broughton, then Administrator General of Bengal, and now a Judge of the Calcutta High Court; and a Bill drafted by him was circulated for the opinions of local authorities. That Bill, while guarding against any interference with the succession laws of the classes in question, went in effect to apply to them the provisions of the Indian Succession Act relating to probate and administration, and, amongst others, those provisions which make the grant of probate or letters of administration a condition precedent to the establishment of any right derived by succession from a deceased person.

4. The reports of the local authorities have now been received, and their purport may be briefly described by saying that, while there is a considerable body of opinion in favour of providing the means of obtaining probate of the will or letters of administration to the estate of any deceased person when those interested desire to do so, the proposal to insist on probate or letters of administration as essential has been generally condemned, as tending to impose upon a multitude of poor and ignorant people in cases where there is no difficulty or dispute an unnecessary amount of trouble and expense.

5. The present Bill has been drawn on the lines thus indicated. It applies to the estates of all persons not at present governed by the Indian Succession Act the portions of that Act relating to the grant of probate and administration and the powers, duties and procedure of executors and administrators, omitting, however, those sections (187 and 190) which make it compulsory to obtain probate or administration, and also those sections (200 to 207) which lay down the order according to which the various persons interested are entitled to administration on an intestacy.

6. These latter sections it would be impossible to apply, as they are in part based on a law of intestate succession differing from that of the classes for which the Bill has been drawn. The only rule it seems possible to lay down for these classes is the broad one that the grant shall follow the interest; that, when several persons inheriting portions of the estate claim administration, the Judge may grant it to any one or more of them as he thinks fit, and that, when no such person applies, he may grant it to a creditor.

7. This is the rule laid down by section 3 of the Bill; and, as it is apprehended that in some cases of family feuds a person entitled to a trifling share of the deceased's estate might apply for administration merely for the purpose of harassing his co-heirs by compelling them to apply, a full discretion has been reserved (in section 5) to refuse, for reasons recorded, to grant any application.

8. The Indian Succession Act, following the English law, provides for the taking of security for the due discharge of his office only from an administrator, it being considered that, in the case of an executor who is selected by the testator himself, such security can safely be dispensed with. But amongst the classes to which this Act will apply cases will, it is apprehended, occasionally occur in which it may be expedient to take security even from an executor; and accordingly a section (4) has been inserted in the Bill amending section 256 of the Succession Act in such a manner as to give a power to the Court to require an executor to give security.

9. Section 6 of the Bill saves in the fullest manner the substantive laws of succession of the classes to which the Bill applies.

10. Section 8 is intended to put an end to the imperfect grants of probate and administration under the old Supreme Court Charters already referred to.

11. The portions of the Hindú Wills Act specified in section 9 are repealed merely because they are re-enacted with a wider application in the present Bill. Section 10 is intended to remove all doubt as to the validity of certain grants of probate and administration which have been made in British Burma.

The following Bill was introduced into the Council of the Governor General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 26th June, 1879, and was referred to a Select Committee:—

No. 9 of 1879.

A Bill to make further provision for the grant of Probate and Letters of Administration in non-contentious cases.

WHEREAS it is expedient to make further provision for the grant of probate and letters of administration in non-contentious cases; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

1. This Act may be called "The District Delegates Act, 1879":

Short title

Extent

It extends to the whole of British India; and it shall come into force on the first day of January, 1880.

Addition of section after section 235 of Succession Act

2. After section 235 of the Indian Succession Act, 1865, the following section shall be added:—

"235 A. The High Court may, from time to time, appoint such judicial officers within any district as it thinks fit, to act for the District Judge as Delegates to grant probate and letters of administration in non-contentious cases, within such local limits as it may from time to time prescribe:

Power to appoint Delegate of District Judge to deal with non-contentious cases.

Provided that, in the case of High Courts not established by Royal Charter, such appointment be made with the previous sanction of the Local Government.

Persons so appointed shall be called District Delegates."

Addition of section after section 241 of same Act.

3. After section 241 of the said Act, the following section shall be added:—

"241 A. Probate and letters of administration may, upon application for that purpose to any District Delegate, be granted by him in any case in which there is no contention, if it appears by petition (verified as hereinafter mentioned) that the testator or intestate, as the case may be, at the time of his death resided within the jurisdiction of such Delegate."

4. To sections 214 and 216 of the said Act, respectively, the following words shall be added: "and when the application is to a District Delegate, the petition shall further state that the deceased at the time of his death resided within the jurisdiction of such Delegate."

5. For section 251 of the said Act, the following section shall be substituted:—

Substitution of section for section 251 of same Act.

"251. Caveats against the grant of probate or administration may be lodged with the District Judge or a District Delegate; and immediately on any caveat being lodged with any Caveats against grant of probate or administration.

District Delegate, he shall send a copy thereof to the District Judge; and immediately on a caveat being entered with the District Judge, a copy thereof shall be given to the District Delegate, if any, within whose jurisdiction it is alleged the deceased resided at the time of his death, and to any other Judge or District Delegate to whom it may appear to the District Judge expedient to transmit the same."

6. In section 253 of the said Act, after the word "Judge" the words "or officer," and after the word "made" the words "or notice thereof has been given of its entry with some other Delegate," shall be inserted.

Amendment of section 253 of same Act.

7. After section 253 of the said Act, the following sections shall be added:—

253 A. A District Delegate shall not grant probate or letters of administration in any case in which there is contention as to the grant, or in which it otherwise appears to him that probate or letters of administration ought not to be granted in his Court.

Explanation.—By 'contention' is understood the appearance of any one in person or by his recognized agent, or by a pleader duly appointed to act on his behalf to oppose the proceeding.

253 B. In every case in which there is no contention, but it appears to the District Delegate doubtful whether the probate or letters of administration should or should not be granted, or when any question arises in relation to the grant, or application for the grant, of any probate or letters of administration, the District Delegate may, if he thinks proper, transmit a statement of the matter in question to the District Judge, who may direct the District Delegate to proceed in the matter of the application, according to such instructions as to the Judge may seem necessary, or may forbid any further proceeding by the District Delegate in relation to the matter of such application, leaving the party applying for the grant in question to make application to the Judge.

253 C. In every case in which there is contention, or the District Delegate is of opinion that the probate or letters of administration should be refused in his Court, the petition, with any documents that may have been filed therewith, shall be returned to the person by whom the application was made, in order that the same may be presented to the District Judge; unless the District Delegate thinks it necessary, for the purposes of justice, to impound the same, which he is hereby authorized to do; and in that case the same shall be sent by him to the District Judge."

8. In the said Act, sections 254 and 255, respectively, after the words "I, Judge of the District of," the words "(or Delegate appointed for granting probate or letters of administration in (here insert the limits of the Delegate's jurisdiction))"; and in section 308, after the words "District Judge by whom," the words "or by whose District Delegate" shall be inserted.

Introduction of the words "or District Delegate" in certain sections of same Act.

9. In the said Act, sections 246, 250, 255 and 259 after the words "District Judge," and in section 250 and section 254 (where it first occurs) after the word "Judge," the words "or District Delegate" shall be inserted respectively.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

THE Indian Succession Act, as originally framed by the Law Commissioners empowered the District Judge to appoint judicial officers to act for him as delegates to grant probates and letters of administration in non-contentious cases much in the same way as the District Registrars appointed under the Court of Probate Act, 1857, do in England; but the provisions relating to this matter were struck out of the Bill by the Select Committee, partly because they were deemed unnecessary, and partly because it was apprehended that the power which was to be conferred on District Judges would give rise to abuse.

If, however, the Bill which has been drafted to provide for granting probate of the wills and administration to the estates of persons now exempted from the operation of the Indian Succession Act becomes law, it is probable that the business of granting probate and administration will increase to such an extent that the District Judges will be unable to dispose of it without assistance.

The present Bill has accordingly been framed with a view to replacing in the Succession Act, with some slight modifications in point of form, the sections removed from it by the Select Committee; but, in order to avoid as far as possible the danger of abuse apprehended by the Select Committee, the power of appointing the delegates has been vested not in the District Judges, but in the High Courts, and its exercise has in the case of High Courts not established by Royal Charter been made subject to the previous sanction of the Local Government.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

1. By Bengal Regulation VII of 1828 it was provided that, in certain parganas in the Benares Division, known as the Family Domains of the Mahārājā of Benares, the settlement and collection of the revenue and the administration of justice in cases relating to land should be conducted by the Mahārājā and his officers, under the supervision of a Superintendent appointed by, and subject to the control of, the Governor General in Council.

2. For a long time past, owing to the changes that have taken place in these parganas and in the country generally, it has been found impossible to proceed in strict accordance with that Regulation. Powers which should have been exercised by the Governor General in Council have, perhaps without sufficient warrant of law, been delegated to the Board of Revenue ; and the functions of the Superintendent have been to a great extent discharged by a Deputy Superintendent—an officer unknown to the law.

3. These difficulties and some others of minor importance arising from the antiquated form of the Regulation might be got over by action under the Scheduled Districts Act, 1874, in the Schedule to which the Domains are included ; but this mode of proceeding would be distasteful to the Mahārājā, who objects to the Domains being treated as a Scheduled District ; and the Government, being anxious as far as possible to meet his wishes, have determined to do what is required by special legislation.

4. The present Bill has accordingly been prepared to withdraw the Domains from the operation of the Scheduled Districts Act, and to enact directly the requisite amendments of the old Regulation.

5. The most important of these amendments consist in giving power to appoint a Deputy Superintendent ; in placing the Superintendent and Deputy Superintendent under the control of the Board of Revenue ; in empowering the Mahārājā to delegate his functions as Collector ; in giving him a greater freedom as to the number of judicial officers to be appointed, and enabling him to alter the local limits of their jurisdiction ; and in empowering the Lieutenant-Governor, after reference to the Mahārājā, to make rules, regulating the powers and procedure of these officers and the course of appeal from their decisions.

Most of these amendments go no further than to legalize existing practice.

6. A clause has been added to remove all doubt as to the validity of past proceedings.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

CERTAIN members of the Simla Union Church, so far back as the year 1873, drew the attention of Government to the hardship under which they laboured in being unable, without constantly recurring trouble and expense, to keep up a permanent and effective body of trustees to whom to commit the property of the Church. The Secretary to the Calcutta Missionary Conference about the same time made a similar representation to Government; and there are probably other bodies associated for religious purposes in India who experience like difficulties.

2. The present Bill is drawn on the lines of 13 & 14 Vic., c. 28 (commonly known as Peto's Act), which was passed to meet a similar difficulty felt by Religious Societies in England. It differs from that Act, however, first in applying only to Religious Congregations and not to Societies formed for purposes of education, and secondly, in providing for the case of moveable as well as immoveable property.

3. It simply provides that, if property of certain specified descriptions is conveyed to trustees in trust for any Religious Congregation, and no special provision is made for the appointment of new trustees, new trustees may be appointed in such manner as that Congregation may determine; and further, that on the appointment of new trustees whether in exercise of the powers thus conferred or otherwise, the property shall vest in them without any further conveyance.

4. Hindús, Muhammadans and Buddhists are excepted from the provisions of the Bill, as it is thought undesirable to interfere with the laws regulating their endowments.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

FINANCIAL DEPARTMENT.

REPORT OF THE OPERATIONS OF THE POST OFFICE OF INDIA
FOR THE YEAR 1877-78.

Extract from the Proceedings of the Government of India, Financial Department,—No. 1469 (Separate Revenue—Post Office), dated 27th June 1879.

Read—

Report of the Operations of the Post Office of India for the year 1877-78.

RESOLUTION.—The development of the Post Office during the year was satisfactory. The charges for carrying packets and parcels were simplified and reduced; the whole postage on re-directed covers of all kinds was remitted, and the following additional postal facilities were provided:—

- (1.) Receipts for inland registered letters can now be procured for a fee of 1 anna.
- (2.) The 'value-payable' system was applied to inland parcels.
- (3.) Provision was made for the insurance of inland parcels and letters.
2. The number of post offices was increased by 225, of letter-boxes by 120, and of village-postmen by 363 during the year.
3. Covers carried by the Post Office increased 5.13 per cent., viz., letters by 4.58 per cent., and newspapers, by 1.33 per cent. Cash receipts increased about 8 per cent.
4. The total number of covers carried was 128,826,080, of which only 667,170 remained finally undisposed of in the Dead Letter Office whose operations were fairly successful.
5. The net revenue from the Overland Parcel Post rose to Rs. 97,277 from Rs. 78,876 in the previous year. Evidently, the convenience afforded by this branch of the Indian Post Office is appreciated.
6. The statistics of correspondence with the United Kingdom show an increase of 4 per cent. in letters, and 5 per cent. in newspapers, some of which may be due to the rates which came into force from the 1st July 1876. But the effect of the reduction of rate in attracting correspondence to the Brindisi route is not so apparent as it was in the previous year. Still, of letters despatched from India to the United Kingdom, the percentage carried by the Brindisi route reached 73 as against 70 in 1876-77, and of newspapers 85 as against 82.
7. The decrease of from 63 to 62 per cent. of letters despatched from the United Kingdom to India must be considered in connection with the large increase of from 55 to 63 per cent. which occurred in the previous year. It seems plain that the effect of the reduction of overland postage has been mainly to transfer correspondence to the shorter route, and perhaps very slightly to stimulate correspondence. The further reduction recently effected will probably attract a still larger proportion of the correspondence to the Brindisi route.
8. Paragraphs 55-58.—The financial results of the year are satisfactory, showing a net revenue of Rs. 12,16,672 in the purely postal branches, or, deducting the items enumerated in paragraph 57, an actual profit of Rs. 2,19,713. This result is attained in spite of the disbursements of 1½ lakhs (paragraph 20) as famine allowances to postal employes, and notwithstanding the increased net cost of the overland route owing to the reduction of the overland postage. The results for the last 8 years are as follows:—

YEARS.	Total receipts from all sources.	Net revenue after deducting postage due to foreign countries.	Net revenue deducting also official postage.	Expenditure.	Surplus revenue.	Deficit without official postage.

10. His Excellency in Council desires to express his cordial appreciation of the administration of the Department by Mr. Monteath, who has so long presided over it.

11. His Excellency also concurs in the encomium passed on Mr. Macfarlan's recent administration in Bengal, and regrets that his services should have been so early lost to the Department.

No such right or privilege, and no produce obtained by its exercise, shall be alienated by sale, lease or otherwise except to Government, unless such alienation is expressly permitted in the order defining and recording such right: provided that when any such right or privilege is annexed to any land it may be sold or otherwise alienated with such land.

5. No person shall have a claim as of right to have a permit issued to him to cut trees or brushwood, to graze cattle or cut grass, to collect dead or fallen wood or any other produce of the forest, or to burn lime, surkhí or charcoal; but all utilization of the produce of the reserved forest shall be effected according to the orders of the Conservator of Forests, subject to the general instructions of the Local Government.

Nothing in this section shall affect any right recorded at settlement or by the Local Government after settlement.

6. Whenever the limits of any reserved forest are not sufficiently indicated by natural marks or other existing boundaries, they shall be demarcated by permanent and conspicuous marks; and the limits of tracts assigned for the exercise of recorded rights (where such exist) within the reserved forest should be conspicuously demarcated also.

Acts prohibited.

7. The following acts are prohibited in reserved forests :—

Explanation.—Nothing in this section shall be held to prevent the ultimate clearance of land originally maintained as forest under the fifth condition of this section when the circumstances are such that, in the opinion of the Deputy Commissioner and the Forest Officer, the reason for maintaining the lands as forests no longer exists.

9. In any case in which such proportion of the owners of any land, other than land referred to in section 8, as pay not less than two-thirds of the revenue due on such land apply to the Deputy Commissioner in this behalf,

17. Subject to the provisions of sections 13 to 16 (both inclusive) the use of the produce of the village forests and of the village forests shall continue to be enjoyed by such inhabitants of the village, and other persons as may under the settlement be entitled thereto, and

19. So long as any individuals or communities who may under existing orders and terms of settlement be entitled to receive from Government signiorage fees in respect of trees felled in reserved forests, and bound to pay such fees in respect of trees felled outside the reserved forests, shall not have consented in writing to the abolition of such payment on either side and placed such written consent on record in the office of the Deputy Commissioner, the list of signiorage fees (in force on the date on which this Regulation comes into force) shall be maintained for the purposes of such payments:

21. When in any case the head or banks of any stream are being dangerously eroded, or there is danger of the formation of torrents or the occurrence of landslips, the Deputy Commissioner may enclose the area necessary to prevent or remedy the evil, and may cause such area to be planted. The enclosure may be permanent or for such limited period as may be necessary to secure the removal of the danger.

Land enclosed under this section shall, while so enclosed, be subject to all the prohibitions provided in regard to reserved forests.
